In spite of the fact that the largest night crowd in the history of the Pennington county fair packed the grounds to the limit of their capacity Saturday evening, total attendance at the 1940 exposition fell below last year's figure, a preliminary checkup early this week revealed. No figures were available this week on the financial outcome of the fair. The main factor in the decline was the fact that for the first time in many years it was necessary to cancel the Friday evening grandstand show because of rain which started falling just as the show was about to get under way, and which was preceded by an electrical display. In an effort to recoup Friday's loss, the program in front of the grandstand was repeated Sunday afternoon and evening, but failed to draw more than a small attendance.

Fair patrons were free with their praise for the quality of the entertainment presented this year. Gertrude Avery's "Shoot the Works" revue presented a large group of well drilled girl dancers and comedians in a performance that moved at a fast pace throughout, augmented by top-grade vaudeville and circus acts. Hoaglan's Hippodrome show also made a hit with the crowds, offering a group of well-trained horses in chariot races and other exhibitions, as well as providing a lively session of auto polo.

The Gertrude Avery show came to this city direct from Chicago and left for Faribault, while the Hoaglan troupe came from Indiana and left for Ironton, Michigan.

An interesting feature of the program in front of the grandstand Saturday was the crowning of Miss Marilyn Noper, 4-H club style queen, as Miss Pennington county. Miss Noper, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Noper, was presented by Miss Margaret Gunelson, county club leader, while the crowning was conducted by President R. E. Hunt of the fair board. Also presented were a group of a dozen 4-H girls from the blue ribbon group, who modeled attractive dresses they had made as part of their project work.

Large crowds assembled on the grounds Thursday afternoon, Thief River Falls Day, and Friday afternoon, Farmers and 4-H Club Day. The Thief River Falls municipal band presented a concert Thursday, while the Greenbush community band played Friday and the Lincoln high school band Saturday.

Charming Bridal Unites Miss Helen Wilson and Bertrum Mosleth Sunday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wilson of St. Hilaire was the scene Sunday afternoon of a charming bridal when their daughter, Miss Helen Jeanette Wilson of this city, became the bride of R. Bertrum Mosleth, also of this city, son of Mrs. Olida Mosleth. Rev. E. A. Cooke, former pastor of the Community church of this city, read the single ring ceremony at four o'clock.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar of gladiola, ferns, and baby's breath with many lighted tapers. Baskets of garden flowers in pastel colors were placed about the rooms, decorated throughout in a pink and white motif.

Before the nuptials, Miss Ardith Burrell sang "Because", and later "Blessed Be the Tie", accompanied at the piano by Miss Jean Gustafson, who also played The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin for the processional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her charming princess gown of white slipper satin with lace insets at the neck and shoulders. The skirt swept into a long train, over which her trailing veil extended. The veil was of silk net edged in lace with a pearl-trimmed tiara. The bride wore the groom's gift of pearls and carried white roses and blue sweet peas.

Miss Eunice Lindholm of this city was bridesmaid, and Miss Doris Mosleth, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride as junior bridesmaid. Both were attired in pink frocks and carried harmonising bouquets of pink roses and sweetpeas, with sprays of sweetpeas in their hair, and both wore bracelets, gifts from the bride. Miss Lindholm's frock was of pink net with tiny bows of satin ribbon broadcast over the skirt. Miss Mosleth's gown was of pink sheer, worn over satin.

The groom was attended by the bride's brother, Glenn Wilson, as best man, and Lester Ihle.

For the nuptials, the bride's mother wore a frock of delft blue and white sheer over navy blue; and the groom's mother chose a frock of soft blue crepe with white accessories.

At the reception for 30 guests which followed the ceremony, the piece de resistance was the twin wedding cakes placed on a mirror bordered with flowers in a dainty scroll arrangement, to form the centerpiece of the serving table. The two cakes were in the shape of twin wedding bells fastened together with white satin ribbon and calla lilies. One cake bore the bride's name and the other the bridegroom's name.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Olson and Miss Coyla Clausen, all of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brink of St. Hilaire, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wilson of Detroit Lakes, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Opheim of Rochester.

For her motor trip with her husband along the North Shore Drive, the bride chose a frock of navy blue Bemberg sheer, trimmed in white, with blue accessories. The bridal couple will return Sunday and will be at home after August 20 at their new home at 931 North Knight Ave.

Mr. Mosleth is a member of The Times staff, being employed as a compositor. His bride, a graduate of the Mankato Commercial college, is a bookkeeper at the Northern State Bank.

Mercury Mine in Idaho Discovered by Chance

A chance discovery of a sheepherder has provided Idaho with its first mercury mine and a new $1,000,000 industry, according to state mining officials.

A sharp price rise in the quicksilver market gave a new impetus to the venture when the European war broke out and now the Almaden mines, developed by L. K. Requa, veteran Santa Barbara mining engineer, are producing an estimated 400 pounds of pure quicksilver a day.

Andy Little, young sheepherder with a flair for mining, chased a lost sheep across the sagebrush-covered mountains 20 miles west of the city of Weiser in 1936 and noticed an outcropping of reddish ore at his pony's feet. He came back the next year and staked out 18 claims.

Requa visited the area on one of his periodic tours of western mining districts and examined the sheepman's cinnabar stake. He leased the property for 20 years with an option on further leasing, formed a company, set up a plant and began production last summer.

The venture is a closed corporation and no stock is sold.

Requa believes the mountainside on which the mine is located is a solid mass of mercury in opalite and phyolite forms, left by an old lake bed. Cinnabar is an ore mineral that occurs in both bedded and vein deposits.

The plant is the latest metallurgical science has produced. The ore is roasted in a kiln at 1500 degrees and the mercury passes off in the form of a vapor to be condensed in 12 tubes, 30 feet high. The mercury is drawn off at the bottom into buckets and placed in flasks, ready for shipment.

The mine is an open pit operation. The ore is blasted out of the hillside, tons at a time and rolled in cars along a narrow-gauge track to a bin, attached to a long conveyor belt. The belt carries the ore to a crusher and thence to a kiln where it is roasted.

Fuse Is Safety Valve Of Electrical System

Fuses, or circuit brakers, are the safety valves in the electrical system. Extra fuses should be kept on hand in case one blows out. There should be enough circuits, each controlled by a fuse, to carry all the appliances the home is likely to have, point out M. S. C. specialists.

When a fuse blows out it's usually an indication that there is a short circuit or an overload. Perhaps too many appliances have been connected to one circuit. This trouble occurs frequently in houses wired several years ago, before people began to have such a variety of electric devices, such as mixers, dishwashers, waffle irons, percolators, fans, razor and warming pads, as well as the refrigerator, washing machine, laundry iron and vacuum cleaner.

By removing fuses one at a time and noting which lights and outlets are "dead," a blown fuse may be found.

Lightweight Shovel Champ

A new garden shovel has been called by its manufacturers "the strongest lightweight shovel ever made." Its central reinforcement is 60 per cent thicker than is usual in shovels, and it runs clear from the top of the socket to the cutting edge. This added strength through the center makes possible a tapering thinness [illegible]

Should Your Boy or Girl go to College?

"I'm going to college!" Irene repeated rather impatiently to her parents. "I've worked hard and stood up under a lot of hardships and worries to complete high school. Some of the other kids in our crowd are going, so I think I ought to go too."

This argument presents a birds-eye view of a very practical problem which parents of prospective college students must solve. Leaving the decision until Irene has finished high school really intensifies the need for quick action—probably too hasty. Twenty years ago or less, such decisions had to be made without reliable help. Whether or not Sue or John went to college, among other things, depended upon the mood of the parents, social position of the family, money, what friends' children were doing about it and so on. In many cases well meaning parents decided the whole issue without consulting the child. On other occasions probably all attention was focused on the child. Either extreme is bad. We need to take a long range point of view on questions of such social and personal consequence. Irene's case should have earlier and more careful attention.

It is obvious that in the past little, if any, consideration was given such things as the vocational interests of boys and girls, their capacity for professional training and their opportunities (predictable to a fair degree of accuracy by material on vocational trends) to launch themselves happily and successfully in life. Twenty years ago the relationship of these factors to success was not entirely known. The reason for not considering them then, however, is no excuse for closing our eyes to them now. Today, up to date parents fill in the gaps of their knowledge on momentuous questions like this by consulting specialists in the field who have made guidance their life work.

In a guidance clinic it is possible to learn with rather a nice degree of precision the occupational "trend" of interests and specific abilities (scholastic, physical, social, etc.) possessed by a potential student and also fields of opportunity in which his interests and aptitudes might realize fulfillment. Recommendations are made with a view to his future contentment and social usefulness.

Here is a case illustrative of the guidance procedure: Entering the personnel office with his son who had been referred for failing his grades in high school, a father almost shouted. "He's got to finish high school and then college. He's going to be a doctor like his uncle. Give him more school work and I'll help him at home—that's all that's wrong."

This father has ignored our three criteria: interest, capacity and opportunity. He was living through the boy for some personal satisfaction of his own. A complete examination of the boy revealed him to have interests and ambitions in another direction. How much misery did this boy suffer and possibly, the girl mentioned above, needlessly? If early in their lives they had received proper guidance what heartaches might have been spared them later on. Children should grow up with a knowledge of their limitations and assets and how to adjust to life accordingly, thus preventing shocks later on.

Remember, a college education doesn't bar you from the breadline and there is still much need and dignity associated with physical exertion.

TRANSIENT TOPPLES OFF MOVING TRAIN

Chaska—While watching a fast moving freight train, George Diefel, watchman in the railroad tower at Norwood, saw a body roll off the top of a box-car last week. Investigation disclosed it was Noah William Kimble, of Maysville, West Virginia, apparently a transient. His skull was fractured, one arm broken, severe cuts about the head and other injuries and bruises.

BICYCLIST NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH

Hawley,— Ten-year-old Harold Thief was wheeling his bicycle across the track near the depot and did not see an approaching train until it was practically upon him. The train caught the rear of the bicycle, missing the boy by about ten feet.

Rites Held August 1 at Fort Snelling for Doris D. Provencher

Julien Provencher was summoned to Minneapolis Monday, July 29, by the death of his son, Doris D. Provencher, World War veteran, who passed away in Veterans hospital at Fort Snelling, where he had been a patient the past five and a half years.

Services were held at 9 A. M. last Thursday, Aug. 1, at the Church of the Little Flower, Fort Snelling, with full military rites, and burial was in the Fort Snelling National cemetery.

Doris Provencher volunteered for service in the U. S. army when this country entered the World war, and enlisted at Sacramento, Calif., serving overseas in France in the infantry ambulance corps.

Born in Manistee, Mich., he moved as a boy with his parents to Minneapolis in 1902, and came to Thief River Falls in 1908. He attended the local schools and was graduated from Lincoln high school. After the war, he returned to Thief River Falls and in 1919 he married Ada Olson of this city. Later they moved to Minneapolis to make their home.

His wife survives his death, together with a daughter Virginia, aged 6, and two sons, William, 12, and Donald, 9, all residing in Duluth. Also surviving are his father, Julien Provencher of this city; three brothers, Bill and Harold, both of Minneapolis, and Leslie of Glendale, Calif.; and one sister, Mrs. A. Rushford of Tacoma, Wash.

Trusting Judgment

"No," said the rich man to the penniless young officer who asked for the hand of his daughter. "I have not the slightest objection to your asking my daughter to marry you."

"Thank you, sir," said the young man.

"You go and ask her," continued the girl's dad. "I won't interfere. I've given her a good education and taught her to read the newspapers, and if she doesn't know enough to say 'No'—well, she doesn't deserve better luck."

EMERGENCY SUPPER

UNEXPECTED guests for supper? Or perhaps your plans for going out for supper have been upset at the last minute and you find yourself staying home after all. This means a supper you hadn't planned on. So here's a suggestion. Only please don't feel you should leave it on the shelf until an emergency happens. It's too delicious for that!

Try it sometime for a "planned-ahead meal." I can promise you that forever after, Cold Platter of Tunafish, Tomato and Cucumber . . . as well as Peach Dumplings will be top favorites at your house.

Cold Platter of Tunafish, Tomato and Cucumber
Creamed Potatoes or Potato Chips
Melba Toast
Fresh Peach Dumplings
Coffee or Iced Tea

½ lb. can of tunafish
Lettuce
4 small tomatoes, cut into sections or slices
½ cucumber, sliced thinly
3 hard-cooked eggs, cut into sections
1 lemon, cut into wedges

Drain off the oil from the can of tunafish. Lift out the tightly pressed fish carefully in order not to break it. Separate into good sized pieces for individual servings. Arrange on a serving platter which has been covered and bordered with crinkly lettuce leaves.

Around each individual serving of tunafish, arrange the sections of tomato and several slices of cucumber. Garnish with the wedges of lemon and the section of eggs. This will make 4 servings.

MELBA TOAST

Remove crusts from day-old bread and slice very thin (⅛ to ¼ inch thick). Cut slices in halves, or narrow strips, if desired. Place on a shallow pan or cookie sheet, in a moderate oven. Allow to dry and become delicately brown. Turn occasionally so that they will brown evenly.

FRESH PEACH DUMPLINGS

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. baking powder
1 tbsp. sugar
2 tbsp. shortening
⅓ cup cream (6 tbsp.)
4 small peaches
4 tbsp. raspberry or strawberry jam (to which have been added a few drops of lemon juice)

Sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in the shortening with a pastry blender or 2 knives until the mixture is like meal. Add the cream and mix to a soft dough. Round up on a floured cloth-covered board and roll out to ⅛ inch thickness. Cut into 4 squares.

Peel peaches and cut out a segment in order to remove the pit. Fill the hollow of each peach with the jam and replace the segment. Secure it with a wooden pick. Then place a peach in the center of each square of dough. Fold the points up over the peaches, sealing well. Bake for 20 minutes in a hot oven, 450° F. Serve warm with plain or whipped cream — or with foamy sauce.

More than 50 daredevils will compete for the $15,000 in prize money set aside for the four days of racing Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, August 26, 28, 31, and Monday, September 2.

Extinct Passenger Pigeon

The passenger pigeon, so numerous that its flocks once darkened American skies for hours at a time, became extinct within a few years when market hunters knocked down the adult birds systematically from their roosts at night.

Odd Name for Stew

Slen of Madison, who was endorsed for the Democratic nomination for governor by the 87 Democratic county chairmen and officers of the Democratic state central committee, the officers of the Younger Democrats and the national committeeman and national committeewoman at a meeting held at St. Paul on June 24, filed for the Democratic nomination for governor July 26.

Mr. Slen graduated from Madison normal school in 1906 and for a time taught country school. He graduated from St. Olaf college in Northfield in 1912 and from the University of Minnesota law school in 1915. He practiced law at Madison since 1916.

Idaho's Dog Derby

Although airplanes are fast supplanting sled dogs in Alaska and the Yukon, they can never completely replace the animals which have had such a large part in developing and making the Far North accessible. To keep alive the traditions established by the malamutes and huskies in opening snowy wildernesses even within continental United States, the city of Ashton, Idaho, holds an annual American dog derby. This event attracts thousands of visitors from surrounding states, Canada and Alaska, including many former sourdoughs and trappers who experience a touch of nostalgia as they watch the 23-mile race and listen to the accompanying cries of "Mush," "Gee," and "Haw", as the drivers urge their stout-hearted charges on. Three times the dogs circle the eight and one-third mile course leading through the forests, up and down hill, over windswept ice and through waist-deep snow.

Brutal Sealers

Seal "pirates" who operated around the Pribilof islands for two years after the United States purchased Alaska from Russia, were so cruel that they often skinned the animals alive. In their hurry to slaughter, they often only stunned the animals with clubs, then skinned them before they recovered consciousness. These pirates were soon put out of business when the United States government leased the sealing rights to independent companies, according to the American Wildlife Institute.

EVEN FISH CAN'T TAKE THE HEAT

Appleton— High temperatures and shallow water are held responsible for the death of a number of large "northerns" in the Pomme de Terre river below the mill dam here recently. Some question about the cause for the demise of the fish arises because only the large fish and only "northerns" appear to have been affected. What would have been prize catches for ambitious fishermen came to the surface and had to be removed.

SOO LINE SHARES IN MOVEMENT OF FT. RIPLEY TROOPS

Five Special Trains Transported 7,000 Men to Camp This Week

A. J. Oden, chief dispatcher, and G. P. Hinton, F. L. Kobliska, and J. F. Evans of the local Soo Line office, left Saturday for Brooten, where they took charge of troop movement by rail from Brooten to Onamia, near Camp Ripley, scene of 20-day maneuvers of contingents from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, and Minnesota, including some contingents of the regular army from Fort Riley, Kansas.

They established a temporary dispatcher's office to handle the movement of five troop trains carrying seven thousand men, and returned here Tuesday following the completion of the movement. W. W. Wade, Soo Line superintendent, and a force of men had spent several days at Brooten in preparation for the actual troop movement, which was negotiated smoothly, with no delays.

During Mr. Oden's absence, Tom Rowan served as chief dispatcher here, while others in the party were relieved by W. A. Aasve of Superior, R. B. Sloan of Glenwood, and H. I. Erickson of Gladstone, Mich.

Fred Peterson of Pleasant Prairie is 82 but not too old to shock grain all day with the temperature registering 100 in the shade. His partner, Gust Erickson of Fairmont is no younger, either. He drove the binder in the same heat while Peterson shocked grain with precision born of long practice.

Workers Told Not to Migrate in Hunt for Defense Employment

Minnesotans seeking employment in defense program industries are advised against blind migrations to other states by Victor Christgau, director of the division of Employment and Security. He urges an early registration at any office of the Division as being preferable.

"We have just received word from the Michigan Employment service," he said, "that many persons from other states are going to Detroit in the hope of finding work in defense industries there. Michigan authorities already have more than 267,000 registered residents who are waiting for a job. There is an abundant supply of local workers to meet any immediate demand that Michigan employers may make. Workers from other states who travel there are doomed to disappointment."

Similar employment conditions exist in defense industries on both the East and West coasts, Mr. Christgau said in advising Minnesota workers who are qualified to register locally.

"In the event additional workers are needed in other states," he explained, "that fact will be officially made known to us and then our Division will be able to direct registered workers to firms that actually will put them to work."

This department likes to give you these facts so that you'll be armed for almost any turn in the conversation.

Some one has written in and wants to know what a duck-billed platypus is. Quite frankly we don't know—we only know that it isn't a bird because we recall a poem that we memorized before exam times years ago just in case the teacher asked some fool question like that. This is the way it went:

The duck-billed platypus lays her eggs
In the fields of Australian myrtle—
No she ain't a bird
But that ain't so absurd—
For so ain't a snake or a turtle.

TAKE THE CROOKS ALIVE OUT 'EM

In California a defendant was recently cleared of a charge of slandering a woman's hat.

Gilding the lily is silly enough, but even supposing that a person could successfully undertake an uglification project on woman's hats (the judge wisely felt) it would be absolutely absurd.

What we want to know (and we think a lot of other people do too, before they vote in this coming presidential election) is how good a column can this Mrs. Willkie write?

One of our eavesdroppers tells us he heard a little Italian boy trying to think of the English word for bee. He struggled for quite a while and finally said:

"What do they call those flies that make honey?"

Vitamin-Producing Fish

A strange fish with a lot of names and without any friends until recently is providing the richest known source of vitamins A and D. The ling, lawyer, losh or burbot is the fresh-water member of the cod family. This fish lies low in warm weather, preys on game fish in cold weather, and its liver, which is one-tenth of its weight, is 10 times richer in vitamins than cod liver. Theodore Rowell, son of a commercial fisherman on Lake of the Woods, Minnesota, discovered the value of burbot liver in a homemade laboratory. The life-saving extract of the oil is prescribed by physicians for many deficiency diseases. The National Wildlife federation reports that the demand for burbot liver has greatly helped game and food fish in Minnesota lakes. The fish is processed and sold to fur farms.

'Voice Reflector' Gadget May Cut Auto Accidents

Wives who go to bridge clubs but want to leave messages for their husbands with the proper emphasis on "don't," take heed.

Husbands who think their wives might change their sound tracks if they could only hear themselves as husbands hear them, give ear.

Sidney K. Wolf, New York acoustical engineer, has solved both problems and many others with a device he calls a "voice reflector."

The British and French governments are interested in it because it might help cut down traffic accidents during blackouts and might permit railroad trains to run safely without visible signals.

Railroads believe it will make possible the delivery of telegrams, news reports and stock market tables to crack trains while they are speeding across the country.

The gadget consists fundamentally of a thin strip of steel tape and a device which readjusts the molecular pattern of the tape as one speaks into a microphone. The tape, without other preparation, may then be run through the voice reflector and reproduces whatever has been spoken into the microphone. The words or sounds may be repeated endlessly, since the tape never wears out, or the molecular pattern may be erased and the tape used over and over again.

The allied governments have consulted with Wolf about using the device to control traffic during blackouts. Attached to traffic posts along a highway, a loop of the tape might broadcast on a specified wave length the words "stop" and "go" at regular intervals, thus eliminating the need for traffic lights.

By radio control, with the tape broadcasting audio signals, a railroad engineer might have in his cab red and green lights which would duplicate the signal lights along his route. The tape, directed from a central control tower, could change the signals in the cab by radio, Wolf said, avoiding the necessity for outside signal lights visible to enemy bombers and giving the position of a strategic railroad.

95-Pound Woman Driver Operates Large Trucks

Driving a 12,000-pound truck is a cinch for Mrs. Katherine Rainville of Providence, R. I., who weighs 95 pounds.

Averaging 50,000 to 75,000 miles a year, Ma—as she is known to truck drivers—carries new automobiles between Buffalo and Providence in all kinds of weather. When loaded, the weight of her truck is doubled.

Mrs. Rainville not only drives the truck, but makes whatever repairs are necessary. She also loads and unloads the vehicle after getting the 200-pound runways in position.

Most truckmen know and like Ma, but occasionally she meets someone who doesn't approve of women truck drivers. "Then," she says, "I just act a little high hat, too."

Ma learned about machinery on her father's farm and bought her own truck while helping her husband in his trucking business.

When not busy on the interstate highways, she likes to cook for her husband and two children at their Longmeadow, Mass., home.

Industrial Motion Pictures

The motion picture camera, which doesn't miss a movement, is being used to show industrial engineering students at the Pennsylvania State college how to speed up the assembly of common industrial products. Using strictly factory methods, the students assemble small fixtures having 12 or more parts while the unfailing camera records their movements and the time. A clock-face in front of the students pictures the passing of time on the film, even to 1/2,000th of a minute. After the films are completed, minute studies are made to find ways of speeding up the process. A simple but unnecessary wrist motion might mean the difference between turning out 60 fixtures an hour or 50 fixtures, and hence is a waste of time and effort.

Planing Wood With a Press

Wood surfaces can be planed to a smooth finish on the drill press with a rotary planer. It is a die-cast disk with three high-speed tool-steel cutting knives and fits into the chuck of any powered woodworking drill press. Any size plank that can be moved on the drill press table can be handled and the tool will plane a plank two feet by eight inches in 25 to 30 seconds. Blades are adjusted with feeler gauges so they extend .002 below the center face of cutter body and it is recommended that the drill press depth gauge be set to take a cut one thirty-second of an inch or lighter, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A patented set-screw arrangement holds the cutting blades securely, so it is impossible for them to get out of adjustment while in operation.

HOG LEAPS FROM STOCK TRUCK AT LITTLE FALLS

Red Lake Falls.—Five hundred pounds of pork on the hoof gave Orville Hiner, a real problem when the porker worked himself off the back end of a stock truck, three miles northwest of Little Falls on U. S. Highway No. 10. A wrecker was procured and the quarter-ton was hoisted into a pickup outfit. Then the pickup was hoisted to the level of the stock truck and the hog somewhat worse for the experience, was trundled in.

MOVING IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

It has been a long time since a party label has meant much in our politics but recent tendencies may indicate that we are approaching a much needed political realignment that will give real meaning to the names of our two major parties. Democrat Wilkie is running as the republican candidate for President and republican Wallace is the choice of the democrats for vice-President. In our own state farmer-laborite Shipstead has filed as a republican candidate for reelection to the Senate and state democrats have selected Theodor Slen, not so long ago a republican county chairman, to head their ticket as candidate for governor. There is nothing in this situation that should cause worry to the rank-and-file voter. On the contrary there is reason to believe we are moving in the right direction.

There was little difference a few years ago between Republican and Democrat. Under the old order a Republican in the South was "teched in the haid" and a Democrat in the North, outside of the large cities, was generally considered a little queer. Then in the political panic of 1932 the democratic party experienced a great transformation and everything but the name was changed by the group of reformers who, while they still paid lip service to the traditions of Jefferson and Jackson, violated every principle of good government established by these patron saints of the party. The Democratic party died in 1932 when the New Dealers took it over. It is still called the Democratic party but now it means "left wing" and the Republican party now definitely means "right wing." And the sooner we get all the left wingers into one group and the right wingers into another the easier it will be to define campaign issues and that in turn will simplify the task of the voters in making their selections at the polls.

"Any government, like any family, can for a year spend a little more than it earns. But you and I know that continuation of that habit means the poor house." So spoke citizen Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1932 when he cautioned his countrymen to have no truck with spendthrift Hoover. Accepting Roosevelt as an authority on the subject, it should be fair now to conclude that another term for the present administration will put us four years closer to the poor house.

We heard no complaints because the fair management had repeated an act this year that had played here five years ago. The reason, no doubt, is because the act met with general approval. Large and Morgner, the performers who are the act, with only one leg apiece to stand on, do a neat hand balancing number that always pleases. Starting as boys, they have performed together seventeen years. They hope to be able to continue another five years. What to do then they do not know. Perhaps the qualities that enabled them to overcome their handicap in the first place will see them through another difficult adjustment.

It isn't surprising, perhaps, that Senator Shipstead's return to the republican fold should prove disturbing to the candidates who now must compete with him for the party nomination. Martin Nelson was certainly deserving of the republican nomination and the right to represent his party in the final election. But for the party as a whole, Shipstead's return should be most encouraging. In a close presidential race his influence may be a deciding factor in the state. For the state republican organization to fail to extend Senator Shipstead the same consideration it gives to other candidates of the party might prove to be a serious political blunder.

Just to keep the record straight, the Democratic party, in its 1896 platform, declared: "We declare it to be the unwritten law of this republic, established by custom and usage of 100 years and sanctioned by the examples of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term to the presidential office." One man may be indispensible to a political machine but when the time comes that our country is so lacking in leadership that it cannot get along without any one man then we should admit our failure as a democracy and invite a dictator to take over the job of running our affairs.

Our country is spending many billions of dollars to prepare for war. As we understand it the threat of war comes from such fellows as Hitler. If we are not entirely wrong he is the No. 1 bad man in the world today. Perhaps we have gotten the information twisted. At any rate it is all very confusing to us. For instance this week Uncle Sam brought us another batch of literature assuring us Hitler is o. k. and telling us that we have nothing to fear. It doesn't make sense. Our government spends billions to fight Hitler and at the same time distributes literature that tells us Hitler is a fine fellow. Maybe Hitler is right after all in his opinion of the dumb democracies.

To one who has been bashed and bruised in many a silly argument about the finer things in music it is terribly nice to know that one Larry Adler is doing well in classical circles with his mouth organ. It proves again that we lack appreciation of the graces of course but it would be fun to be a harmonica player who couldn't read music and play command performances for royalty to the accompaniment of thirty piece orchestras.

We are greatly relieved to learn that the map makers are not being overworked because of what is happening in Europe. They take such things in stride we are told. Keeping up with the changes that take place in this country is more of a worry for them. Each year there are 3,000 changes in place names along with hundreds of new post offices, new highways and boom towns. There is an average of 2,000 miles of railroad track abandoned each year which means that nearly as many miles of track have to be taken off the maps now as were added each year a half a century ago. Keeping up with Hitler is a cinch.

A PARTY PLATFORM

(Lud Roe in the Montevideo News)

As members of the All-American Party we recognize that stern years are ahead. We pledge ourselves to accept personal sacrifice in order to keep this country steady, solvent and free. We do not come with promises of two cars in every garage or of a more abundant life. We ask you to be prepared to work harder, and possibly to get less. The soft days are over. Installment prosperity is at an end. It is time to pay up. For the sacrifice we all make we will be repaid in the return of personal reliance, and in an assured America for our children.

We confidently ask that such sacrifice be accepted by all classes and groups in our country. We abree not to hold back for fear somebody else will cling to something we give up; we are ready to take the first step away from special privilege for us and our crowd.

Among us are farmers, laborers, merchants, housewives, first voters and last voters. We agree to quit asking, "How do you make your living?" and "What is your age?" We will stand together as Americans, whether old or young, town or country, big or small.

Out of the giddy tangle of group jealousies and rivalries and suspicions we are determined to emerge. Before we get untangled there will be knots to cut and nuts to remove. We ask for patience and support and confidence.

We intend to do our level best to do right by all Americans. What this calls for in matters of specific laws for home enactment, or in foreign policy, it is not now humanly possible to say. If you believe in our deep-rooted desire to deal fairly, serve our generation well, maintain national defense and grow soundly for the future you are invited to join with us in this campaign.

THE TWO SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT

(Jim Morrison in Morris Tribune)

Not for some time has there been a presidential campaign in which the candidates of the two parties represented such distinctive schools of political thought. It would be quite inexact to distinguish them as conservative and liberal, or even as New Deal and Old Deal. The difference is rather that between socialistic and individualistic, between a regimented and a free economy. Roosevelt personifies the idea of the development of a strong central government over the local government, and of extensive government control over the individual. Wilkie personifies the idea of the greatest individual freedom compatible with the common good, and the retention of as much as possible of the power of government in local units. Many of us believe that the choice between these two schools of thought will determine whether America will become European or remain American, become collectivist or remain free. It is a question which America must sooner or later decide. It is to be regretted that the decision is somewhat clouded by the war now waging in Europe, and by the further fact that one of the candidates is violating the American tradition against a third term, but we believe that as the campaign progresses, this fundamental issue will become increasingly clear. We are in the midst of a totalitarian world. We must be in it, but need we be of it?

FRANCE AND AMERICA

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

When France fell to its knees before the Germans, there was discussion as to the cause of her submission. Leaders of that land tried to seek out causes and what they said may have its message for America.

Two men, Daladier and Reynaud, who had been premiers spoke. Here is what they said—

"It is our profound conviction that, fundamentally, the economic question is predominant. But we believe also that unsuccessful policies have profoundly aggravated the consequences of the continuous deterioration of economic activity . . . Actually that part of the French population which creates wealth, which labors for the future, is continually diminishing, while that part which, directly or indirectly lives on the state is constantly growing . . . There is a steady fall in the number of Frenchmen who are ready to bear the risks of enterprise and creation . . .

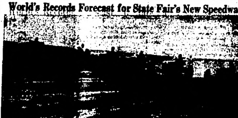
"That everyone should work more and that the state should spend less—for ourselves we see this as the only formula for salvation; it is elementary but it is inescapable . . .

"Sometimes . . . the authorities themselves have intervened to prevent the introduction of new methods designed to lower costs. In every field where activity might be reborn enterprise has been restricted and discouraged. The creative spirit and the willingness to take risks have been weakened.

"The problem then is not to choose between preserving or repealing the recent social reforms, which generous inspiration nobody disputes. The problem is to prevent them from automatically dwindling to nothing, to prevent their benefits from evaporating in the high cost of living, to prevent employers and employed, in a country which is still poor, from having nothing to share but poverty."

We are preaching in America the same doctrines that brought the deterioration of France. We say that America should not work long and hard and that leisure for all is a national ambition. Towards that end we put a premium upon idleness rather than industry. The farmer is told not to produce. Industrial workers are told of the 30 hour week which lies ahead. For some years we have carried the standard of idleness and frivolity and rejected the old and hard doctrines that individuals and nations prosper only as they deserve prosperity. The result has been that we have lost the conceptions which made America great. The pioneers sought out land to cultivate. They searched for minerals. They cut and converted forests. It is true that they were not always wise, but the eyes of the nation were upon work and enterprise. We are now spending what the past has stored up for us.

World's Records Forecast for State Fair's New Speedway



America's finest new all-purpose speedway will be dedicated by the Minnesota State Fair, August 24 to September 2. World's records are predicted for the new course which has been pronounced by racing pilots as the best in the land. In the initial time trials on the new speedway both Gus Schrader and Emery Collins unofficially lowered the world's half-mile record of 23.18 seconds.

Fifty-eight of the nation's greatest drivers will compete in the inaugural races for the American championship for which $15,000 in purses has been hung up. Race days are August 26, 29, 31 and September 2.

The new oval is 80 feet wide and highly banked at the turns to permit record-smashing performances.

Mud Crabs Make Oysters Ill

Vitamin C Heals Wounds

Wounds heal more rapidly if the body is well supplied with ascorbic acid, or vitamin C. Some observations have been made by surgeons that the wounds of persons who were receiving an adequate amount of vitamin C in their diet before operations for appendicitis healed in less than the average time. The theory that the healing was due to the vitamin was put to an experimental test by Dr. Lawrence E. Detrick, research fellow at the University of California, Los Angeles. Using guinea pigs as subjects, he kept one group on a generous vitamin C ration in its diet and found that these animals healed their wounds at a more rapid rate than the control groups receiving a normal diet.

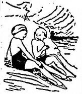
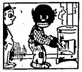
WHAT'S THE USE?



He—Have you ever considered getting married?

She—No. I've been married three times but I never stopped to consider it.

REGULATION



"I hear, Sambo, that you have a new thermometer, so you can regulate the heat."

"What are you going to do?"

"Wire her at once."

CLEVER WITH HIS FISTS

Mr. Smart—A clever artist can change a pretty face into an ugly one in a few strokes.

Pugilist Friend — Pshaw, I've spoiled many a face in one crack!

THE REAL THING

THAT'S JUST WHY

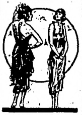
"Why is Bill always snappy?"

"Because he is always so short."

France's Taxless Villages

In the Jura mountains there are 24 French villages whose population of 10,000 not only do not pay taxes but actually receive a yearly dividend of from 100 to 200 francs. The explanation is that each village owns a large forest whose lumber is exploited in a business-like manner.

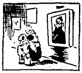
OF COURSE NOT



"I hope you don't talk about your neighbors."

"I should say not! Those people that I just spoke of live a mile or more from here."

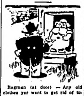
IGNORANCE OF ART



Wife (at art gallery)—This ancient portrait is an old master I suppose?

Hubby—Say, don't show your ignorance like that! Don't you see it's a woman's portrait? Old missus, you ought to say.

NO LACK OF DESIRE



Ragman (at door) — Any old clothes yer want to get rid of today, ma'am?

Lady (testily)—Lots of 'em, my man—but I've got to keep right on wearing 'em all the same!

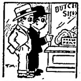
LIGHT, MINUS THE HAND



"It's queer, I'll say."

"What's that?"

"The heavy-handed butcher gives you light weight."

Mahogany Furniture Designs

Did Sheraton really make mahogany furniture of the style that bears his name? There exists today no example or authentic historical record to prove that he did. Sheraton's book, "The Cabinetmakers' and Upholsterers' Drawing-Book," published in 1791, was subscribed for by 650 English cabinetmakers. It was among these men, we know not which, who created the Sheraton pieces in our collections and museums.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

So. St. Paul, Minn., August 6, 1940: Grain-fed steers and yearlings continued to meet stronger levels, gains for two days measuring fully 25c, numerous instances 35c or more higher, according to the Federal State Market News Service. Strength manifested brought about by slightly improved dressed trade, cooler weather enhancing the consumptive demand, in addition to meager offerings. Action on cows was less brisk, but these, along with grass heifers and bulls, were in stronger position than late last week. Vealers returned steady to 50c lower money. The week's top to date, 11.25, was realized on choice 975 lb. yearling steers, others turned at $11.00, medium-weight steers $10.75. Numerous loads yearling steers, including mixed lots, sold at [illegible], grass cows largely [illegible], canners and cutters [illegible]. Strictly choice vealers realized $10.00, bulk good to choice [illegible]. General rains throughout the immediate trade territory was a strengthening factor in the replacement trade, trends being fully 25c higher.

Gains of around 10c on the opening day of the week, followed by a similar loss on Tuesday, left hog values very nearly on a par with the close of last week. Tuesday's top of $8.15 was the same as last Friday's peak, while bulk of the good and choice 180-240 lb. barrows and gilts sold from [illegible], and 240-270 lb. weights made [illegible]. Similar grades 270-300 lb. moved in a spread of [illegible], with 300-360 lb. kinds going at [illegible], and a few extreme heavies cleared as low as [illegible]. Good and choice 140-160 lb lights and light lights sold in a range of [illegible]. Most good sows 330 lb down cleared at [illegible], with heavierweights ranking downward to [illegible]. Feeder pigs were 25c off at mostly [illegible].

Conditions in the eastern dressed lamb trade are vastly improved over early last week. The excessive accumulation of carcasses has been disposed of and fresh unloads are meeting with good outlet. Live supplies at central markets have been running below normal in volume so far this week and prices have shot up, the local gain on fat lambs figuring largely 50c over last Friday. Yearlings and ewes are strong to mostly 25c up. Tuesday's sales of good to choice range spring killer lambs pushed up 25c with the bulk [illegible].

AMATEUR HOCKEY LEAGUE OFFICIALS VISITORS IN CITY

Urge Affiliation of S-D Loop with National Organization

Thomas Lockhart, president, and Walter Brown, vice-president, of the American Amateur Hockey Association were in the city last Tuesday afternoon, and conferred with local hockey enthusiasts. Phil Larson, president of the States-Dominion hockey league, Paul Lundgren and Al Stenberg, officials of the local club, and Bill LaFave, president of the Athletic Association, were in attendance at an informal meeting held at the Rex Cafe.

Mr. Lockhart, who is associated with New Yorks Madison Square Garden and the New York Rangers' hockey organization, gave his opinion of the benefits that would accrue to the S-D Hockey league if the league became affiliated with the A. A. H. A. The Association is in full cooperation with the Canadian Hockey association, and as a result Canadian players are more readily available to the teams that belong to the A. A. H. A. Further, players that are registered under the Association are automatically registered in the C. H. A., and these players cannot be coaxed away from one team and league to another team and league.

Mr. Lockhart added that according to present indications Canadian players would be available for next season's play, that is, if these players had completed their thirty days of non-permanent military training. Most of the professional hockey players were engaged in this training now, he said.

It Looks Easy, But—

Taking a horse over a six foot hurdle looks easy, and it apparently is easy for a horse and a rider who know how. They had this kind of a combination in Hoagian's Hippodrome, pictured above as they entertained the Friday afternoon crowd at the fair last week.

1ST OF NORTHERN MINNIE PLAYOFF TILTS ON SUNDAY

Game Postponed from Last Sunday to be Played at Plummer

The first game of the play-offs for the championship of the Northern Minnesota baseball league is scheduled for the Plummer baseball park next Sunday afternoon, Aug. 11th at 2 p. m. when the Thief River Falls team meets the Plummer aggregation in the first of a three game series.

Last Sunday's game, which was to have opened the series, and to have been played at Thief River Falls, was forced into a postponement when the Pennington county fair was extended an extra day, making unavailable the fair grounds diamond.

With both teams anxious to cop the opening game, it is expected that an over-flow crowd will be in attendance at the game next Sunday, and predictions are that the game will be a bitterly-fought affair.

The highway patrol Saturday evening took John Ranum of the Rosewood community into custody on a charge of driving on Main av. N. while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Appearing Monday in municipal court, he was fined $25 with costs of $3.

TOURNAMENTS ON PLAYGROUNDS TO BE FINISHED SOON

Horseshoe, Croquet, Tennis Tournaments Will End Next Week

Tournaments scheduled for the various athletic activities at Tindolph and East side playgrounds have been held up for a few days to give more aspirants an opportunity to sign up. Registration for the tournaments was low last week because of the Pennington county fair, so sponsors of the tourneys decided to continue the events through the early part of next week. Anyone who wishes to take part in these contests can do so by signing up with the recreation leader at either park.

Horseshoe, table tennis, croquet, and tennis tournaments are being run off. The finals of all these sports with the exception of tennis will be run off at Tindolph park in connection with the water carnival Sunday, August 18th. Tennis finals will be played at East side park as soon as all eliminations are made.

With more than a week added to the tournament time, it is expected participation will increase sharply. Officials in charge urge everyone to take part in these events. The success of the tourneys depends on the cooperation of the public. Ribbons will be awarded winners in all events, and first place winners will be recognized as city champs.

SPORTS Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

It Looks Like Plummer

It may be worry over Walt Larson's Land O'Lakes D-ball team; it may be worry over Lloyd Benres' golf game; it may be the effect of too much Fair; or too much 'French Casino'; of brunette trouble—but whatever the cause I have a pessimistic feeling about the ball game at Plummer Sunday. It looks like Plummer will knock off the locals in the first game of the play-offs, and not make too much work out of doing it either. Plummer is in fine condition for game, for they will have had two weeks of intensive practice, while the locals have merely had some hit-and-miss practice sessions. Yep, it appears that a 6 to 3 score, with Plummer on the long end, will decide the game. I hope that I'll be 'happily disappointed', but I doubt it.

2d Round D-ball Under Way

Walt Larson has plenty of confidence. His Land O' Lakes team is in a two-way tie, with the DeMolay, for 4th and 5th place in the league standings, and yet he's claiming a city championship for his team. Talk like that reminds me of Heinie Waag telling of that fight he was in last year. Here's the way Heinie tells it: "There was a blow. Somebody fell. I got up. Turning on my opponent, I succeeded in winding his arms around my waist, and by a quick maneuver threw him on top of me, bringing my back at the same time in contact with the pavement. Then inserting my nose between his teeth, and his hands in my hair, I had him." I'm afraid that's the way Walt and I will be describing the Land O'Lakes team, after the championship has been awarded to the Harts club.

Jimmy Cerny sets Alley Record

Jimmy Cerny, Oscar's 12-year old son, nearly burned down his dad's new alleys last week. He bowled a 241 game, to set a single game record for the alleys. Jimmy opened with a triple, picked up a spare, and then racked up five strikes in a row, and only a 'blow' in the 10th frame kept him from going over the 250 mark. If Jimmy keeps on bowling like that the City League will have to introduce a rule barring bowlers under 13 years of age from league play.

Hockey Officials in Town

Two of the big shots of the American Amateur Hockey Association were in town last Tuesday afternoon, and the purpose of their visit was to explain the benefits the States-Dominion hockey league would receive if it joined the Association. It was proper that they should visit our town, for after all we had the team that won the championship of the S-D league. Too bad that Crookston's Walt Grinole wasn't here, so that he could, have represented the town that had the team that was runner-up for the league championship. Walt, even in August, maintains that the Crookston Pirates are the league champs. The claim isn't taken very seriously though, because almost everyone knows that it is a joke for anyone to claim a hockey championship for that bunch of hatchet-men that Crookston had playing hockey last winter. Their style of hockey was merely a glorified form of croquet on ice; they were clubbers.

Miscellany

Bob Kielty has joined the Navy—That 'Princess Celeste' that was doing a muscle dance at the Carnival last week, wasn't a 'Princess'. 'She' was a he.—Hemmy Sahl wants to learn how to tie a bow tie. Young ladies who will guarantee to teach him, in ten or more easy lessons, are asked to make application. —Lloyd Bennes took another golf lesson. That will add a stroke or two to his game.—Rollie Johnson, sports commentator over WCCO, and who was here last Wednesday, teaches school in Monroe High School in St. Paul.—Roy Lee and Bones Stadum, All-State basketball men in 1938, are planning on entering the 'U' this fall.

Two game wardens took a drag-line swing around one corner of Leech Lake at Walker and pulled up 4,200 feet, of illegal nets. The wardens reported confiscating 21 gill nets. There were five of 150 feet each, eleven of 200 feet, and five of 250 feet.

NATIONAL DEFENSE TO BE STRESSED IN STATE FAIR SHOWS

Federal and State Governments to Feature New Exhibits

The Minnesota State Fair today took its place in the front ranks of the national defense program as state and federal governments approves enlarged educational displays aimed to conserve resources.

The State Fair board in planning its 1940 Exposition, August 24 to September 2, has allotted one-half of the street floor of the grandstand for the federal Works Project Administration exhibit.

In the state conservation building an entirely new show is in the making. Protection of Minnesota's iron ore areas and its forest and game resources is being stressed.

A complete watchtower, manned by forest rangers and fully equipped, will show visitors how fires are located through range finders. Use of the two-way radio will show how fire fighting crews are dispatched to the exact scene. The value of Minnesota's iron deposits, greatest in the world, as a military and civil resource will be graphically displayed. Protection of game and fish will be shown through aquarium displays. Attendants will explain the game and fish laws.

Streamlined and entirely re-decorated, the street floor exhibit hall of the grandstand will feature the educational and conservation work of the Works Projects Administration.

Enlargement of airports and other aerial defense work of the Works Projects Administration will be graphically portrayed by pictorial and model displays. Activities in conserving the morale of the nation and in aiding health through hot lunch, fine arts, nursery work, sewing, bookmending, research and other white collar projects will be shown pictorially or in actual demonstrations.

Twenty contestants, selected at four district elimination contests last June, will vie for the honor of state champion sheep shearer at the Minnesota State Fair, Labor Day, September 2. Beginning at 10:30 a. m. the state contest will be staged in the Hippodrome. About $260 in prize money is provided and will be shared by all contestants. Judges for the event are W. E. Morris, extension animal husbandman, and P. A. Anderson, animal husbandry division, University Farm.

Red Cross Declares No Supplies Forwarded to Europe Have Been Seized

In an official report on American Red Cross war relief activities in Europe, Chairman Norman H. Davis vigorously denied rumors that Red Cross supplies had been seized by any of the belligerent countries.

Referring to rumors that Germany had confiscated American Red Cross supplies and funds, he declared on a nation-wide broadcast: "I want to assure the American people that there is no foundation whatsoever for such reports. I am able to state categorically that the German authorities have not seized one cent of Red Cross funds nor have they taken a single item of our supplies."

Mr. Davis assured contributors to the war relief fund that the "Red Cross does not intend to engage in any relief program without adequate control over its operations or without ample consideration of the wishes of those who have contributed so generously." He also reiterated that none of the war relief funds are spent on the normal program of the Red Cross including general administration of war relief work. The Red Cross has spent almost eight million dollars in the last eleven months, he said, "to bring assistance and comfort to the suffering people of Poland, Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, France and England.

Web Worms Damage Crops in the Valley

Alfalfa and sugar beet web worms are doing great destruction to a variety of crops in the Red River Valley according to reports received at the Northwest Experiment Station. T. M. McCall, superintendent of the station, states that frequent heavy rains have made the previously recommended Paris green spray more or less ineffective. Mr. McCall states that arsenical sprays when applied evenly over the leaf surface of plants have been effective in web worm control, and that a more even coverage has been secured from hooded dust sprayers than from the sprayers with exposed spray nozzles. Paris green has generally been quite effective when applied at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds per acre. The amount of hydrated lime filler per pound of poison is quite immaterial but varies from 4 to 25 pounds, the amount of poison per acre being most important.

BY DON HEROLD
More and more families are changing from impolite, old refrigerators which grumble at their work to the modern, permanently silent, polite SERVEL ELECTROLUX which has no moving parts to wear and whimper for help.
A safe little flame simply keeps a harmless, sealed-in refrigerant in constant circulation—that's the whole secret of SERVEL ELECTROLUX operation.
Even families who live out beyond the gas mains may now revel in a SERVEL, because SERVEL now also RUNS ON KEROSENE OR SKELGAS for a few cents a day
Whether you now have a drippy old drip of an ice box or any other kind of old or outmoded refrigerator, consider a shift to a smooth-going, modern-to-the-minute SERVEL. You get perfect food preservation (moist or dry—as you prefer), plentiful crops of ice cubes, delightful cold desserts—with no headaches from noise, and with continued low operating cost and real savings on upkeep.

1950 years ago Seneca said
"it is QUALITY — rather than quantity that counts"
si sez:
Seneca was a wise old roman philosopher who knew his stuff. today—nearly two thousand years later—it is equally true that QUALITY does count—it has been our constant endeavor here—in this store—throughout the last 31 years to adhere rigidly to that idea of QUALITY in every piece of merchandise we have offered to the public.
that is why—at POPPLERS—you find such world renowned names as Steinway—Chickering—Wurlitzer—in pianos—Philco in radio, refrigeration—Easy in washers and ironers.
it is why POPPLERS offer Conn band instruments—Colonial Maid living room furniture—Barton-Dixie springs and mattresses—Mohawk—Karaghensian and Alexander Smith carpeting.
each one of these names is a hall mark of QUALITY—you need not investigate—need not question the QUALITY of the merchandise bearing those names.
it isn't strange that—under one roof—in one great stock—all those QUALITY lines are to be found.
factories have sales managers who know who in each city—in each community can best market their firm's products.
a firm must be well established—well rated—well managed and well manned by experienced salesmen to be worthy of handling such merchandise as these great names represent. such a firm (and i can say this without egotism) is POPPLER'S.
our QUALITY merchandise makes this a safe place to buy.
and QUALITY—here—does not mean higher prices but exactly the contrary—for though QUALITY is cheap—in the long run—at any price—our prices are no higher and often times less than what you would pay for "JUST AS GOOD" articles elsewhere.
buy QUALITY when you buy. it will pay you well and what a world of satisfaction will be yours in the years to come.

ONE DRIVER OUT OF 370 LOSES PERMIT IN 1ST HALF OF '40

2709 Licenses Revoked or Suspended in Past Six Months

One out of every 370 persons in Minnesota who regularly operates a motor vehicle has lost his driver's license through some infraction of the traffic laws during the first six months of the current year. Most of the drivers so penalized have been barred from the wheel, for varying periods of time, as penalty for committing offenses which gravely endangered the lives of other motorists.

This at least partial answer to why people get killed and injured in traffic was provided this week by a January 1 to July 1 report of the state highway department's drivers license bureau to Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffman. The bureau reported 2,709 combined revocations and suspensions, out of the estimated 1,000,000 active holders of drivers licenses in the state.

The completion of records for June, the sixth month, showed that 1,272 driver's licenses were revoked since January 1, 1940, as against 605 for the first six months and 1,558 for the entire year of 1939. During the same six-month period of this year, 1,437 licenses were suspended, or 81 more than the 1,356 suspensions ordered and executed during the entire year of 1939.

Of the revocations reported since the first of the year, 1,016 motorists suffered the loss of their licenses for one year as punishment for driving while intoxicated. Fifty-four others were revoked for repeated offenses of speeding and reckless driving, 62 for driving while under suspension, 25 for failing to stop and disclose identity after an accident, and 146 for operating a vehicle without the owner's permission.

The more than 100% increase in driver's license suspensions was attributed chiefly to the policy inaugurated the first year of suspending the licenses of motorists who, by repeated offenses such as speeding and reckless driving, prove themselves to be habitual menaces to the lives, property, and rights of other motorists.

Of the 1,437 drivers whose licenses were revoked during the half-year just past, 1,121 of them were deprived of the right to drive a car for repetition of such specifically dangerous offenses as the following: 701 for speeding, 301 for reckless driving, 105 for disregarding stop signs and signals, 9 for illegal passing, and 5 for driving with defective brakes.

In addition to these "repeater" suspensions, 15 driver's licenses were suspended for poor driving record, 7 for parking in such a manner as to endanger lives, and 6 for intoxication.

Of the motorists who lost their licenses through outright revocation, 146 were under 21 years of age. Among those suspended 416 were youths under 21 years of age, and a total of 757, or more than 52%, were not over 25 years of age.

E. R. Clark Resigns Position on Faculty of Northwest School

The resignation of Professor E. R. Clark from the staff of the Northwest School and Station at Crookston will result in a reorganization of work involving three departments, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall.

Professor R. S. Dunham, agronomist, will take over the teaching of all farm crops subjects and pure seed work. A full time agricultural engineer will be employed and an additional science instructor will be appointed for the school year, which begins on September 30.

The full time instructor in agricultural engineering will assist in the supervision of home project work and will assume his duties about August 15.

Additional equipment is being installed for work in music, agricultural engineering and home economics. A new full time school nurse will be employed to take the place of Miss Elsa Simonson who resigned to take up public health nursing work in Idaho.

DR. E. H. MARCUM OF BEMIDJI DIES AFTER CAR MISHAP

Prominent Physician Uncle of Mrs. H. C. Glessner of This City

Dr. E. H. Marcum, Bemidji physician since 1902, died at Bemidji Lutheran hospital Monday morning from injuries received in an auto accident Friday night when his car went out of control, broke off a telephone pole, overturned and hit a tree at the north end of Lake Bemidji.

Dr. Marcum was riding alone to the Town and Country club after making a call at Birchmont when the accident occurred. Discovered in the wrecked car by passersby, he was taken to the hospital where physicians found he suffered severe arm, leg and body injuries.

Dr. Marcum was a brother of Walter Marcum, co-owner of the Bemidji Pioneer, daily newspaper, and was an uncle of Mrs. H. G. Glessner of Thief River Falls.

Immediate survivors are his wife and a brother, Walter Marcum.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Bemidji Masonic temple. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery, near Washington, D. C.

Safety Study Reveals Where, How Pedestrian Traffic Deaths Occur

Seeking to enlist the necessary cooperation of all Minnesotans, the Minnesota Highway department this week released the results of an intensive 6-month accident study, showing where and why pedestrians have been killed in traffic mishaps so far in 1940.

Due to the fact that during the first six months of this year 27 more pedestrians have been killed than during the same period of 1939, safety officials are making every effort during the remainder of the year to cut down this unnecessary waste of human lives.

By far the greatest increase in pedestrian deaths this year is charged to the urban sections of the state, including not only large cities but all municipalities of 2,500 and over. The rural areas had a total of 20 pedestrian fatalities in the first six months of this year as against 18 rural pedestrian deaths during the same period last year. Therefore, out of the 27 more pedestrian deaths so far this year than last, 25 of them, or 92 per cent of the increase, is chargeable to the urban centers.

Leading causes of pedestrian deaths have been: crossing at intersections against signals or where there have been no signals, walking in roadways, jaywalking, coming from behind parked cars into traffic lanes, and playing in the roadway.

"Life can be made safe for pedestrians only through the cooperation of both motorists and pedestrians," said W. F. Rosenwald, Traffic and Safety Engineer of the Minnesota Highway department, in summarizing the accident study. "The pedestrian toll of 1940 can be reduced only by rigid care during the remainder of the year, and only through the greater cooperation of all."

Poultry Production up But Outlook Is Bright

The Agricultural Marketing Service reported that on June 1 farm poultry flocks were 3.5 per cent larger than a year ago and egg production per layer was at a 16-year record high for that date, says W. H. Dankers, extension economist at University Farm, St. Paul.

From the standpoint of production and supply the egg price outlook is less favorable than a year ago, Dankers says, but consumer demand is likely to remain considerably stronger than a year ago because of increased industrial activity. Although prices for eggs and chickens are down slightly below last year, this situation is expected to change as soon as results from the smaller 1940 hatch begin to have a market influence.

Young chickens in farm flocks on June 1 numbered 12 per cent below a year ago but this decrease is partly offset by later hatchings, Dankers says. The total reduction in hatchings this year is likely to be less than 12 per cent.

HE FAVORS

An adequate national defense. Uphold the traditional foreign policy given us by George Washington—of neutrality, non-intervention and no entangling alliances.

Back to business methods in administration of public affairs, conserve the public credit. We must arrest the tendency to centralize power in Washington. Power must come from the people if we are to continue a democracy. No substitute has yet been found to take the place of old fashioned American fair play, honesty, common sense, civil and religious liberty.

A sensible reciprocal trade treaty as a real American tariff policy after the present war is over would be free trade only with nations having the same wage scale, social and cost standards as the United States. We must protect American labor, industry and agriculture against the competitive merchandise of nations which sweat their labor.

Fairness to every agricultural producer. The American farmer must have cost of production and the home markets. Provision must be made for soil conservation, reclamation and a safe and sound rural credit policy.

An adequate system of old age pension. The government should recognize this responsibility due to the aged and it should be free of any implication that it is a form of charity.

COLVIN G. BUTLER was elected to the state legislature from Ottertail county two years ago, getting 12,549 votes, which is the largest number of votes ever cast for any member of the legislature from the Ninth Congressional District.

Sixty Day Duck Season Is Announced by Federal Authorities, Opens Oct. 1

Announcement has been made by federal authorities that the hunting season this fall will open October 1 and will continue sixty days. This order covers the shooting of ducks, geese, coots and jacksnipe in the northern zone and also permits shooting to start at sunrise instead of the 7:00 o'clock for all these birds except jacksnipe which may be shot until sundown.

Bag limit of ducks remain at ten a day but the limit on geese is reduced from four to three a day. As in previous years, the number of waterfowl that may be possessed at any time is limited to two day's bag but a new rule makes it possible to possess the legal limit for twenty days after the close of the season instead of ten days.

TAX PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED AT C & C MEETING THURSDAY

Aid Solicited for Maple Lake Project—Road Oiling Next Year

Tax problems were the chief subject of discussion at the Civic & Commerce Association luncheon Thursday evening, the first regular weekly session of the organization following the usual summer recess. Representatives of local units, including County auditor A. M. Senstad, city assessor Theodore Thronson, superintendent of schools Morris Bye and city clerk P. G. Pederson, were called on for short reports. Following the discussion the chairman of the meeting, Robert J. Lund, was instructed to name a special committee to prepare a resolution covering various phases of the tax problem to be presented to the membership for consideration at its meeting this noon.

Representatives of the Maple Lake Improvement association were present and explained to the membership plans for the restoration of Maple Lake. Charles Rapin of Crookston, chairman of the organization, explained that a federal grant of $71,000 had been approved for the project and that in the neighborhood of $22,000 would have to be raised as the sponsor's contribution. With $7,000 contributed by both the state and Polk County, the remaining $8,000 is being solicited from interested property owners and neighboring communities that would be benefited by the improvement. Thief River Falls was asked to contribute $500. The matter was referred to the directors for action.

A road committee report indicated slight prospect for the oiling of trunk highway No. 1 east to Goodridge this season but that a project for this improvement has been set up and probably will be a part of next year's program.

REDEMPTION DATE WILL EXPIRE SOON SENSTAD CAUTIONS

1931 and 1933 Delinquencies Must be Redeemed by August 23

Attention of real estate owners and holders of mortgages on real estate is again called to the fact that the law for the forfeiture of real estate to the State of Minnesota for non-payment of taxes is in full operation, County Auditor A. M. Senstad explains in the following statement prepared by him. Real estate taxes becoming delinquent must be paid within five years after the year it becomes delinquent or title will move to the state.

Notice of time of expiration of redemption has been served on all real estate in Pennington County on which the first year of delinquency is 1931, 1932 or 1933. The 1931 and 1933 delinquencies have only a 60-day period of redemption, which expires on August 23. The 1932 tax has a one-year period of redemption and will expire Jan. 3, 1941. In other words, if you own real estate or are interested in real estate and such real estate is delinquent for 1931 or 1933, you will lose your title on August 23, 1940, and if delinquent for 1932, your real estate will forfeit Jan. 3, 1941, unless the taxes are paid prior to the date of expiration of redemption.

Pursuant to Chapter 91, Session Laws of 1939, any owner of real estate or any person to whom the right to pay taxes has been given by statute, mortgage or other agreement, on which the taxes are delinquent for 1936 or prior years, may include the 1937 tax and have all years composed into one amount of original tax plus 10% penalty; then make a down payment of 1-10 of the whole amount and have the balance spread over nine more years with 5% interest on the unpaid balance from year to year. This is known as the installment plan for the payment of delinquent taxes or confession of judgment. The entering into of an agreement of this kind will save the property owner or other interested person if done prior to the date of expiration of redemption.

Any person who is the owner or is interested in any real estate on which the taxes are delinquent for 1931, 1932 or 1933 should make immediate inquiry at the County Auditor's office to determine the tax situation of the real estate involved, and prevent its forfeiture to the state, if possible, whether such real estate lies in Pennington County or in any other county in the state.

REA Members Urged to Provide Wiring for Additional Equipment

About sixty-five members of the Rural Electrification Association from Pennington County that attended the meeting in the Court room, Monday evening were told by Norton C. Ives, Agricultural Extension Engineer from University Farm, that in order to make complete use of electricity a thorough job of wiring must be carried out.

Mr. Ives told the group that all wiring for appliances and equipment to be used in five or ten years should be planned for now. This particularly applies to size of wire, switch boxes, and outlets. He recommended that each member draw a plan of all outside wiring, a floor plan of each floor of the house, including the basement, and locate all lights, outlets, and etc., so that he would know exactly what he wanted when he talked to the contractor about wiring.

Light fixtures for an entire house that are recommended by R.E.A. can be purchased in unit lots at any electrical store. These units are prepared by all companies.

Grasshopper Bait Mix Plant Closes Saturday

Although there are still a large number of farms on which grasshoppers need to be controlled, because of the busy harvest season no bait is being used, states Howard E. Grow, County Agent. As a result, the bait mixing project will be closed on Saturday, August 17. Bait will be available after this date, but farmers will have to assist with the mixing.

Three hundred nine different farmers have secured bait at least once from the station this year. That means that some over five hundred farmers have used some bait. Many of these men used bait from four to six different times.

An ample supply of bait materials are on hand for any demand there might be either this year or next year.

JANITORS AND BUS DRIVERS REHIRED

Flat Fee of $3.00 Set to Cover All School Activities; Lowers Cost

Vacancies in the teaching staff were filled, janitors and bus drivers were rehired and many various problems were acted on by the school board at its regular session Monday evening in readiness for school opening Tuesday, September 3. New teachers elected are Rakel Erickson of Fertile, to teach the sixth grade at the Knox School; Elizabeth Jude of Maple Lake, librarian; James R. Carlson of Staples to teach 11th year English and Elizabeth Koops of Glyndon to succeed Mr. H. G. Peterson, recently resigned as teacher of 12th year English and public speaking. Mr. Peterson will continue his studies at Northwestern University where he has attended summer sessions.

All present janitors and bus drivers were rehired and necessary repairs for the school buses were authorized. Bids for painting woodwork and metal cornices on the old Lincoln building were opened and the contract was awarded to Gus Freed, the low bidder, at a cost of $155.00. The Tri-County Forum was named the official paper for the coming year, proceedings to be published in both the Forum and the Times, and the Times was awarded the contract for publishing the annual bulletin. Mr. Bye reported that repair work on the Washington building would be completed in time for school opening.

Under a new arrangement suggested by Mr. Bye and approved by the board, a fee of $3.00 will be charged each junior and senior high school student upon entry, this flat fee to take the place of several miscellaneous charges that have been made in the past. One dollar of this fee will serve as a deposit for books, to be returned at the close of the school year. Deadly Mosquito Invasion

A recent invasion of South America by a species of small but deadly mosquitoes known to science as Anopheles gambiae, is causing some dismay among physicians. This mosquito, says the National Geographic society, is one of man's most dangerous enemies. Carrying a form of disabling and often fatal malaria, it has long been known in tropical Africa, its chief breeding ground. The species was discovered in the Western world in 1930, in a Brazilian seaport where the mosquito had apparently migrated from West Africa. Moving up the coast and inland, the Anopheles gambiae has ravaged an area covering much of the great northern shoulder of Brazil. In one year one district alone reported an epidemic of more than 50,000 cases of malaria. Physicians fear the continued spread of this mosquito, possibly even to North America, although the Rockefeller foundation and the Brazilian government are co-operating in an effort to halt it.

Lure of Orange Grove

The first great wish of the greatest number of people on their first visit to Florida is to get into an orange grove. If they enter the state by the east coast, the old Garnett grove on San Marco avenue, St. Augustine, is the earliest opportunity they have to gratify that desire. No matter how many bearing potted orange trees are cultivated in greenhouses, or how attractive are the orange grove exhibits in great expositions in the North, they do not completely satisfy the hope of some time walking in a grove with trees growing, out under the sky, among rows and rows of glossy-leaved trees. Indeed, it is believed that Northern fair orange-tree displays increase the general desire to meet the orange groves of Florida.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Imagination

To give children the full benefit of learning through imagination, they must have a free environment. They do not need perfection and finish in their surroundings to make them happy. Children invest with magic the most ordinary and commonplace things. They will fish over the banister, for example, with a string and go to great pains to "land" a block that has no resemblance to a fish. Here they are engrossed in the doing; as when a stick becomes a hobby horse from the need for riding, not because it looks like a horse. They use in new ways everything they see or experience, putting together bits that make a mosaic as fantastic as a dream but real and concrete to them. Overriding incongruity, they will tell a story with preposterous elements like that of the little boy who "dropped his head" and went home to tell his mother in elaborate detail where it might be found. A little girl will scold her doll for not eating her dinner and then calmly proceed to eat it herself.

Like primitive man, the child attributes to natural objects the same thoughts and feelings which move him. The wind moaning in the chimney becomes a real person to him. In fact, when we say nature smiles after a rain, or that the leaves whisper in the forest, we are only using phrases which hark back to childish imagination remote in man's history. Here we get a glimpse of what imagination has done for man in lifting him above the realm of everyday, humdrum, material things into a life of the spirit which sees possibilities. Wherever man has conquered the elements of the animal in himself, it has been through imagination.

The mother may greatly add to, or detract from, her children's sense of comradeship with her, by the value she puts on imagination. If we enter into the child's play with him, we double the enjoyment he gets out of it. If we respect his request not to sit on the chair where his imaginary guest is sitting, if we enter wholeheartedly into a conversation in which he takes the part of Mr. McGregor, whose garden is being ravaged by rabbits, we are adding to his fun, and at no expense in equipment or time. The mother who "thinks it is silly" to humor the child's fancy is to be pitied for having forgotten her own childhood.

There is some confusion in the minds of parents as to how children may have their imagination cultivated without running the danger of losing sight of reality. Until about the age of five, the child does not realize that he is imagining. Often the highly imaginative tales of the child are misinterpreted by the parent or teacher, who, having hard and fast notions of right and wrong, cannot appreciate the fluid state of the child's ideas and beliefs. The adult does not realize that his way of looking at things is crystalized after hundreds of experiences with those facts. The mother who is perplexed to know what to say to her six year old when he announces, "I shot seventy gophers this morning," forgets that he has as yet very inadequate ideas of number, and that he is asking only for appreciation of his ability as a hunter.

Mahogany and Satinwood

Chippendale, it is generally agreed, was the first great worker in mahogany. It was a wood perfectly adapted to his needs. THAT REFRESHING MINT FLAVOR

MINT leaves always add a refreshing touch to iced tea or lemonade. But did you ever try adding mint to apple sauce? Here's a glorious, velvety-smooth green frozen dessert that is delicately flavored with mint. And it's made with apple sauce for a base. Doesn't that sound unusual and interesting?

You'll find that the combined mint and apple flavor is wonderfully pleasant. The name of this dessert is Apple Mint Marlow. A marlow, you know, is made with melted marshmallows and whipped cream. Here is the recipe:

APPLE MINT MARLOW

- 3 medium sized cooking apples
- 1⁄3 cup sugar
- 1⁄3 cup water
- 20 marshmallows
- 2 tbsp. apple sauce juice
- 1⁄2 tsp. mint flavoring (spearmint extract)
- Green coloring
- 1 cup whipping cream

Cook apples with sugar and water until mushy. Measure 1 cup of the drained sauce.

Cut 20 marshmallows in quarters and add 2 tbsp. apple sauce juice and steam in top of double boiler until thoroughly melted. Blend in apple sauce and cool.

Blend in flavoring and a few drops of coloring.

When slightly stiffened, fold in the stiffly whipped cream. Place in tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze 3 to 4 hours. Or place in a mold with a tight cover and freeze 5 hours, using 2 parts of ice to 1 part of rock salt.

This recipe will make 8 servings.

ICE CREAM CALLS FOR CAKE OR COOKIES

Of course, a frozen dessert like this calls for cakes or cookies . . . and I think that nothing goes better than crisp, chewy little macaroons. So here is the recipe for Almond Macaroons.

ALMOND MACAROONS

- 1⁄2 lb. shelled, blanched almonds
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 4 egg whites
- 1⁄2 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 tbsp. all-purpose flour

Grind almonds very fine in food chopper, putting them through chopper three times. Then roll with rolling pin. Work in the granulated sugar and unbeaten egg whites with a spoon. Mix until smooth.

Mix confectioners' sugar and flour together. Blend into the almond mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls on an ungreased white wrapping paper. Cover with a pan and let stand about 45 minutes to harden on the outside before baking. Just before baking, brush tops lightly with water (using a brush) and sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar.

Place paper holding macaroons on a cooky sheet and bake 25 minutes in a slow oven, 300° F.

When baked, remove from oven, take the paper with the macaroons on it from the cooky sheet and lay a damp towel on cooky sheet. Place the paper with the macaroons on it on this towel, and let stand for 1 minute. The steam will loosen the macaroons so that they can easily be removed with a spatula.

This recipe will make 4 dozen macaroons.

New Winter Wheat Has Best Qualities of Parent Varieties—Now Available

Best qualities of two varieties of wheat that have contributed greatly to the development of northwest wheat areas are combined in Marmin, a new winter wheat just announced by Dr. C. H. Bailey, vice-director of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station at University Farm, St. Paul.

Marmin is a selection from a cross of Marquis, superior quality spring wheat, and Minturki, hardy and high-yielding winter variety. Dr. H. K. Hayes, chief of the agronomy division at University Farm, believes it combines the desirable qualities of each. It is winter-hardy, high-yielding, has a high bushel-weight and a better milling quality than Minturki. Because it yields flour of better color and weighs more per bushel, Marmin will probably grade higher on the market than its predecessor. At the same time it retains the rust-resistance and the winter-hardiness of the Minturki.

The new wheat, like all varieties released by the station, has been grown and tested under a wide variety of conditions before being recommended to Minnesota growers. About 1,000 bushels of seed have been made available at Waseca and University Farm for seeding this fall. County agents are working with Carl Borgeson of the agronomy division at University Farm, and Bob Hodgson, superintendent of the Waseca Experiment Station, in making the seed available in wheat growing areas.

State Safety Chief Warns of Seasonal Hazards on Highways

Motorists driving in rural areas of the state were urged to exercise special caution and alertness against seasonal traffic hazards prevalent at this season of the year in a statement issued today by W. F. Rosenwald, Traffic and Safety Engineer of the Minnesota Department of Highways.

"With the harvesting of small grains already underway" said Mr. Rosenwald, "the highways are frequently used by farmers for the movement of farm machinery and the hauling of bundle grain in hayracks to threshing rigs and from one field to another. Several accidents already have been reported in which harvesting equipment on the highway has been a contributing factor."

Farmers who have occasion to use the highways in the course of their harvesting operations are requested to observe the rules of the road, thereby preventing possible accident to themselves, their equipment, or motorists.

Announcement to the Public!

I have filed for the office of Judge of Probate of Pennington County at the suggestion of citizens of Thief River Falls and surrounding territory; and in asking the support of the voters of Pennington County, I feel that I am thoroughly qualified to fulfill the duties of this office.

I am a university graduate, also a registered nurse, and was superintendent of hospitals and nurses for some years in the past. Have done what I believe to be constructive child welfare work for the past several years, and this experience should enable me to use good judgment in juvenile delinquent cases, as well as any other that may come before the Court.

In asking for your vote, if elected, I promise to play no favorites and to perform the duties of this office to the best of my ability.

Respectfully,
Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg

EXHIBITS WILL BREAK RECORDS AT STATE FAIR

Educational Displays Valued at $35,000,000—Premiums Exceed $145,000

Farm, factory and fireside will contribute 56,000 individual displays valued at $35,000,000, to the expanded educational exhibits at this year's Minnesota State Fair, August 24 to September 2.

This record participation in the way of exhibits has been stimulated by the $145,000 premiums—an alltime high—offered by the management for its second 10-day exposition.

As an added attraction the National Percheron Horse Show will be staged in conjunction with the fair for the second successive year. Competing in this blue ribbon event will be 300 of the finest Percherons of the United States and Canada.

Largest share of the $19,465 in increased prize money will be distributed to the owners of winning Minnesota livestock under a new plan which provides for added premium money if animals are exhibited throughout the fair.

An early tabulation of entries reveals more than 7,500 head of prize cattle, horses, sheep and swine.

Bountiful crops will be reflected in the unexcelled displays of grains, grasses, corn, potatoes and other field crops. Twelve new varieties of plants and vegetables, including apples, plums, bantam pears and a bush cucumber will be shown for the first time in the horticultural division. These new varieties are being introduced by the University of Minnesota.

Machinery hill will teem with action. Six of the nation's leading farm manufacturers will exhibit new models of tractors and baby combines. There will be 20 acres of moving type displays.

Homemaking arts will reach their apex in the Woman's Activities building where the finest baking, canning and needlework of 5,000 women will be shown. In addition there will be booth displays of a score of state-wide women's organizations representing the enrollments of more than 150,000 members.

Taking over the completed 4-H Club building will be 2,000 boys and girls who will compete in the championship demonstrations and finals for record premiums of $27,000.

Enlarged displays will be featured in the bee, school exhibits, dairy, wool, and varied industries departments.

Repairing Broken Windows

A cracked or broken window pane does not necessitate calling in a repair man, for installing a new glass is a relatively simple repair job. After obtaining a pane of proper measurements, the most important need is careful application of putty. The putty should be worked with the hands to proper consistency and then carefully applied with a putty knife or similar tool. Place the putty all around the opening so the glass will be bedded in the material and separated from contact with the wood. In removing the damaged pane, small metal sprigs will be found driven into the wood to hold the glass. These should be carefully removed with pliers and replaced to hold the new pane.

Next to the United States, Haiti is the oldest independent country in the Western hemisphere, its colored population having held independence since 1804, for 135 years.

Minnesota Editors Move to Join Hands in Greater Traffic Safety Campaign

Daily and weekly newspaper editors who at Duluth last week attended the first three-day traffic safety seminar ever conducted in central or midwest United States, this week moved to organize their fellow editors, in communities large or small, in a more scientific and effective statewide campaign to reduce the traffic toll on Minnesota's streets and highways.

Traffic safety, construction and maintenance representatives of the State Department of Highways' staff attended the six sessions of the seminar, headed by Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann, who was one of the speakers on the final day of the assembly.

Paul Keith, president of the Minnesota Editorial Association, announced that a committee of Minnesota newspaper editors would contact other editors with a view to crystallizing the results of the conference into local community traffic safety campaigns and better, more effective adult driver education, through the medium of the press.

Bananas—an Oddity

Less than 70 years ago bananas were an oddity in the United States. So unusual was the fruit that a bunch of bananas on exhibit at the Philadelphia centennial in 1876 attracted crowds of curious visitors. Today, bananas are a familiar item of American diet, imported into the country chiefly from Central America, Jamaica, Mexico, Cuba, and Colombia. In 1938, more than 61,000,000 stems of bananas were shipped to the United States, the largest share coming from Central America.

WHAT A RACE!

There were murmurs aboard a certain vessel when word spread among the crew that the ship would not, after all, put in at the next port, but merely drop the mail into a small boat and go on. The ship had not put into a port for many weeks.

The disappointment was too much for one man, who leaped into the sea and started to swim for the visible shore.

The captain ordered a member of the crew to go after him and bring him back before he reached land. An excited look-out kept all on deck posted regarding the progress of the race.

"He's gaining! He's gaining! Two hundred yards! Hundred yards! Fifty yards! In a dozen strokes he'll have him! Five more strokes! A yard to go—Great Scott!"

"What is it? What is it?" demanded the skipper.

"Great Scott, sir! He's passed him!"

Diamond Dust Oil

Contrary to popular belief, diamonds are not used to cut diamonds. Instead diamond dust, mixed in olive oil, is applied to the edge of a paper-thin disc made of phosphor-bronze. This disc, spun around at high speed without stopping, may take as long as a week to slice a one-carat diamond. Larger stones, of course, take a proportionately longer time.

HAWF & HAWF

By HAWF & HAWF

We quite agree with a statement made some time ago that they should use the old-fashioned terms for Fifth Columnists and Trojan Horsemen. Those terms don't sound half so low-down as "spies" and "traitors."

Half (Himself)

But if they insist on going ahead with the fancy euphemisms, we think they should class the whole group as "Jeopards." And a "Jeopard" is a man or woman who puts our nation in jeopardy.

In fact almost every thing we have is in jeopardy now, and if we get a minute we're going to laugh at the whole thing by writing a little parody and go singing it about the office. We haven't thought the thing through, but the first line will go: "Roses are blooming in Jeopardy."

The "car of tomorrow" (which we have been hearing about throughout yesterday's ten thousand years) will be powered by such an efficient engine that it will go 30 to 35 miles on a gallon of gas, according to Dr. Gustav Egloff, a motor fuel authority.

Dr. Egloff, you should meet the average car salesman. That "car of tomorrow" is already here.

Not long ago FDR formally gave his Franklin Roosevelt library to the U. S. Government. It brought to mind the little verse of H. P. Preston's:

I gaze upon this library
With accustomed glee,
It holds six million items
And each one mentions ME!

That Eastern pastor has a swell idea—an army of a million persons going out to meet the foe unarmed except for a New Testament in their hands and a hymn on their lips.

But just to be safe we suggest that the New Testament be steel plated.

DIFFICULT TO GIVE CHEERFULLY

If the war continues through the winter, continental Europe will face a critical food shortage and our country will face an almost equally distressing problem of what to do about it. Americans are quick to respond to any call of distress and under ordinary circumstances would contribute generously to the support of those Europeans who, thru no fault of their own, are suffering the consequences of a cruel war. But the present circumstances are not ordinary. There is reason to believe that helping to feed Europe, instead of lessening the misery, will actually increase it by prolonging the struggle. This possibility may make it necessary for us to withhold help that we are both able and willing to give, and turning a deaf ear to the pleas of the starving is not going to be a pleasant thing to do.

Hitler, after seizing the food reserves of the people he has conquered, evidently intends to let them shift for themselves. The Nazis have declared that this is their intention, probably in the expectation that a generous America will feed the masses they have plundered. It is not necessary at this time to act on a problem that does not exist. The war may not last until winter. But if and when it does become necessary to make such a decision, becomes necessary to decide whether or not we will help Hitler feed the nations he has enslaved, it is going to be extremely difficult to be a cheerful giver.

UNPOPULAR BUT NEVERTHELESS WISE

Americans do not want conscription and compulsory military training and all that goes with it. Americans do not want war. No one will argue with us about the truth of these statements.

But most Americans will admit that, whether we wish it or not, there is a possibility that we will have war in the near future. And most Americans, because they admit this possibility, favor the steps that are being taken to build up our national defenses.

The billions of dollars our country is now spending for military equipment may prove to be wasted. Our personal hope is that it will never become necessary to use it. Right now, however, it seems to be the wise thing. That is why we favor it.

And right now it seems just as wise to provide for the trained man power that will be needed if we have war as it does to provide the equipment. To provide the equipment and fail to train men in the use of the equipment would seem to us to be most foolish. If there is justification for one then there is justification for the other.

And that is why, in spite of its unpopularity, we believe it wise to set up the machinery for the conscription of men and to start at once in training the men who may be called upon if the war that threatens us becomes a reality.

Norm Holen is on vacation this week. He went away with our assurance that his work would be done thoroughly and completely. We gave him the assurance in good faith. Now we know that we cannot keep faith with him and we go to press with a very important part of his job undone. We have just discovered that we have no "Topics of the Times" for the great family journal this week. Bear with us dear reader, Mr. Holen will be back in time to get the next issue out right.

In denying the use of the city auditorium to Communist Earl Browder the Minneapolis Council brought down upon itself much criticism. The council would have been criticised, too, if he had been permitted to speak. Whatever was done was bound to be wrong and the members have our sympathy. Under the present circumstances, considering what Browder is along with and what he stands for, we probably would have done as they did.

Isn't it somewhat of an impertinence for our school board to say that Thanksgiving shall be observed on November 28?

THE TEST OF LIBERALISM

(Minneapolis Tribune)

It must have been vastly difficult, in the days before Mr. Roosevelt reduced the problem to its present simplicities, to identify a liberal. In those days there was no absolute and infallible standard of liberalism against which every individual could be set to determine whether or not he ranked as a progressive. There were silly things to be considered, such as intellectual integrity and social conscience, and to make matters worse, there were degrees of liberalism. One could not be sure that a man was a reactionary because he failed, for example, to see eye to eye with a president who professed to be a liberal. Between the black of reaction and the white of true liberalism, there were many shadings. Even the man who said "Yes, but" was not necessarily damned as an uncompromising tory.

It is much better, though, that all this confusion has been ended. The involved process of identifying liberals by the liberal character of their convictions may have been suited to a horse-and-buggy age, but it will hardly do for a streamlined democracy. We like Mr. Roosevelt's system because it is direct and certain, permitting of no doubts as to its fundamental justice and sorting out liberals and reactionaries with the impersonalized efficiency of the machine.

Thus there is no longer any chance that the nation will be deceived by such pseudo-liberals as Senator Hiram Johnson. The fact about Mr. Johnson is that he will not support President Roosevelt for a third term, which is prima facie evidence that he is not a liberal. It is proof as clinching as the astronomer's proof that the sun is larger than the moon, because unquestioning loyalty to Mr. Roosevelt is not only the mark of the liberal, but liberalism itself.

This is, of course, quite as it should be. It seems stupid, in retrospect, that we should ever have judged Mr. Johnson by any other standard, when it is now clear that unqualified agreement with Mr. Roosevelt is the sine qua non of liberalism. If the President insists that the sum of six and five is 13, the true liberal will instinctively proclaim him right, just as the true reactionary will insist that the law of mathematics, taking precedence, shows him to be wrong.

In his opposition to the third term, Senator Johnson has in effect suggested the possibility of presidential error, which is liberalism in its most obnoxious form. Messrs. Douglas and Hanes, too, are self-revealed in the support of Wendell Willkie; they are sordid fellows, as the President has indicated, who love money more than humanity.

By the same token we need have no doubt that Mayor Kelly of Chicago and Mayor Hague of Jersey City are great liberal statesmen. The corrupt and reactionary political machines which they control may suggest the contrary, but we should not be misled. Today liberalism is not the voice of conscience and conviction but a sonorous echo affirming Mr. Roosevelt's leadership. In the role of Little Sir Echo many men have failed, but not Messrs. Hague and Kelly. As Hiram Johnson spins toward the dark, outward spaces of reaction, let us hail these two immutable progressives.

GASOLINE TAX AN EQUITABLE IMPOST

(Grand Forks Herald)

There was held the other day in New York a meeting of the northeastern states group of the North American Gasoline Tax Conference. At that meeting it was predicted that state gasoline taxes would soon be abolished, and that in order to raise the revenue now being derived from gasoline taxes, higher registration fees for cars would be assessed. It is difficult to see on what sound basis such a change could be advocated. Gasoline taxes are said to be difficult to collect, and it is also said that many refunds are made for which there is no just reason. Conceding that there may be something in both statements, these are relatively minor defects which wise legislation and vigorous and impartial administration should correct in large part.

The gasoline tax levied for road purposes, and with its income devoted exclusively to those purposes comes about as near perfection as is possible for any tax. As it works out the tax requires the individual to pay for roads practically in direct proportion to his use of them. The car that is driven 50,000 miles a year uses approximately ten times as much gasoline as the car of like weight that travels only 5,000 miles a year. The heavy car uses more gasoline per mile than the light car. In each case the tax is proportioned to the use of the roads, which is just.

To substitute increased registration fees for the gasoline tax would be to ignore entirely the use made of the roads, enabling the large user to profit at the expense of his neighbor.

Political principles and policies change faster than political party names and even party organizations. The result is bewildering to the average voter who often finds himself in strange political company. By sticking closely to party name a voter nowadays may find that he is voting for principles and policies in which he does not believe. This must be true especially of many democrats to whom the new deal presents a philosophy based on teachings entirely opposed to the old democratic principles of home rule and the greatest possible degree of individual freedom.—Milan Standard.

WHEAT STORAGE BRINGS FARMER GREATER RETURN

Carl Anderson, AAA Chairman, States at Least 17c Bu. Will be Realized

Basheed on current market prices, every bushel of wheat placed under seal in Pennington County means at least 17 cents a bushel more income for the farmer, Carl R. Anderson county AAA chairman, said today in pointing out that the average loan rate for wheat in the county is 73 cents as compaired to 56 cents being paid at local markets.

In 1939, farmers in this county placed 19,581 bushels of wheat under loan. Mr. Anderson believes that a greater amount of wheat will be stored this year in view of the fact that farmers taking loans on wheat in 1939 were in a position to take advantage of price advances recorded last winter.

Many inquiries are also being received at the county office in respect to barley and rye loans. Only rye or barley stored on the farm is eligible for loan. It must be in storage 30 days before samples can be taken for moisture and grade determination tests.

Loans on barley range from 35 cents a bushel for No. 1, down to 25 cents a bushel for No. 5. The rye loan is 38 cents a bushel for No. 2 grade or better or No. 3 on test weight only.

A storage allowance of 7 cents a bushel will be paid for wheat and rye if and when the grain is delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation in payment of the loan at time of mautrity. There is no storage allowance for barley.

Farmers desiring loans on farm stored grain should make application to the county office at once and make a request to have grain samples taken at the conclusion of the first 30 days of storage.

New Mission Museum

Many of the architectural features and details of the little known Kino chain of missions have been incorporated in a new museum at Tumacacori National monument, Arizona. Thorough going research by technicians of the national park service was conducted in Sonora across the Mexican border, as well as in southern Arizona, where the Spanish padres established their missions in the late Seventeenth century. Tumacacori's museum entrance is patterned after that at Cocospera. The carved doors duplicate those of San Ignacio, considered the most beautiful doors in the entire chain of Kino missions.—The other museum doors are similar to the paneled doors of Caborca.

Safety First Is Goal Of 'New Drug' Policy

The "new drug" section of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic act, which went into effect recently, provides that no new drug shall be introduced into interstate commerce unless an application has been filed establishing that it is safe. After a year of experience, the Food and Drug administration finds that these applications fall into contrasting groups.

The greater number can be accepted and made effective promptly. Most are merely new combinations of familiar drugs that are safe enough to use, even though they may not be such "cures" as their sponsors hope. These pass quickly, though perhaps with a warning not to claim too much for the mixtures.

"A few of the new drugs submitted," says a current report, "are distinctly new and possibly highly valuable." Deliberate consideration and careful checking is essential. The administration has to shoulder a new and serious responsibility. It must avoid withholding a valuable drug from public use, but it cannot permit release without tests enough to insure that the drugs are safe.

Nearly one-third of the applications were held up for more complete information and checking, and 48 applications were withdrawn in the first year. "One application covering an important new drug," the report comments, "called for a comprehensive review by medical officers of 2,000 cases reports recording the experiences of approximately 100 physicians. The application eventually was made effective upon the condition that the distribution of the new drug should be so controlled as to guarantee its use exclusively under medical supervision." Even when a new drug is licensed, there is need for continuing watchfulness.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Knute Larson, who passed away six years ago, August 14, 1934:

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We did not know the end was near,
And only those who lose can tell the pain of parting.
The dearest son, and sweetest brother,
One of the best whom God could lend,
Loving, gentle, thoughtful and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.

Scheduled for Match Sunday for Local Golf Club Championship

Vic Jung, defending champion, and Jimmy Nordine, young Karlstad golfer, will meet in a 36 hole finals match for the local golf club championship. Jung reached the finals by victories over Dr. Hedemark and Tom Jorde, while Jim Nordine earned the right to play in finals with wins over Bruce Prichard and Vic Kvikstad. This 36 hole finals match, which is tentatively scheduled to be played next Sunday, is a repeat performance for the two golfers, for Jung and Nordine were the finalists in last year's tournament, with Vic being the winner.

Walt Ekeren and Floyd Daniels are the finalists in the first flight. Walt defeating Bill Claffy in the second round, to reach the finals; and Daniels taking the measure of Larry Berg.

The second flight championship will be decided by a finals match between Doug Booren and Dr. Ed. Bratrud, Booren defeating Dr. A. E. Jacobson to reach the finals, and Dr. Bratrud winning over H. R. Colvin.

The third flight is in its second round, with C. W. Mattson scheduled to play Rudy Sagmoen, and Roy Oen meeting George Mostue.

The fourth flight has Morris Bye meeting O. H. Ekeren in the upper bracket; while in the lower bracket, Mr. Bye's young son Billy, is ready to play the winner of the first round match between Anton Hall and Rev. E. L. Tungseth.

Defeating Karl Kollitz in a second round match, Wally Carlson has reached the finals of the fifth flight. Ralph Richards will play the winner of the Sewell Gross vs. Mel Haughom match, to decide the other finalist.

Tournament chairman W. G. Claffy stated that it is imperative that all club tournament matches are completed by August 23rd, so that everything will be in readiness for the invitational tournament which will be played over the local course on Aug. 24th and 25th.

Thief River Takes First Play-off Game

Record Breakers

TOM AND KIETH JORDE who broke the record of the Thief River Falls golf course last week with a neat 31, five below par. Tom did the shooting but insists that half the credit should go to his young brother who caddied for him, and who, Tom says, is going to be a real golfer when he gets a little more size, having already played seven holes in three over par.

Plummer will meet Thief River Falls in the second game of the play-off series at the Fair Grounds ball park here Sunday afternoon, the game being called at 2:30 o'clock.

Wally DuChamp's line single, into center field, scored Johnny Jaranson with the tie-breaking run in the first half of the 9th inning, to give Thief River Falls a close 4 to 3 win over Plummer in the first game of the play-off series for the championship of the Northern Minnesota baseball league. The game being played on the Plummer diamond last Sunday.

The two clubs played baseball of a championship caliber, the game being scoreless until the 5th inning, when the locals, on a base on balls to Hemmy Sahl, Wally DuChamp's ground ball to Mortrude, sending Sahl to second base and Fremling's muff of Bergstrom's looping fly allowing Sahl to score the game's first tally. Held hitless until the 7th inning, Thief River Falls bunched three hits to shove across two runs, and go into a 3 to 0 lead. Rasmusson opened the 7th with a shot through the infield, past short and third. Jaranson was out on a foul to catcher Benson. Rasmusson stole second, being called safe on a close decision. Hemmy Sahl hit a ground single toward left field, Jesse DuChamp making a bare-handed stop of the ball, to hold Rasmusson at third. Working a double steal, Sahl stole second and Rasmusson scored on the throw to second base. Wally DuChamp doubled into right center, scoring Sahl. Bergstrom struck out. Bob DuChamp ended the inning, being thrown out, short to first.

Plummer lumped three hits to score three runs, and deadlock the game, in the last half of the 8th inning. Schoenauer single to center, took second on a wild pitch. Hofius was out on a foul pop to Cockrell. St. Marie grounded to Roy Lee, who pegged to first for the put-out, Schoenauer going to third on the play. Louie Benson drew a base on balls, and on the fourth ball Bergstrom permitted a passed ball, and Schoenauer scored. Benson stole second and third. Mortrude, who had struck out on his three previous trips to the plate, singled over second base, scoring Benson. Mortrude stole second. Lefty Fremling sent a ground single past Cockrell, into left field, with Mortrude scoring the tying run; but when Fremling attempted to stretch his hit into a double, he was trapped and tagged out, to retire the side.

The two teams play the second game of their championship series here next Sunday afternoon, at the Fair Grounds. The game is called for 2:30 P. M.

UNDEFEATED HARTZ TEAM TOPS D-BALL LEAGUE

Kiewel Team Sets Season Score Record in 31-3 Win Over L. O' L.

Six games were played on the diamondball schedule this week, and if the games are continued to be played at such a pace, the schedule will be completed by the time the Northwest D-ball tournament is held here on Sunday, Aug. 25th.

The defending champions, Hartz continue on their undefeated way, winning three games during the week, and leaving only the Kiewel's squad with a chance to tie for league lead. Kiewel's and Hartz meet in what should be a feature game, next Monday night, and the game should be an indication of the championship possibilities of each club.

Kiewel's overwhelming 31 to 3 win over Land O'Lakes, last Wednesday night, was a highlight of the week's games. Kiewel's set two season's records in amassing their 31 runs total, a record of 21 runs in one inning, and a 31 run total for the game. So desperate did the Land O' Lakes become in their attempt to stop the Kiewel's that they sent their manager Walt Larson to the mound, and Walt in the one inning he pitched, retired the side without a hit or a run.

SPORTS
Tid-Bits
By Huck Olson

It must be quite an experience to shoot a nine hole total of 38 and yet find yourself six holes down to your opponent. That's the experience H. O. Chommie had last week when he played Tom Jorde in a first round match in the local golf club tournament. Tom fired a recording-breaking 31 at Chommie, breaking Vic Kvikstad's previous low score by one stroke. Here's the way Jorde shot his record-making round: a birdie 4 on the 487 yard first hole; a par 4 on the 368 yard second hole; an eagle 3 on the par 5 470 yard third hole; the 158 yard fourth hole in a par 3; a birdie 4 on 486 yard fifth hole; a par 3 on the 210 yard sixth hole; a par 4 on the 380 yard seventh hole; a birdie 3 on the 255 yard eighth hole and a par 3 on the 152 yard ninth hole; for a 31 stroke round.

Louie Benson to the Pirates

Louie Benson, former local player who's a member of this season's Plummer baseball team, is to be given a try-out with the Crookston Pirates in the Northern League. According to Arv Mortrude, who apparently made the recommendation, Louie is to be given a test as a pitcher or an outfielder. Benson has been considered as a catcher this year, although this spring, while at Gustavus, he was on the pitching staff. Mortrude, who's been doing the bulk of Plummer's mound work, and throwing to Louie, hadn't seen Benson work on the mound until the All-star game a couple of weeks ago, and he was impressed by Louie's actions, liked his curve ball, and said that Louie's fast ball was fast enough. Benson's friends, and he has plenty of them around here, are all hoping that he sticks with the Pirates.

And speaking of Northern league try-outs. Hemmy Sahl, local pitcher, and St. Hilaire's Woody Almquist, are a couple of players that look as though they could be developed into Northern league material.

The Play-off Series

The game at Plummer last Sunday, the first game of the series to decide the championship of the Northern Minny league, was as red-hot as it was expected to be. And I don't think that the two teams will have cooled off very much when they resume the series here next Sunday afternoon. I picked Plummer to win by a 6 to 3 score, so it made me look pretty sour when Thief River came thru with a 4 to 3 win. Frankly, that game Sunday could have gone either way, so evenly matched are the two teams. In the second inning, with two men out, Louie Benson made a clean steal of home only to learn that he made his steal on a pitch that was called a third strike on Jesse DuChamp, and the side was retired. In the third inning Plummer loaded the sacks with only one away, and Hemmy Sahl forced St. Marie and Benson to hit weak grounders to the pitcher, for force-outs, and retired the side without a tally being marked up. But I'm not trying to alibi my prediction, because I've been wrong so many times on my predictions that I have run out of alibis. But don't be surprised if Plummer wins on Sunday, they are too strong a club to be beaten two straight. I've heard some rumors, too, to the effect that Plummer is planning on sending Louie Benson to the mound for Sunday's game, and that Crookston's Wes Westrum is to be behind the plate. I doubt if the Pirates will allow Westrum to leave their club, and it certainly wouldn't be cricket for a northern league catcher to work in our play-offs.

Diamondball Has Its Climax

Walt 'Goose Egg' Larson's pitching performance, for his Land O'Lakes team last Wednesday night was by far the climax of the D-ball season. With his team taking a 31 to 3 trouncing, and his players grumbling that they were being made silly by such a score, and that he should go out on the field and let the fans laugh [illegible] go out there, and show you how the game is played. And pitching but seven balls Walt retired the side without a hit or a run or a man reaching first base. Wally DuChamp, Bing Bergstrom, and Gordy Kaushagen, three of Kiewels harder hitters, were set down on pop-ups to the infield. Anything else that happens this season in diamondball will be merely an anti-climax.

Don't forget that there is to be a diamondball tournament here on Sunday, Aug. 25th. And that on Sept. 5th, a traveling diamondball team, called the Ghosts, a colored outfit, is to play a team chosen from the City league.

World Revolver Record

Walter Walsh, a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent, came within two points of a perfect score of 300 in setting a new world record for revolver shooting.

Going Up?

LOUIS BENSON prominent in local athletics several seasons and now a member of the Plummer team, will try out with the Crookston Pirates before returning to Gustavus Adolphus for his final year this fall. Louis may pitch the game against Thief River Sunday.

INJURED IN D-BALL GAME

Clarence Offerdahl, catcher and manager of the Hartz D-ball team, suffered a slight brain concussion in the game last Monday night, when in attempting to catch a foul ball he crashed into a plank bleacher. He was stunned momentarily by the impact of the crash, but resumed play and finished the game. Not until later in the night did it become necessary to secure a doctor's aid, when Clarence complained of nausea and dizziness. He responded to the treatment, and he's up and around feeling pretty good, but carrying soem bruises from the accident.

JUNIOR TEAM WON FROM CROOKSTON BY 3 TO 2 SCORE

Teener Olson Allows Six Hits While Mates Get Eight From Rival

In a well-played game at Crookston last Wednesday afternoon, the local American Legion Junior baseball team defeated the Crookston Junior team, 3 to 2. Coach Gordy Caldis sent his ace pitcher, Teener Olson, to the mound, and Teener come through with a six hit game, and only in the sixth inning, when Crookston bunched three of their hits to score their two runs, was he in trouble. Gordon Reierson and Don Berg were the hitting stars of the game, each pounding the Pirate hurler for a pair of hits.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

EXHIBITS ARRIVE FOR STATE FAIR OPENING AUG. 24

Million Dollar Improvement Program Completed; Track Ready

With hundreds of exhibits arriving daily for the Minnesota State Fair which opens only a week from Saturday, the fairgrounds are a beehive of activity in preparation for the big exposition August 24 to September 2.

By train, truck and private cars the advance shipments of both educational and commercial exhibits are going into place. Next week the first shipments of cattle and horses will be shunted onto the State Fair sidings as the enlarged livestock exposition, which includes the National Percheron Show, again swings into showring form.

Visitors at the 1940 State Fair will view for the first time the completed million dollar improvement program which includes the new super-speedway, the world's largest outdoor stage, three additional blocks of display space in the machinery exhibit, two miles of new "White Ways" and boulevards, parking space for 20,000 more autos and full utilization of the new 4-H club building.

These improvements mark the completion of a three year building program and provide the Minnesota State Fair with the finest plant of any permanent exposition in America.

Final touches, including chemical treatment, are now being made on the new half-mile speedway which is twice the width of the former track. A four foot concrete wall surrounds the entire bowl which is steeply banked at the curves to permit record speed. Superior to the former track, all turns are fully visible from every section of the grandstand.

It isn't so hard to live on a small salary if you don't spend too much trying to keep it a secret.

Hog Producers Will Meet at State Fair August 28

Minnesota hog raisers will combine attendance at the state fair with a conference to get at the root of the surplus pork and lard problem which has seriously depressed the values of live hogs. E. F. Ferrin, secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Swine Breeders' association, has announced a meeting for Wednesday, August 28, at 7 P. M. in the swine barn at the fair grounds.

The meeting is called by the association to get suggestions from a large number of market hog producers and breeders looking toward some form of self-help on the present problem. All hog raisers are urged to attend.

R. C. Juhl of Rock County, who has done some effective work in bringing the situation home to farmers and businessmen of his county, will describe a campaign which may be suitable for many other communities in the hog producing areas. Discussions will cover the present storage stocks, the largest in history, and means of reducing them. The vegetable oil problem will come in for attention, as well as the methods of manufacture and marketing of lard for increased consumption.

Literature explaining the requirements for, and the advantages offered by an enlistment in the U. S. Navy may be obtained by calling in person or by writing the Navy Recruiting Station, Grand Forks, N. Dak. In order to make application for enlistment, it is necessary to appear in person at the above mentioned recruiting station.

Few Turkeys Raised in 1940, Report Shows

According to July 1 returns from more than 3,000 flock owners, the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates a decrease of about 2 per cent below last year in the number of turkey poults on hand in the United States. The North Atlantic and North Central regions report increases of from 5 to 10 per cent. However these are more than offset by decreases in the southern and western regions.

In the West Central region, decreases in Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri somewhat overbalance gains elsewhere in that area.

An extensive survey of turkey flocks will be made in September, in order to determine the supply of turkeys on hand at that time, says W. H. Dankers, extension marketing specialist at University Farm, St. Paul.

jim lyons just handed me an article on "JITTERS" by the carter carburetor co.

si sez:

the article is good and—with jim's permission i quote:

with the radios splattering calamity and the press broadcasting bad news from europe, it is not surprising that in recent weeks there have been misgivings as to the near future course of trade.

people who are remote from what is going on at washington, detroit, and the steel centers, have been inclined to worry and get the "JITTERS," on the other hand, industrial leaders have an entirely different outlook. they are closing up contracts with the u. s. government that will tax their production facilities. they know that each german success can have but one effect here—bigger orders and more of them.

here at carter, building operations are in progress 7 days a week, twenty-four hours a day, including holidays. more than $1,000,000 is being invested in additional means of production. it is expected that all previous employment records will be broken.

yesterday—one of our boys came in and said "jones" was going to buy a PHILCO refrigerator but has just gotten notice to return to his old job in a detroit factory. hundreds of "joneses" and "smiths" are going back into industry in the east—that means more jobs here—less unemployment.

don't get the JITTERS! both democrats and republicans are pledged to keep us out of a war of agression. our great rearmament program is a DEFENSIVE measure. our boys—when trained—will stay on OUR soil and military training is not a bad thing for any young fellow—better surely—than putting raw recruits in the field should hitler decide—someday on some monkey shines over here.

we're awake now—even though it took another world war to awaken us—we're awake and every statistician in america predicts a period of prosperity never before approximated in this country—no matter who wins this present war.

the moral to the tale above is that prices are going up—now is the time to buy your new PHILCO refrigerator—easy washer—roper range—piano or furniture. now when you can really save and can still buy on such easy terms—think it over—thanks a lot.

First to accept the challenge was Fred Keis of Benson township with a stalk of corn from his field that measured 9 feet and 2 inches in height. Next came Leo Smith of this city and reported some of his corn having almost reached the 11-foot mark. Well, can anyone beat this?

Dill Pickles

Mrs. Walter Lendobeja took wonderful dill pickles. Now that the pickling season is again at hand, a good old reliable recipe for dill pickles would be a godsend to many a woman. Mrs. Lendobeja puts up just loads of pickles, and since her family has a special weakness for crisp old brine dill pickles, she has to put them up, and that's that. Here's her tried and true recipe: Measure four quart jars of soft water (hard water is tough on cucumbers) into a kettle, add a scant cup of coarse salt (never use iodized salt) and a cup of vinegar. Bring this mixture to a boil and pour over medium sized, freshly picked cucumbers that have been washed in cold water and packed in sterilized glass jars. Place some dill in the bottom and top of the jars only. Fill the jars up to the neck and seal tight. Let the jars stand somewhere in the kitchen until the mixture stops working then store away. The pickles will be ready to eat in a month or so.

STEPHEN MAN IS LOW BIDDER ON PLUMMER ROAD

Former Thief River Contractor Bids Low for Red Lake Falls Bridge

Roy Benson, Stephen contractor, was the low bidder for the construction of 10½ miles of road on trunk highway No. 59 from Brooks to the Pennington county line, Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffman announced this week. Mr. Benson's bid was for $55,398.00. Nearly all of the stretch of road to be built under this contract will be new construction, the highway having been moved to the east side of the Soo Line tracks. Bridges, let early this summer, are already under construction and it is expected that the road will be completed this fall. The new road follows the general design of the portion already completed from Thief River Falls to the Red Lake County line.

Also announced this week is the low bid for the construction of a new bridge at Red Lake Falls, the Minneapolis Bridge Construction Co. of Minneapolis being low bidder with an offer of $89,156.00. This company was organized by Isak Helseth formerly of this city and George McDowell, formerly of Warren, builders of the highway 59 bridge in this city. The new bridge at Red Lake Falls will cross the Clearwater River a little to the right of the present bridge as you enter the city. The church opposite the Steinert Mill will be moved and the grade raised to a higher level from the Great Northern tracks to the bridge. This will mean an entirely new approach to the city eliminating the hill hazard and also two sharp turns.

GREENBUSH BAND TO PRODUCE OPERA AT PELAN SEPT. 1

Wannaska and Waunda Legend Presented In Music for Annual Event

Arthur Anderson, president of the Greenbush band, has announced that an original opera, entitled "Wannaska and Waunda" will be produced for the first time, at the Old Settlers Celebration to be given at Pelan Battleground Park Sunday, Sept. 1.

The opera, which has recently been composed by persons connected with the Greenbush band, is in five acts and is based on a fascinating Indian legend of Roseau county. This legend relates the absorbing story of the beautiful Sioux maiden, Waunda, who was kidnapped from her home in North Dakota by Crees from the north shore of the Lake of the Woods. She was discovered and rescued by Wannaska, a famous young Chippewa hunter, who returned her to her people in North Dakota. Love developed and he married her, after an exciting adventure in which she saved his life. He took her to his lodge upon the Roseau River which was located where the present day village of Wannaska is situated in the south central part of Roseau county.

The opera, which follows the two hundred year old Indian legend, is replete with exciting situations and beautiful harmonies. It is sung thruout by principals and chorus and is in the traditional operatic style. The very unusual situation of so small a community as Greenbush conceiving the idea for an opera and then writing and composing it, has aroused much favorable comment, and widespread interest in its production is being developed.

HUGE THRONGS HEAR WILLKIE IN HOME TOWN

GOP Presidential Aspirant Accepts Nomination at Elwood, Indiana

DELIVERS ATTACK ON NEW DEAL POLICIES

Challenges Roosevelt to Meet Him in Public Debates

Wendell L. Willkie, Saturday indorsed military conscription and called for material aid short of military involvement to Great Britain as he accepted the Republican presidential nomination with a blistering attack on the New Deal whose success or failure he challenged President Roosevelt to debate with him from the same platforms.

He stood under a blistering sun in Elwood, Indiana the town of his birth before a crowd estimated at more than 150,000 to begin a campaign that probably will be as heated as the weather was Saturday.

Willkie led off with a charge Mr. Roosevelt's administration, like the "popular front" regime of socialist Leon Blum in France, was following a course that would lead to economic disintegration and dictatorship.

While Willkie agreed with Mr. Roosevelt about the need for selective service training to build an adequate national defense and counted with approval the president's views on giving material aid to opponents of Hitler, he bitterly denounced Mr. Roosevelt's conduct of foreign affairs, charging that he had courted a war for which the nation was unprepared and which the people "emphatically" did not want.

He pledged himself to work for peace, but said he would not hesitate to advocate war "in the defense of America, and of our liberties."

Government spending is a major domestic issue, Willkie said, as he pledged to cut government expenditures to the minimum, and called for revision of federal tax laws.

He described himself as a liberal democrate who had come to the republican party to find democracy.

He indorsed the major new deal reforms of stock market and interstate utility regulation, federal wage and hour legislation, acts protecting the rights of workers to organize, old age pensions, and unemployment insurance.

His challenge to Mr. Roosevelt for face to face debates on platforms throughout the country was the big surprise of his acceptance speech.

These debates, he said, should deal with specific problems of domestic and foreign policy and should include the unprecedented bid of Mr. Roosevelt for a third successive term.

ALFRED KNUTSON HOME DESTROYED IN BLAZE

Mr. Knutson and Two Other Occupants Escape With Their Lives

In the most tragic occurrence in the recent history of this section of the state, six persons lost their lives early Sunday morning in a blaze of undetermined origin that destroyed a small farm house a few miles northwest of Gatzke in Eastern Marshall county.

The dead include Mrs. Alfred Knutson, 31; her children, Beverly 8; Donald, 6; and Lorna, 1; her niece, Shirley Ann Knutson, 6; and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Knutson, 60. Escaping death were Alfred Knutson, 30, cut and burned, not seriously; and Miss Irene Erickson, 20, employed on the farm, cut and slightly burned, both of them taken to a local hospital; while Knut Bolle, 79, who made his home with the Knutsons, is in serious condition in a Warren hospital.

Knutson said he and Mrs. Knutson and Miss Erickson had been to a dance and had returned home at about 3 o'clock in the morning, all retiring immediately. He stated that an hour later he was aroused by the cries of the others, and, ascertaining that the other beds were empty, he dashed down to the first floor of the small two-story structure.

Only entrance to the house was thru a door in the kitchen. This exit was blocked by the flames, and Mr. Knutson smashed a window and pushed out Bolle, Miss Erickson leaping at the same time from an upstairs window. Unable to reach the other victims, whose remains were later found huddled near a window in one of the bedrooms, Mr. Knutson finally jumped out of the window on the first floor and sped to a nearby neighbor's home to summon help.

Knutson stated there had been no fire in the stove during the night.

Shirley Ann Knutson, one of the victims, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Knutson of Gatzke. She had been visiting overnight with her cousins. Miss Erickson is the daughter of Oscar Erickson of the Holt community.

Funeral rites for the six victims of the tragic blaze will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Norwegian Lutheran church at Gatzke, Rev. S. T. Berg officiating. Remains of all the victims will be interred in one steel casket.

Miss Dorothy Ulvin Becomes Mendell Erickson's Bride

Miss Dorothy Ulvin of this city, daughter of Alfred Ulvin of Roseau, became the bride of Mendell Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of this city, at a charming house wedding at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Ulvin of Roseau. Every detail of decoration was carried out in a dainty color scheme of pink, blue, and white, to match the attire of the feminine members of the bridal party.

Rev. George Peterson of Bemidji, former pastor of the Thief River Falls Mission Covenant church, read the single ring ceremony, before which Miss Ella Erickson, sister of the groom, sang "O Promise Me" from the balcony at the top of the curved stairway descending to the living room. She was accompanied by Miss Mirriam Anderson of this city. The wedding party descended the stairs to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Miss Marion Ulvin, a cousin of the bride. The vows were spoken beneath a white wedding bell from which pink, blue, and white, ribbons extended to form an arch. A profusion of garden flowers decorated the house. After the exchange of vows, Miss Anderson sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride's lovely wedding gown of white net over satin had short puffed sleeves and a v-neckline, and a smooth fitting long bodice extending in points at both the front and back, with a row of tiny white satin buttons extending from the neck to the skirt in back. The extremely full gathered skirt was floor-length. From a garland of mother of pearl designed to simulate orange blossoms, the bridal veil fell in full, graceful folds into two tiers, cape length over finger-tip length. The shower bouquet was fashioned of pink roses and blue sweetpeas.

The bride was attended by Miss Ella Erickson, the bridegroom's sister, as maid of honor, and by her own sister, Miss Lillian Rasmussen of Crookston, as bridesmaid. Groom-men were the bride's brothers, John and Adolph Ulvin of Wannaska.

Miss Erickson's full-skirted gown was of blue net over satin, with which she wore pearls and a corsage matching the bride's bouquet, from which a pink ribbon hung to the hem of her gown. Miss Rasmussen, with her gown of pink net, also wore pearls and a corsage like that of the maid of honor, with long blue ribbons.

The nuptials were followed by a reception for 60 guests on the lawn of the Ulvin home. A wedding cake in pink, blue, and white, and garden flowers decorated the table for the wedding party. Rodney Brodin and Reuben Styrlund, both of this city, sang appropriate wedding selections, and Miss Marcella Ulvin, sister of the bride, accompanied by Miss Mirriam Anderson, sang "I Love You Truly."

The bridal couple will be at home Monday at the Brodin apartments at 214 N. Horace in this city, following their week's wedding trip to Detroit Lakes, the twin cities, Duluth, and the North Shore. For going away the bride chose a green suit with accessories in brown and beige.

The groom, a graduate of Lincoln high school, is employed in the L. B. Hartz warehouse. His bride is working at Oen's.

Ruth Fjelstad Wears Her Mother's Bridal Gown at Her Wedding

Miss Ruth Fjelstad, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Fjelstad of this city, and Donald W. Teisberg of Highland Park, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Teisberg of Minneapolis, spoke their marriage vows in Trinity Lutheran church in this city Wednesday at high noon nuptials preceded by a half-hour of impressive music. The bride's father, pastor of Trinity church, read the single ring ceremony, and her twin brother, Ralph, gave her in marriage.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Arnhild as maid of honor, and Solveig as bridesmaid, and the groom's sister, Miss Sarah Dorothy Nordlie of Moorhead, bridesmaid. Best man was the groom's brother, Robert Teisberg of Minneapolis, and ushers were Clifford Peterson of Littlefork and Donald Berglund of Fergus Falls, both Concordia college classmates of the bride and bridegroom.

The pre-nuptial concert was played by Mrs. Jerome Skeim of Fergus Falls, organist; Miss Nordlie, pianist, and Mr. Berglund, flutist. Miss Arnhild Fjelstad sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee", which was also her father's text for the service, and just before the first strains of Lohengren were heard, she sang "Holy Spirit, Breath of Love". Soft organ strains accompanied the exchange of vows, and immediately following, Miss Margaret Berge of Underwood, another classmate of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love". Mendelssohn's Wedding march was played for the recessional.

The bride made a charming picture in her mother's wedding gown in its elegance of silk shadow lace over ivory satin. It was fashioned with short sleeves and a slight train, and the fullness of the skirt was caught with bows at the waist and near the hem in back. Her train-length veil of net was moulded to form a cap over her hair, with a halo of seed pearls and brilliants to frame the face, and a chain of white daisies and sweetpeas across the back. Long white bride's gloves completed the costume, and the all-white bride's bouquet was a shower arrangement of white asters and white sweet peas with fern.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of coral pink moire taffeta, full-skirted with short sleeves and square neckline, and she carried a Colonial shower bouquet of asters and sweetpeas. Miss Solveig Fjelstad also wore moire taffeta in a heliotrope shade accented with velvet ribbon trim and a large burgundy clip. Miss Nordlie's gown was fashioned of rose taffeta. Both bridesmaids carried Colonial bouquets of asters and sweetpeas in colors to harmonize with their gowns, and all three attendants wore garlands of sweetpeas in their hair.

Baskets of gladiola decorated the church. The white-clad altar rail was decorated with ferns, and ferns bordered the white aisle.

For the nuptials, the bride's mother wore an aqua colored frock with black accessories, and the bridegroom's mother chose a soldier blue jacket dress with matching accessories. Each wore a corsage of roses and sweetpeas in shades of rose.

Forty-three guests were present at the wedding breakfast at the Hotel Evelyn following the ceremony. An all-white bride's cake and sweetpeas decorated the table.

For their wedding journey, which will take them to the Black Hills, Yellowstone and Glacier parks, and Salt Lake City, the bride selected a fur-trimmed costume suit in khaki green, with matching hat, and other accessories in black. The couple will return September 5th to Highland Park, Ill., where Mr. Teisberg is engaged as assistant boy scout executive.

The bride and groom were classmates at Concordia college, Moorhead, being graduated in 1937, and Mr. Teisberg is also a graduate of a school of scouting located in New Jersey. Mrs. Teisberg is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Teisberg and sons Carl, Jr., and Robert of Minneapolis; Professor and Mrs. H. C. MUSIC CLASS OPEN FOR REGISTRATION
ST. THERESA MUSIC STUDIO

announces that the music class will be open for registration on Monday, Aug. 26 for the winter term. Application may be made by telephone (number 324-W), but a personal interview is preferred, since it will enable the parents and teacher to discuss matters of importance regarding the work expected of the pupil.

Parents are urged to make arrangements as soon as possible, for those who apply first will be given their choice of daily periods for lessons, etc. As only a limited number can be accommodated, it will be necessary to refuse those who wait until a much later date.

Private lessons are offered in piano, violin, guitar, and accordion, and parents wishing to see their children make the most possible progress are advised to ask for daily supervised practice. Here the pupil works under the special direction of the teacher which prevents wasting time and developing careless habits while practicing. Some class work will also be offered.

Pupils will be given an opportunity to learn to accompany and take part in the orchestra. Special stress will be given to technique, time, public appearance, etc., all of which are very important in the music education of a child.

The instructor, Sr. Eugenia, who is now doing some advanced work in violin, will be absent until Sunday, and hence, parents are asked to wait until the 26th to make applications.

Thursday, Aug. 29th, Kiewel's vs Bridgeman's

Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, Championship finals

The City Diamondball league has reached its final week of play, with all six teams having a chance to enter next week's championship playoffs. The Land O'Lakes, now in fourth place, need a win in one of their two remaining games to clinch fourth spot in the league standings, and assure themselves of a place in the playoffs. The DeMolays and Middle River, who play tonight, have prospects of tying for fourth place. If Land O' Lakes lose their two games, the winner of tonight's game will be deadlocked with the Lakers for fourth place.

Last week's diamondball games had everything, homeruns, high scores, forfeits, etc. Land O' Lakes last Wednesday night, playing a typical Land O'Lakes game, lost an 18 to 17 decision to the Middle River club, in eight innings. Thursday night's game saw Bridgeman's Ham Myhrer pitch one of his best games to give his team an 8 to 2 victory over Kiewel's. Stan Cockrell, Bridgeman's first baseman, pounded out two homeruns were singles, and he tack on Gordy Kaushagen. Stans homeruns ????? singles, and he made the circuit of the bases on Kiewel's overthrows.

Kiewel's, on Friday night, plastered a 5 to 0 shutout on the Middle River club. And on Monday night Kiewel's engaged in a hectic game with the league-leading Harts, and after five innings of play, with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Harts, the game was called a forfeit, and given to Kiewel's, 7 to 0. League officials are to decide whether or not the forfeit was warranted, and in case the forfeit is not allowed the game will be replayed next week, before the playoffs. The win or the loss for either of the teams will not change the playoff positions, although it may give Bridgeman's a second-place tie with the Kiewel's.

MINNKOTA RURAL POWER CO-OP. LETS ENGINE CONTRACT

Three 1000 H. P. Diesel Engines Bought for Grand Forks Plant

Directors of the Minnkota Rural Power Co-Operative, at a meeting in Grand Forks Wednesday night, passed a resolution authorizing the purchase of three 1,000 horsepower diesel engines for the proposed power plant in Grand Forks.

The contract was awarded to the Cooper-Bessemer Co. of Mount Vernon, Ohio on a low bid of $120,115 that had been approved by the rural electrification administration in Washington. The company promised delivery of the engines within seven weeks.

"The board took special cognizance of numerous protests and recommendations from various individuals and associations in this territory", A. L. Freeman, Nodak superintendent and Minnkota manager, said, "but most of the directors carried resolutions from subscribers in their areas demanding immediate action on the matter."

The board signed contracts with the State Mill and Elevator to secure a temporary source of power and reviewed plans for transmission lines. It is expected that transmission line bids will be advertised within two weeks, officials said.

The new plant will serve the Red Lake Electric cooperative and other rural lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Swenson and daughter Ruth of Moorhead, and Mrs. Leonard Johnson and daughter Beverly of Montevideo visited at the C. W. Mattson home Tuesday.

21 COUNTY 4-H BOYS AND GIRLS AWARDED FREE TRIPS TO FAIR

The farm boys' camp members, Omer Lian and Erling Dahlen, earned the honor because of outstanding 4-H work over a period of years. They will serve as ushers in the grandstand and enjoy inspirational conferences and sessions in special Farm Boys Camp quarters on the grounds.

The county 4-H booth, which is being prepared by the Steiner club, has as its theme Go For Safety.

A. J. Kittleson, state 4-H club leader, has announced that every effort will be made to group demonstrations so that each county will complete its events in the course of a two-day period. This will enable visitors to select days when their own county is featured. The program is so extensive, however, that it will take the whole period of the fair to cover all counties.

The livestock program has been restricted to three days of actual exhibiting, thereby reducing the strain on animals and their exhibitors. Livestock entries will be in place by Friday evening, August 30, and will remain on the grounds until Monday evening.

The entire 4-H staff, state and local, will take part in the staging of the event, Mr. Kittleson said. Every effort is made to give the boys and girls a busy week that they will remember. Special events include the 4-H parade in front of the grandstand Thursday evening and the annual banquet given by the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association Wednesday evening at the Radisson hotel. There will be an inspirational vesper service each Sunday.

Visitors Wednesday at the Rodney Lindstrom home were Mrs. Lindstrom's brother, Wm. Carlson of Littlefork, and Mrs. Tom Peterson and son Clifford, also of Littlefork. Clifford Peterson was an usher at the Teisberg-Fjelstad wedding. Mrs. Lindstrom's sister, Miss Judith Walstrom of Hitterdal, who arrived at the Lindstrom home last week, will visit here until Sunday.

Red Cross Cites Labor Day Traffic Hazards

With Labor Day registering upward of 200 traffic fatalities each year, the American Red Cross urges motorists to make a thorough check-up of brakes, tires, headlights and steering gear before starting out on the 1940 week end trip. This warning comes coupled with the advice to expect heavy traffic and make plans to anticipate "rush hours" by getting an early start—both in starting out and returning. Common sense and moderate speed is the best rule of the road, the Red Cross points out, especially over a holiday week-end. Motorists are urged to realize that "the other fellow" can cause the fatal accident and to be vigilant in anticipating such.

That was a nice game of baseball that was played here Sunday when Plummer took Thief River and balanced the play-off series at one game each. There is only one more game to be played to settle the championship and that should be a hot one. When or where it will be played has not been decided yet but if you like good baseball, don't miss it.

Registration of aliens will be started next Tuesday and by December 26 all persons who are not citizens of the country must be registered or else. There is a penalty, fine and imprisonment, for those who fail to comply with the provisions of the Alien Registration Act of 1940, recently enacted by Congress. But law abiding aliens have nothing to fear. If you are in doubt as to the status of your citizenship, now is a good time to get it straightened out.

There are thirty-four candidates for the Republican nomination for four offices in the coming primary election. Eight candidates seek the party nomination for United States Senator, and another eight would like to represent the party as candidate for lieutenant governor. For railroad and warehouse commissioner and for 9th district congressman, nine are offering their services for each office. Whatever significance these numerous filings may have as to the relative strength of the respective parties, they do bring out clearly the big defect of our present primary system. There is slight chance of getting a candidate for any of these offices who will have the majority support of the party. In a field so divided there is always a chance for a small, well organized minority to name the winner, which means that there is a possibility of getting a party nominee who would be undesirable to a majority of the party. The old convention system had its defects too. That is why it was outlawed. But the old convention system was not all bad, just as our present system is not all good. Perhaps a combination of the two systems, retaining what is good in each of them, would be a more satisfactory solution of the problem.

We liked that part of Wilkie's acceptance speech in which he served notice on the country that if he is elected President, his way will be the hard way. He made no glowing promises of leading his followers into an El Dorado of easy living. On the contrary, he pointed to a future of harder work and greater sacrifices. Such forthright declarations of his views of the needs of the present time may not gain him votes but they will gain for him the respect of many people who will welcome an opportunity to support a candidate for public office who has the courage to say what he thinks even if what he thinks is not popular. We doubt that Mr. Wilkie will be elected. We are afraid that, as long as the credit lasts, the country will string along with Santa Claus. But we are getting closer to the end of our national drunk. More people right along are realizing that we can't keep going on stimulants indefinitely. The sobering-up process is not going to be pleasant. But the longer we put it off the more difficult it is going to be. It is the hard way that sooner or later we will have to go.

This week's bundle of Nazi propaganda brought to us by Uncle Sam, tells us of the beautiful partnership Germany and the United States will make when Europe has settled down once again to peace and progress. Mid-August has come and gone, however, and Hitler has not yet made his speech in London. There still is hope for us. And we cannot go along with Lindberg in his suggestion that we will have to come to terms with Hitler. When it gets to the point where we have to say yes or no at that shotgun wedding we'll say no and let them start shooting.

There are 256 church denominations in this country, census reports reveal. With all that variety to choose from, the stay-at-homes should have a hard time finding an alibi.

If, says a Wahpeton colleague, Eve only had had access to one of the modern bathing suits, she wouldn't have been forced to wear that stuffy old figleaf.

Congressmen are shying away from conscription. They evidently are afraid they will catch cold from the draft.

Good roads advocates don't seem to relish the prospect of a one cent cut in the price of gas on September 1.

SMILEY

Lawn Party

On the spacious and picturesque lawn of the Oscar N. Anderson home Sunday evening was a lovely lawn party. The young hostesses Misses Martha and Ina Anderson, provided the guests with plenty of amusements. The lawn was lit up with a huge flood light which showed up the rock garden and beautiful flower beds with numerous trellis adornments. The Misses Anderson and Arnold Nordahl supplied violin and guitar music in that nocturnal atmosphere. A marshmallow and wiener roast was hugely relished at spaced intervals. As the evening grew colder and later the guests went indoors for several tables of whist followed by a bountiful lunch. Benson Scores on Mortrude's Bunt to Win Exciting Game for Plummer

Here is how Plummer's winning run was scored in the fourth inning of the ball game Sunday afternoon when the visitors took Thief River 2 to 1 to tie the league championship series. With Benson on third, Mortrude bunted along the first base line. Jaranson fielded the ball but Benson beat the peg to the plate. At the left, inset, Bud Jasper, captain of the Plummer nine, is telling the crowd his version of a "who pushed who" argument on first base. The argument was interesting while it lasted but no one was hurt. At the right, inset, Jaranson is driving a long one out to center field in the ninth that might have changed the result of the game except that centerfielder Page, after colliding with leftfielder Hofius in mid air, came out of a tail spin still holding the ball he had caught.

Plummer Downs Locals in 2nd Tilt of Playoffs

A large crowd of fans at the Fair Grounds last Sunday saw the Plummer Red Six play heads-up baseball behind the 12 strikeouts pitching of Mortrude, and win by a close 2 to 1 score the second game of the Northern Minny league title playoff, forcing the series into a third and final game, which will be played on Sunday, Sept. 1.

After a scoreless first inning both teams tallied a marker in the second inning. With one man out, Mortrude poled out a double to left center. Fremling was out, Sahl to Cockrell, Mortrude being held at second. Jesse DuChamp singled into short right field, Mortrude going to third. Then, in attempting to catch Jesse off first, Hemmy Sahl committed a balk with the umpire waving Mortrude home with the first score, and sending Jesse to second. St. Marie bounded out to end the inning.

The locals knotted the score in their half of the second. After two men had been retired, Wally DuChamp got Thief River's first hit, on an infield hit. Jesse DuChamp made a hard try for Bergstrom's ground ball, but it went through the infield for a ground single, Wally going to second. Bobby DuChamp then punched a single into right field, scoring Wally from second and sending Bergstrom to third, and on the throw to the plate, Bob went to second. Jimmy LaFave whiffed to retire the side.

Plummer racked up their winning run in the fourth inning. After Jaspers had grounded out, Sahl to Cockrell, Benson doubled down the right field foul line. Louie went third on a wild pitch, and scored the game-winning run when Mortrude dumped a bunt down the first base line, beating Jaranson's throw to the plate by a step.

Thief River made a desperate bid for the game in the ninth inning, when the locals rallied to send the tying run to third and the winning run to second, with two men out; but Mortrude fanned Wally DuChamp for the game-ending out.

While Arv. Mortrude pitched a smart game, getting 12 strikeouts, and six of these being chalked up when the local batters 'took' the last strike for a 'called' strike-out, he received splendid support from his outfield, particularly from Howard Hofius in left field, and Maurice Page in center field. Two of Hofius' four putouts were made on circus catches. In the second inning Hemmy Sahl hammered out a hit that appeared labeled for a triple, but Hofius made the putout on an over-the-shoulder catch. And in the fifth he made fine catch of Roy Lee's bid for an extra-base blow.

Plummer's Page put a crimp in the locals ninth inning rally, when with the singling Rasmusson on first, Page made a spectacular running catch of Jaranson's hard-hit fly ball, colliding with Hofius just as he made the catch, but hanging on to the ball for the putout.

Harts' Lose a Game

The Harts D-ball team had their undefeated record of league games broken last Monday night, but it was too bad that they had to lose on a forfeit. I'm not going to get myself into the argument as to whether or not the forfeit was merited, for I can get all the argument I can handle by going down to Plummer and chewing the fat with the boys about the superiority of the Thief River baseball team over the Plummer team. The last time I was down there I said something about the Plummer team being composed of a bunch of straw men in nice suits, and they called out the Plummer fire department and chased me out of town. I won't get into any diamondball argument by stating the case of the Harts forfeit. The Kiewels and the Harts were in a nip-and-tuck game with score 2 to 1 in favor of Harts going into the first half of the 5th inning. Two balls had been in use during the game, one a solid ball and the other a 'soft' ball, and Ole Nese, Kiewel's manager, in the 4th inning, had objected to the 'soft' ball and asked that it be held out of the game, Ole's reasons being that the 'soft' ball favored the Harts pitcher, gave him a better grip, and that it was harder to hit safely than the solid ball. The 'soft' ball was taken out of the game but used as an infield warm-up ball, and used in the game when the solid ball was out of play, which happened when long foul balls were hit. The one fact agreed upon is that this 'soft' ball was soft.

Came the 5th inning Kiewel's first batter beat out an infield hit. Carl Lee came to bat, and poled out a long foul to left field. Harts pitcher called for the 'soft' ball, and it was tossed out to him; but before he could deliver that ball the solid ball was thrown into the infield. Kiewel's manager called 'Time,' and walked out on the playing field, and took the 'soft' ball from the Harts pitcher and threw it out of the game. There was an argument, Harts claiming that the 'soft' ball was the ball that was in play, and that it could not be thrown out of the game. The solid ball was then tossed out to the pitcher, but before play had been resumed, Harts third baseman, Don Lorentson asked for the ball, and taking a wind-up, heaved the ball over the light standards, past first base. Then the uproar! Kiewel's demanded that Don be ejected from the game. That they call the police. That they call the sheriff. The result being that the Harts were given five minutes to return that thrown ball to the field. This wasn't done, and therefore the forfeit. The entire forfeit hinges on these two questions: 1) whether or not one of the umpires had declared that the 'soft' ball was out of play; 2) whether or not Kiewel's Ole Ness had the right to go on the playing field and take the 'soft' ball from the Harts pitcher's hands, and toss it out of the game.

And here's a note to the Kiewel's: Clarence Offerdahl, manager of the Harts, knowing that Ole Ness is fair-minded about such things, and that he wouldn't claim any victories for his team that weren't earned, Clarence, in behalf of the Hartz club, is challenging the Kiewel's to a game, with a new ball to be used, to settle the matter. That's a fair way to settle the argument, and it should provide a game that all diamondball fans would be anxious to see.

All-Stars vs. All-Stars

That game at Crookston next Sunday should be an interesting one. The game between the Northern Minny league All Stars vs. Red River Valley league All-Stars. It was a fine gesture on the part of the league managers to select Plummer's G. A. Krueger to manage the league's All-Stars in the game Sunday. Krueger, who is president of the league, has been one of the prime factors in keeping baseball alive in this territory, and it was mainly through his efforts that we had organized ball up here this year. He maintains that this will be his last year of active participation in baseball affairs, but I doubt that, and I would regret to see him out of baseball.

Crookston will be interested in watching Louie Benson work in Sunday's game. They have a 'string' on Louie.

A Week-end of Sports

Sports fans will have a busy week-end. There's the game at Crookston; there's the diamondball tournament on Sunday, here; and then there's the Invitational golf tournament at the local golf course, on Saturday and Sunday.

Two Local Men Entered in National Rifle Matches

The Thief River Rifle club has been again honored this year with the selection of two of its members, George Erickson and John Lind, to take part in the National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, September 1 to 21. More than 3000 marksmen will participate in the event, which is sponsored by the United States war department. The local men were selected on the basis of their showing at the state shoot held in Montevideo last June, Mr. Erickson placing third with a score of 180 out of 200, while Mr. Lind scored 174.

CROOKSTON TO BE SCENE OF INTER-LEAGUE CONTEST

2 All-Star Teams Will Clash at Highland Park Sunday Afternoon

With a red-hot playoff series for the league championship in progress, the members of the Northern Minnesota baseball league's All-Star team are primed for their clash with an aggregation of Red River Valley league All-Stars at Crookston's Highland Park next Sunday afternoon.

G. A. Krueger, of Plummer, who was chosen to manage the league's All-Stars, has, with the advice of the various team managers, selected a 16 man squad to represent the Northern Minny league. The following players have been selected: Arv Mortrude, Louis Benson, Deane Schoenaur, Reaume St. Marie, Jesse DuChamp, and Bud Jaspers, from Plummer; Hemmy Sahl, Johnny Jaranson, Clarence Rasmusson, Stan Cockrell, and Wally DuChamp, from Thief River; Woody Almquist, Arlo Jacobson and Bill Hallamack, from the St. Hilaire club; Ray Perras, from Red Lake Falls; and Garf Bakke, from the CCC team.

While game-time conditions will be a factor in deciding the starting line-up, Manager Krueger announced that his present plans called for Louie Benson to start on the mound, with Jacobson doing the receiving. The infield in support of Benson would have Jaspers at first base, Schoenauer at second, Hallamack playing shortstop, and St. Marie at third base. [illegible] expected to play the entire game, would be Almquist in left field, Wally DuChamp in center field, and Jesse DuChamp in right field.

Benson after his three inning stint on the mound, will don the catcher's paraphernalia and replace Jacobson behind the plate, and do the receiving for Hemmy Sahl and Arv Mortrude, who are slated to pitch the balance of the game.

With baseball interest in the league's territory at a high peak, it is expected that a large number of fans will be in attendance at Crookston next Sunday, and all with the expectation of witnessing their league's All-Stars hand a drubbing to the Red River Valley league's All-Stars.

It's always fashionable to be sensible.

JIM NORDINE NEW GOLF CLUB CHAMP, DEFEATING JUNG

Karlstad Man Plays Par Golf to Down Defending Champion

Shooting par golf while his opponent, defending champion Vic Jung, was going three strokes over par figures, Jimmy Nordine, young Karlstad golfer, by a 3 up and 2 to play score won the club championship in a finals match played over the local golf course last Sunday. The victory was somewhat of a revenge for Jimmy for last year these two golfers, Jung and Nordine, were finalists and then Vic with a 1 up decision in 36 holes, was the winner.

With the exception of the 5th flight, in which Sewell Gross defeated Wally Carlson in the finals, none of the other flights have decided their champions. First flight finalists are Walt Ekeren and Floyd Daniels; second flight finalists are Doug Booren and Dr. Ed Bratrud; third flight finalists are Rudy Sagmoen and Roy Oen; while in the fourth flight, Billy Ilye has reached the finals, where he will play the winner of the Morris Ilye vs. O. H. Ekeren match.

The consolations in the first and second flights have been completed, with Lloyd Bennes defeating H. R. Baum for the first flight consolation championship; and Dr. Baldwin Borreson defeating T. M. Thronson in the second flight consolation.

Duck Eggs Cheaper

Because they lay more eggs at less cost than do chickens, ducks will furnish all eggs for use at the federal penitentiary at Latuna, N. M. A flock of 250 ducks has been brought to the prison farm department to replace chickens raised to supply eggs since 1932.

Six Vacancies in Rural School Teaching Staff

Six vacancies remain this week in the Pennington county rural school teaching staff, County Superintendent Richard Dablow announced, adding that applicants for the positions may secure the necessary information from him. The first rural schools are scheduled to open for the fall term September 3, while a few will open as late as September 23.

No Rain Arrives to Halt Threshing Operations

No rain of consequence fell in this locality during the past week, favorable weather permitting harvest and threshing operations to go forward without interruption. As a reminder of the imminent arrival of fall, the mercury on several mornings dropped to the low 40s.

About the only exercise some people get is jumping at conclusions.

JOE KISE CHOSEN NEW COMMANDER OF STATE LEGION

Moorhead College Teacher Named at Convention in Hibbing

Joe Kise, instructor at the Moorhead state teachers college, was elected state commander of the American Legion, Minnesota department at the session of the 22nd annual convention in Hibbing Wednesday afternoon. He succeeds Allan Briggs, St. Paul.

Kise's election came on the third ballot in a spirited race that started out with four candidates in the field. After the first ballot, Russell Bertelson, Minneapolis, withdrew, leaving Roy T. Anderson, Austin and Glen Locker, Duluth, as Kise's opposition. Kise finally received 360 votes as against 169 for Anderson and 146 for Locker.

Other officers elected at the concluding session of the five-day gathering, which attracted 2,000 Legionnaires and Auxiliary women as delegates—the largest in the history of the Minnesota organization—were:

Fred Walz, Pipestone, first vice commander; Dr. E. A. Kallusky, Madison, second vice commander; Joseph N. Sonaglia, Hibbing, third vice commander; Father Charles A. Webber, St. Paul, chaplain. Dr A. F. Branton, Willmar, was re-elected as historian for a five year term, while D. M. (Danny) Coughlin, Waseca, was re-named as a member of the board of publications for a three year period.

Keratin Is Odd Substance

Keratin is one of the oldest substances produced in human and animal bodies, asserts Collier's. Not only is it the chemical basis and an essential ingredient in such soft appendages as wool, fur, hair and feathers, but also in such hard ones as horns, hoofs, nails, claws and shells.

NEW CREAMERY AT GATZKE

Pictured above is the new creamery at Gatzke, now nearing completion. East of the new structure the old creamery is still operating and on cream days is a busy place. The Gatzke creamery does a volume of about 160,000 pounds a year.

Improving Potatoes

Spud specialists are now developing highly improved potatoes by planting the little seeds from the pods which grow on the tops of the potato plants and sorting out the most promising offspring, says the Country Home Magazine. The tubers from these superior plants are then used for seed. Warba, Katahdin, Chippewa, Golden and Houma are some of the newest and best of these modern varieties.

Equipment has been developed to neutralize or precipitate the mineral content in hard water.

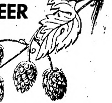
WHAT HOPS DO FOR BEER AND ALE



Hops are for flavor. They give to good beer and ale their lively, appetizing flavor, their pleasant, aromatic tang.

Brewers select and blend their hops with extreme care. In fact, every step in making beer and ale is conducted with masterly skill—to give you better-tasting, more wholesome beverages.

Now the brewing industry wants to do one thing more. It wants to protect your right to drink good beer and ale—by keeping the places where beer and ale are sold wholesome, too.

We want undesirable, anti-social establishments "cleaned-up" or closed up." A plan of action has already been put into effect in a number of states. This plan is being extended. We'd like you to know about it. Send for interesting free booklet.

Swedes Preceded Penn

The early Swedish colony in America built a fort, a school, a church and homes; they established trading posts and a lawcourt with a jury; they tilled the soil and planted fields. When William Penn arrived, his peaceful relations with the Indians were made possible by Swedish interpreters. The colony was taken over by the Dutch in 1665, and later by the English. Under these two influences, it retained its identity, keeping alive for over 300 years the traditions of the homeland.

An apparently successful method of treating migraine, severe chronic headache, in men by injection of the female hormone has been reported by Dr. Charles W. Dunn, of Philadelphia. As slow and fast oxidation generate the same amount of heat, a log that has undergone complete decay over a period of years has produced as much heat as it would have if burned to ash in a few hours, says Collier's Weekly.

BORDER PATROL TO BE GREATLY ENLARGED SEPT. 1

School Held at Grand Forks for 34 New Members of Staff

Chuck full of "book learning" and fitted out in brand new uniforms, 34 new members of the immigration border patrol will be assigned to duty along the United States-Canadian border about September 1.

This week they are completing a training course at the district patrol headquarters in the post office building in Grand Forks.

The border patrol recently was shifted from the United States labor department to the department of justice and the officers also check all federal offenses although immigration is their main work.

The 34 new men were added to the district staff after the United States stringent regulations on entry of aliens from Canada were put into effect.

The Grand Forks district office covers 1,000 miles of border from the northeastern corner of Minnesota on the north shore of Lake Superior to the Montana line. There now are 20 patrol units operating out of border towns. When the 34 new men join the staff there will be 91 officers in this district.

Northwest Good Roads Association Will Meet on Sunday at Crookston

A meeting of the Northwest Good Roads association, for civic leaders from six counties, with view to effecting county units of that organization, will be held in Crookston Sunday, S. S. Daniels, president of the organization, announced today.

The meeting is scheduled at two p. m. in the city council chambers, for Pennington, Norman, Marshall Kittson, Red Lake and Polk counties.

E. W. Moeller, of St. Paul, secretary of the association, will be present to address the meeting and to discuss county organization plans. It is hoped that an organization for each of the six counties can be set up at that time.

Dallas Kast has been named by Mr. Daniels to have charge of the organization work throughout the ninth district.

Red Lake Indian Charged in Bemidji with Assault

Charged with assault with intent to kill two fellow Chippewa Indians, Frank Elmer Martin, Red Lake Indian, was ordered bound over to the January term of federal court at Fergus Falls, after preliminary hearing Friday before United States Court Commissioner Herbert Olson in Bemidji. Bond was set at $5,000.

Martin allegedly took a boat out on Lower Red Lake the morning of Aug. 4 and, armed with a 12-gauge shotgun, shot twice at Dorothy Wind and Raymond Cloud who were tending fish nets on the lake.

Except for one pellet which struck Miss Wind on the cheek, she and Cloud escaped injury when they sped away in their motorboat.

JOHN KINZER COMES OUT FOR GOVERNOR STASSEN

John J. Kinzer, Cold Spring, farmer-labor candidate for lieutenant governor in 1938, is the latest party leader to declare for reelection of Governor Harold E. Stassen. Kinzer in a statement this past week paid tribute to Stassen's record and said he should be reelected.

Record Photography Speed

University of Minnesota scientists have taken the fastest photograph on record—one that required but one one-hundred millionth of a second. It was taken on a cathode ray oscillograph which recorded on a photographic plate the oscillations of an electrical current in a hundred-millionth of a second. It is called a vast improvement over any previously constructed oscillograph.

WORK AND PLAY

Everet Mugaas of Gatzke combines work and play when he makes regular trips hauling Palmer Stewart's cream to market, using his bike for a tractor and his wagon for a trailer. It's all fun, however, in the lower picture, taken on the Bergstrom farm seven miles east of Gatzke, showing Junior Bergstrom getting a high ride in the swing, pushed by his sister Virginia. In the background is another sister, Gladys, and at the left, Alice Johnson, a neighbor who was "company" at the Bergstrom's that day.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dear Editor:

Another year, and our fair has come and gone with record breaking crowds and is now a thing of the past.

What did we think of our fair this year? The 4-H building was grand, the cattle, etc. all O. K. The woman's building and entertainment in front of the grandstand will long be remembered.

The midway rides will long be remembered as a thrill in one's life for both young and old.

But what about the carnival? Who lets such cheap, filthy stuff on our fair grounds? The Gay Paree, French Casino, Garden of Eden, all such cheap stuff to set before our youth and older men, women and children.

Are those kind of jobs we mothers would want our girls to hold in life? Can we but wonder why so many young boys and girls go wrong when we bring such trash to our county fair.

The profit Thief River gets from such shows isn't so much but what it could do without it.

Why not get some real clean games, etc., everyone can enjoy. Not something we have to sneak in and see then hide our faces when the show is over.

And since when did any youth of today get such cold feet he couldn't even answer up for a free car

Next year another fair will be in the making. Let's see if it can be a cleaner one so that we won't have the old feeling that this year's fair wasn't much and stay home where we can find cleaner entertainment.

A Mother.

Game Wardens to Report on Condition of Upland Game Birds in the State

Amid reports of an abundant upland game bird crop, conservation department officials this week asked game wardens to report conditions in their territories preliminary to establishing seasons.

Wardens were requested to check up on the population of Chinese pheasants, ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse, prairie chickens, Hungarian partridges, and quail.

Data secured after the surveys will be pooled by conservation department officials and seasons will be determined.

Unofficial reports indicate pheasants had a successful season over many areas of the state. Ruffed grouse are known to be on the up-grade phase of their ten year cycle.

Valley Golf Tourney at Crookston Opens Aug. 30

Plans for Crookston's 13th annual Red River Valley golf tournament are under way, Dr. C. L. Oppegaard, tournament chairman has announced.

Traditionally, qualifying rounds will be shot Friday and Saturday, August 30 and 31, with match play coming Sunday and Labor Day. The Minakwa course is being readied for the meet two weeks from now, and all greens and fairway are expected to be in excellent shape.

Last year's champion, Al Rindy of Grand Forks, will have a host of contenders for his title. This list will include Wally Paulson of Grand Forks, 1939 runner-up; Jim Nordine of Karlstad, 1938 titlist and former Birchmont International champion; and Ernotte Hiller of Crookston, who won the Valley meet in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

NUMEROUS CHANGES IN SCHOOL FACULTY

Copies of School Bulletin Will be Distributed This Week-end

With the long summer vacation drawing to its close, boys and girls of Thief River Falls will march off next Tuesday morning, September 3, to attend the first day of school of the fall term. Faculty members who have spent the summer away from the city are now assembling here, and all will be on hand Monday afternoon for a general faculty meeting called by Supt. Morris Bye.

During the vacation period the interiors of the school buildings have been renovated, the old Washington school receiving the greatest amount of attention. With the addition of the new Lincoln junior-senior high school building, there will be ample accommodations for students in the upper six grades, relieving the congestion of former years.

Copies of the annual school bulletin, giving full details of the facilities offered by the local system, are being distributed this week-end to all homes in the community.

More than the usual number of changes in the faculty are in evidence this year. Mr. Bye announced that Miss Olga Bloomaness, since 1925 third grade teacher here, has been appointed principal of the Knox school, succeeding Miss Sarah Vaughan, retired.

Miss Orpha Gabrielson, who had been on a leave of absence to continue her education, will teach the fourth grade in the Northrop school, while Miss Minerva B. Ulstuen has been transferred from Northrop school to the second grade in the Knox school.

Miss Gladys Berntsen, a graduate of St. Olaf college, will serve as girls' physical education instructor, succeeding Miss Kathryn Fossum. Miss Audrey Smith of this city will succeed Miss Selma Thompson as home economics instructor, while Miss Elizabeth Kops of Glyndon will take Hilding Peterson's place as instructor in English IV and public speaking. She was graduated from Moorhead state teachers college, and did graduate work at Northwestern University.

James R. Carlson of Staples, a graduate of Hamline University, will teach English III, taking the place of Miss Agnes Tandberg, who is on a leave of absence to attend Northwestern University. Miss Elizabeth Ann Jude of Maple Lake will succeed Miss Adaline Dock as librarian. Miss Rakel Erickson of Fertile will succeed Miss Sarah Vaughan as sixth grade teacher in the Knox school.

As in past years, kindergarten departments will be maintained in the Knox, Northrop and Washington buildings. Eligible for admittance are children not old enough to enter the first grade but who are five years old on or before March 1, 1941. None will be enrolled later than September 16.

Norwegian Relief Fund Now Aggregates $811.75

The sum of $11 was added during the past week to the fund being assembled locally for Norwegian relief, making a total to date of $811.75, O. H. Ekeren, treasurer, reported. Contributions this week include Union State bank, $5; Northern State bank, $5; and anonymous, $1.

Rain Wednesday Halts Diamondball Playoff

With the Hartz team leading over Land O'Lakes 4-3 in the last half of the fourth inning, the first game of the city diamondball league playoffs was halted by rain Wednesday night. The game will be played Friday evening, while tonight Kiewels and Bridgemans play their semi-final game.

Twenty Others Procure Application Blanks at the Postoffice

The work of registering every alien in the United States in connection with the national defense program got under way Tuesday, and will continue until December 26, by which time it is estimated 3,600,000 aliens will have been registered and fingerprinted.

At the Thief River Falls postoffice, where local registrations are being made, four aliens were enrolled Tuesday, and approximately twenty application blanks were given out, Postmaster Andrew Anderson stated.

The order to register has gone out to all non-citizens—to the youngest infant and oldest adult, to the sick and the lame, even to incompetents. The only exceptions are the diplomatic or other representatives of foreign governments and their families.

The program, for which congress appropriated more than $3,000,000, was ordered as a defense measure, to give this country for the first time an accurate check on the aliens here, their whereabouts, activities, the length of their stay, and their relatives.

Failure to register or making false statements while registering involve penalties up to $1,000 fine and six months in jail. The latter offense also is a deportable one.

Monsebroten-Reiley Vows Spoken in Setting Of Flowers and Candles

Baskets of white and salmon-colored gladioli with white asters, palms and ferns, and lighted white tapers in majestic gold candelabra provided a beautiful setting for the marriage of Miss Kathleen Monsebroten of Minneapolis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Monsebroten of this city, to Dr. Richard E. Reiley of Rochester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Reiley of Oskaloosa, Iowa, which took place at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, Aug. 25, in Bethlehem Lutheran church, Minneapolis. Rev. O. S. Reigstad officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Before the ceremony, Walter Ekeren of this city sang "Because" and "I Love You" by Greig; and immediately after the exchange of vows he sang "The Lord's Prayer". Miss Ylvisaker of Minneapolis was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a charming gown of white net with lace insets over white satin, designed with the modish long bodice effect. A train-length veil with pleated net tiara completed her costume. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses with white larkspur and swansonia, and wore an engraved gold locket, a gift from the bridegroom.

Her attendants, Miss Phyllis Norbeck of Minneapolis, formerly of this city, maid of honor; Miss Myrtle Haugen of Winona and Mrs. Dayton Barker of Minneapolis, bridesmaids, wore gowns in three different shades of modified blue net and carried bouquets of Talisman roses and white chrysanthemums. Little Diane Thearle, flower girl, charming in a long frock of blue net, carried a small Colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

Best man was John Reiley of Oskaloosa, Iowa, brother of the bridegroom, who was also attended by James Crowley and Joseph Devereaux of Minneapolis.

The brides' mother chose for the nuptials a spruce blue street frock with black accessories, and the groom's mother was attired in a rose ensemble with wine accessories. Both wore corsages of white sweet peas and Ophelia roses.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents gave a reception for 75 guests at the Francis Drake hotel. The beautiful three-tier wedding cake which graced the serving table was encircled with a wreath of yellow roses.

SOMETHING TO FEEL GOOD ABOUT

A survey of the agricultural resources of Minnesota, published recently by the Minnesota Resources Commission, indicates that our state not only ranks high in agricultural production but also that the state's agriculture is highly diversified. We lead the nation in the harvesting of such crops as barley, rye, flax, hay and sweet clover seed. We process more butter and linseed oil than any other state and are near the top in the production of livestock and poultry. In land area the state ranks eleventh but in the number of acres of excellent and good agricultural land we are second from the top.

A breakdown of the soil survey by counties shows that 57% of Pennington is classified as good, 22% fair and 21% poor, which compares very favorably with the state average of 47% good, 14% fair and 39% poor. No figures are available in this particular survey on production by counties but in this we probably would also be considerably better than the average. Certainly no area of the state is more diversified in its production than the northwest corner, especially that portion of the area that is tributary to Thief River Falls. Our community is located in one of the best parts of one of the best states in the country.

SUMMER ENDS MONDAY

Maybe not according to the calendar, but for all practical purposes next Monday will be the last day of summer. The education mills of the country resume operations Tuesday, the end of vacation for millions of school attendants and a few students.

The local factory is ready for the fall rush of business, plant manager Bye reports. For the first time in many years the opening of a new season will present no housing problem. Facilities are ample and all of the more than sixteen hundred youngsters who seek diplomas will be exposed to knowledge without crowding or congestion.

And for the first time in many years, our school equipment is in excellent condition. The new high school building will compare favorably with any school in the state. The old section has been thoroughly reconditioned and is considered well up to standard. Repairs are now nearing completion on the old Washington building, declared unsafe last spring but now stronger than ever and ready for many more years of service.

Now ready for distribution, the new annual school bulletin contains much interesting information. School property is valued at $661,161.28, against which there is a debt of $240,000, most of it drawing three per cent. In the early Twenties, by way of comparison, the debt was nearly $300,000, drawing a considerably higher rate of interest.

Operating costs for the school system run to a little more than $100,000 a year of which local taxpayers pay in direct taxes about $62,000. Aids of various kinds take care of the balance of the cost including debt service. There are 68 employees on the payroll, including teachers, janitors and bus drivers.

Thief River Falls has reason to be proud of its school system. It is a big business, well managed, operating with remarkably little friction.

It is time for our annual comment on the city's rat hatchery. In the past we have urged that its operation be discontinued. Having failed to arouse any great amount of public sentiment by our past protests we will now approach the problem from a different angle. If we must have rats lets grow a variety that will have some value. If a rat could be developed that would have a market value of ten cents per head the city could pay all its debts in one year without increasing the present scale of production. The idea may have some possibilities. Another source of revenue might be developed by imposing fines on motorists who drive recklessly through the rat herds that come to town on frosty fall nights. How about a community picnic at the hatchery some evening to discuss the problem.

Mahnomen One evening recently Mrs. W. C. Carriveau was going to the bathroom to clean the lavatory. Upon entering the room she found a snake on the floor. NORTHERN MINNY WINS INTERLOOP TILT SUNDAY 7-6

Defeat Red River Valley All Stars in 10th Inning at Crookston

Johnny Jaranson's 10th inning single, scoring Stan Cockrell, gave manager G. A. Kreoger's Northern Minny League All-Stars a 7 to 6 extra-inning victory over a team of Red River Valley League All-Stars, in a game played at Crookston's Highland Park last Sunday.

The 300 fans who were in attendance at the game saw the Northerners go into a 5 run lead, scoring 2 runs in the 3rd inning, on two singles, a triple, and a fielder's choice; and scoring a three-run cluster in the 4th inning, on two triples, an error, and a fielder's choice. The Red River Valley team opened the 6th inning with a double, drew two bases one balls, and a fielder's choice to score two runs. The Northerners added a run to their lead by scoring a tally in their half of the 6th, on Cockrell's double, a single and an error. Bunching two singles with two errors, a base on balls, a wild pitch, and a passed ball, the Red River team shoved 4 runs across the plate, to bring the game to a 6-all deadlock, and setting the stage for Jaranson's game-winning single.

Louis Benson, pitching the first three innings for the Northern Minny team, hurled fine ball, limiting the Red River team to but one hit, and holding them scoreless. The hitting stars of the game were Woody Almquist, Garfield Bakke, and Stan Cockrell, for the Northern Minny team; and catcher Orvik for the Red River club. Hans Bridgeford, the Red River Valley league's leading hitter, was held without a hit in his two trips to the plate.

It's Football for Prowlers

Coach John Lindenmeyer has been sending twenty or twenty-five Prowlers through informal football practice this week. It hasn't been so informal either, for the boys have been working on each other, throwing blocks and piling up the running plays. While all the football-minded boys haven't been out for practice—it is expected that another fifteen or twenty will report when school begins next week—it is apparent that Lindenmeyer will have quite a job in re-building his line. Of last year's smooth-working line, only Orrin Pederson is returning, the others having been graduated. 'Tarzan' Shaw, a transfer student from Enderlin, N. D., will be a help, perhaps at one of the tackles—that is, if they can find a suit big enough for him, and if he can get his credits okayed.

There will be plenty of backfielders: LaRue Anderson and Jimmy Ferguson, veterans; Eddie Flasch, Luther Fjelstad, Bill LaFave, Homer Matheson, Don Olson and others. Andy hasn't been out yet, as he's working; but he's kept himself in pretty good shape this year, and he says that he's ready to tear apart the conference. Eddie Flasch hasn't grown much in height this summer, but he's surely gotten thicker and wider.

There's a conference championship to be won this year. Fosston, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Warren, East Grand Forks, and Thief River Falls, being the members. According to reports, Warren, Thief River Falls, and East Grand Forks, are to be the strong teams, with Fosston perhaps a contender. Some Mahnomen boys are supposed to have transferred to Fosston.

The Golf Tournament

From whatever slant you looked at it, the first annual Thief River Invitational was a success, and tourney chairman Bill Claffy and his assistants are to be complimented on the tournament arrangements. I was out there Saturday and Sunday, with Bill Sponheim, doing some heel-and-toe stuff, following Jim Nordine, Vic Jung, Chommie, Tom Jorde, Johnny Buck, and Ernotte Hiller, and I never heard one word of complaint, while there were many words of praise.

Some of the boys were chinning around the first tee, and one of them expressed the opinion that Hans Chommie had the best 'fore' voice on the course. The others seemed to be in agreement with that opinion, and that brought this comment from Chommie: "If I could drive a ball as far as I can yell, I'd be quite a golfer."

'Fuzz' Johnson, Bemidji, qualified with a 78, which placed him in the first flight; and then he proceeded to shoot a pair of 68's, and a 70, to win the flight championship.

It was a long week-end for 'Buck' Robbins. He's been pretty much of a nine hole golfer this year, and here he gets into a tournament where he plays 18 holes Saturday morning, 18 holes Saturday afternoon, 18 holes Sunday morning, and 18 holes Sunday afternoon. Buck, by the way, doesn't expect to be able to handle the Bemidji high school basketball team this season. He's a reserve officer in the National Guard, and he expects to be called into duty at March Field, California, in a month or so.

It's quite a surprise when Vic Kvikstad drives a ball into the river, but on the 4th hole, in his match with Paul Mellby, Vic pumped two balls into the pond.

Pike Fishing

The pike are biting again. That's the report. Harold Olson was at Balm lake, northeast of Clearwater lake, and he came back with a fine string of fish, walleyes and northerns, and a few bass. Waldie Christenson was at Pine lake, near Gonvick, and he said that the wall-eyes were biting. Well, I'll have a report on Balm lake next week, because Henry Boe and I are going over there Thursday. I've got myself a three ounce sinker, a four-foot wire leader, a chrome-plated prescott spinner—that's the rig that's supposed to catch wall-eyes.

COCA COLA TEAM OF BEMIDJI WINS D-BALL TOURNEY

Defeats T. R. F. Hartz Team in Title Contest Sunday

Playing in the finals of the Northwest Diamondball tourney, played here Sunday, the Coca Colas of Bemidji rallied to defeat the local Hartz team, 9 to 7, and win the championship.

Hartz bunched three hits, with a base on balls, to score two runs in the 1st inning; and in the 3rd inning, three hits and two Bemidji errors gave them four more scores, and a 6 to 0 lead. But in the last half of the 3rd inning, the Coca Cola's reached Allen Ness for three doubles, a triple, and a single, with two bases on balls, to score six runs, and tie up the game. Two errors, on fly balls, and a long fly putout, gave Bemidji a run in the 4th inning, and put them into the lead. They increased their margin by scoring a tally in the 5th inning, on a long triple by Caskey, and an infield hit by Thorbrugger. A two-base muff by Bemidji's centerfielder set up a Hartz score in the 6th inning, Solheim reaching second. Russ took third on Gulseth's infield out; and scored when Bemidji's third baseman made a wild peg to the plate on Don Lorentson's ground ball.

With Ham Myhrer on the mound for the Hartz', Bemidji bunched two infield hits, scratch hits, with an error, and a base on balls, to shove across their final marker. Hartz in the first half of the 7th inning filled the bases, with but one man out, but could not score. Langseth and Langlie singled, and after Ade Lorentson had popped out to first, Offerdahl got an infield single to fill the bases. Ham Myhrer bounded to the pitcher, who made the play at the plate to force Langseth, and Columbo grounded to the shortstop, who tagged second base to force Offerdahl and end the game.

Bemidji reached the finals by defeating Warroad, 14 to 4, and International Falls, 2 to 1; while Hartz won their way into the finals by beating Bagley, 3 to 0, and McIntosh, 2 to 1.

County Agent Offers Formula for Curbing Inroads of Crickets

Crickets are becoming a household pest as fall approaches, and are not only an annoyance, but they do much damage by eating holes in clothing draperies and various fabrics, states Howard E. Grow, county agent.

Mr. Grow continues that crickets can be controlled satisfactorily by the use of pyrethrum dust or sodium fluoride. Pyrethrum powder should be blown under boxes and boards, back of baseboards, or similar hiding places. Sodium fluoride is even more effective when it is sprinkled lightly in places where crickets hide. Sodium fluoride is poisonous to animals and humans and must be used with care.

Crickets may be combated outside of the house by the use of poison bait. The following formula is very successful in killing crickets: Bran, 5 lbs. or 1½ lbs; sodium fluoride or sodium fluosilicate, ¼ lbs. or 1 oz.; cane molasses, 1 pint or ½ cup; water, 4 or 5 pints or 2 cups.

A simpler and effective bait for household use is made by spreading sodium fluoride on fresh slices of carrots, parsnips, or potatoes, and placing them where the crickets have ready access to them, but where there is no danger of their being found by young children or animals.

Copies of the publication will be distributed through the Minnesota Historical Society, St. Paul.

OLE O. SAGENG
Republican Candidate
For Congress

He stands for: (1) The Republican National Platform. (2) Faithful compliance with the "profit price" program for Agriculture pledged in that platform. (3) Removal of the injurious restriction on spring wheat production. (4) An adequate federal system of Old-Age Pensions designed to provide security for the aged and jobs for the young.

This Otter Tail County farmer's legislative experience covers 18 years, served 16 years in the State Senate when he voluntarily retired. Mr. Sageng was President pro tempore of the Senate, the highest honor senators can confer on one of their members.

There are approximately 400 lawyers and 20 farmers in congress. In this overwhelmingly agricultural district, the men and women on our farms would honor and promote their own industry by sending this able and experienced farmer legislator to Washington. Nine men are seeking the Republican nomination for congress. Ole is the only dirt farmer in the bunch. A vote for him will help restore to Agriculture its rightful voice in national legislation.

SEN. LUNDEEN LOSES LIFE IN PLANE WRECK

STATE CAPITOL RITES HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Solon Had Long and Varied Career in Politics in Minnesota

Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota and 24 others died Saturday night in an air crash 40 miles from the nation's capital to register the heaviest toll of American commercial aviation.

Twenty-one passengers and four of the Pennsylvania Central Airliner's crew were killed when the plane splintered to fragments on the ground while flying during a heavy rainstorm. It was the first fatal accident for commercial airlines since March 26, 1939, near Oklahoma City, Okla., when eight were killed. It was the first fatal accident for the Pennsylvania Central air lines in more than 13 years of operation.

Accompanied by senate and house committees the body of Senator Lundeen left Washington at 4:10 p. m. Monday for the Minnesota state capitol where a state funeral was held Wednesday.

The funeral train arrived at St. Paul at 9:35 p. m. Tuesday and the body was taken immediately to the state capitol.

Lundeen was the second Minnesota senator to be killed in an accident in the last five years. In December, 1935, Senator Thomas Schall, Republican, was killed in an automobile accident.

Lundeen had been a prominent figure in both Republican and Farmer-Labor parties for the last 20 years.

Born at Beresford, S. D., August 4, 1878 he was graduated from Carleton college at Northfield and studied law at the University of Minnesota, being admitted to the bar in 1900. He served several terms in the state legislature prior to his first election to congress.

As a member of the war congress he voted against the United States' entry in the World war. At that time the late Colonel Roosevelt attacked Lundeen's patriotism and termed him "shadow hun".

Lundeen also opposed conscription, the League of Nations, and American entry into the world court. It was during this time that he went to Ortonville, Minn., to speak on the League of Nations. Irate citizens refused to let him talk and forcibly escorted him to a railroad refrigerator car in which he was locked and the car pulled out of town.

He served with the nation's military forces during the Spanish-American war, later held a commission in the Minnesota national guard and was a member of the national championship rifle team of 1909.

After his term in the war congress, Lundeen's political sun set for a while. In 1928 he campaigned for governor as the Farmer-Labor candidate and was defeated. He was again defeated in 1929 when he sought the vacancy created by Walter Newton's resignation from the house of representatives to become secretary to President Herbert Hoover.

Lundeen visited Russia in 1928, returning to this country to urge recognition of the land of the czars and praising Soviet system.

He was elected junior United Senator from Minnesota in 1936. His term would have expired in 1943.

CROWD OF 4,000 AT OLD SETTLERS OUTING AT PELAN

Cast of 40 Presents Indian Opera, "Wannaska and Waunda"

A large and enthusiastic crowd of four thousand people, received with applause the opera, "Wannaska and Waunda" which was presented by the Greenbush band at the Pelan Battleground Park last Sunday. This opera, presented with a cast of forty people, portrayed in music the old legend of Wannaska and Waunda, which the Roseau County Chippewa Indians have passed down from mouth to mouth for nearly two hundred years. Written in five acts, it vividly depicts the adventures of Wannaska, the young Chippewa hunter who lived on the banks of the Roseau River where the pleasant little village of Wannaska is located today in Roseau county.

Another feature was a talk on the early American Indian, given by Mrs. H. Holte of Crookston. William Dahlquist, editor of the Thief River Falls Times, was the speaker of the day. Complimenting the old settlers on their completion of fifty years in Roseau County, he delivered an interesting talk upon the accomplishments of Roseau county people. Following his talk, he decorated those old settlers of Roseau County who came here in 1890.

12 Marriage Licenses Issued Here in August

The imminent threat of a draft for military service has had little or no effect in hastening impending nuptials in Pennington county. 6 LETTERMEN IN 35-MAN LINCOLN FOOTBALL SQUAD

Red Lake Falls Will Furnish Opposition in Opening Contest Sept. 13

The thirty-five man squad that reported to Coach John Lindenmeyer for football practice this week contained but six lettermen, these being Eddie Flasch, LaRue Anderson, Jimmy Ferguson, Luther Fjelstad, Tommy Carlisle, and Orrin Pederson. Of this group only Pederson is a lineman, so prospects are that the Prowlers will be a veteran backfield running behind an inexperienced line.

With the season's opener, with Red Lake Falls, only eight days away, Coach Lindenmeyer has been sending a tentative 'first string' through light scrimmage. This lineup has had Don Berg and Orlin Gjernes, at the ends; Don Matheson and John Parbst, tackles, Don Michalski and Orrin Pederson, guards; John Dahlow, at center; and Luther Fjelstad, Eddie Flasch, Jim Ferguson, and LaRue Anderson, in the backfield.

An attractive schedule, with four home games, has been arranged. The Oct. 5th date is open, but if the conference championship hinges on an extra game Thief River will play Fosston on that date.

The schedule: Sept. 13, Red Lake Falls at Thief River Falls; Sept. 20, Crookston at Crookston; Sept. 27 East Grand Forks at Thief River Falls, Oct. 4, Bemidji at Bemidji; Oct. 11, Moorhead at Thief River Falls; Oct. 18, Warren at Thief River Falls; Oct. 25, open.

Voters of Pennington county, as well as throut the state, will go to the polls next Tuesday, September 10, to cast their ballots for their choice of candidates in the primary election. The Auditorium, as usual, will be the voting place for Thief River Falls voters, with the polls open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening.

On the official consolidated ballot, listing candidates for state office, voters must be careful to observe the law and not cast a split vote; otherwise the ballot will be thrown out and not counted. Hence the voter cannot select a United States senator in the Republican column and a governor in either the Farmer-Labor or Democratic column, or make any other mixed choices. It must be a straight vote throut.

At three o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 1, Miss Freda Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hanson of St. Hilaire, became the bride of Stanley Ekdal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ekdal of Kennedy. The nuptials were performed by Rev. R. N. Wiberg of the Mission Covenant church at a pretty home wedding at the Hanson residence. The single ring ceremony was used.

The living room in which the ceremony took place was decorated in pink and white and the vows were exchanged beneath a large wedding bell and a canopy of streamers.

Before the nuptials, Miss Judith Nyberg of Kennedy sang "Love Never Faileth". The bridal party entered as Miss Mirian Anderson of Kennedy played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. Following the speaking of the vows, the Misses Ivanette and Evelyn Thyren sang "All the Way the Saviour Leads Me", and later in the afternoon, Christopher Klea, accompanied at the piano by Roger Roy, played violin selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white silk mousseline-de-soie, fashioned with tight bodice and short puffed sleeves and full skirt. The veil was also floor length and was adorned with lilies of the valley, and her corsage contained white asters and white sweetpeas and asters.

The groom was attended by Roger Roy, cousin of the bride, and Verner Anderson of Roseau.

About fifty-five guests were entertained at a five o'clock luncheon, at which a large decorated wedding cake centered the table.

The bridal couple left that evening for the Black Hills and on their return will visit in the twin cities, after which they will reside at Kennedy. For going-away, the bride chose a navy blue alpaca frock with matching accessories.

PRESIDENT TURNS OVER DESTROYERS TO BRITISH NAVY

Gets Right to Erect Naval Bases on British Possessions in West

To an accompanying chorus of congressional approval and protest, President Roosevelt disclosed Tuesday that he was turning over 50 "over-age" American destroyers to Great Britain to bulwark that beleaguered country against the onslaught of Nazi Germany.

The United States is to receive, in turn, the right to construct a string of outlying naval and air bases extending from Newfoundland to South America.

Their chief value, the president declared, would be in keeping an overseas enemy away from America's front door.

The state department announced that it had received also a British pledge that in no event would the British fleet be sunk or surrendered to Germany. If driven out of European waters, it was said, the English ships of war would be sent abroad for the "defense of other parts of the empire."

The whole transaction, which Attorney General Jackson ruled did not require congressional action, was described by President Roosevelt, in a brief message notifying congress of what was being done as "an epochal and far-reaching act of preparation for continental defense in the fact of grave danger."

"This is the most important action in the reinforcement of our national defense that has been taken since the Louisiana purchase," Mr. Roosevelt added.

2 LOCAL VETERANS ARE RETAINED AS OFFICERS OF IWVA

Rowan Renamed Vice President and Dr. Hulbert Secretary

Frank Chittick of St. Boniface, Man., was elected president of the International War Veterans Alliance at the final business meeting of the annual convention in Crookston Monday. He will succeed Ben Allen of Winnipeg.

Other officers elected are Tom Rowan of Thief River Falls, vice president; Ed S. Pratt, Winnipeg, Canadian secretary, and Dr. A. R. Hulburt, Thief River Falls, United States secretary.

Mr. Rowan, who was in line for the presidency, had asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration in order to have a Canadian veteran fill the position when the next convention is held in Winnipeg in September, 1941. It was indicated that Thief River Falls will be given the opportunity to entertain the organization at its reunion in 1942.

Directors named are Dallas Kast, Crookston; C. D. Locklin, Grand Forks; Leonard Olson, Ada, and Joe Kise, Moorhead for the United States and C. R. Smith, Fred Oschard and Ernest Phillipson, Winnipeg, and Lorey Smith of Brandon for Canada. A. E. Olson of Winnipeg was elected a director to represent the American Legion in Canada.

Some 60 Canadians present for the convention had difficulty in crossing the international boundary, they reported, and many who had intended to come remained at home because of the difficulty in crossing the line. The Canadians returned to their homes Monday night following the conclusion of convention activities.

Approximately 300 war veterans mostly from North Dakota, Minnesota and Canada attended the three-day meeting. Two hundred were seated at the noon banquet at the Presbyterian church Sunday. They attended a baseball game in the afternoon and the final dance Monday night.

Thousands witnessed the convention parade Sunday afternoon and many attended the memorial services in Central park Sunday night. The Lincoln high school band of this city was a parade feature.

An Apology

TO THE VOTERS:

Being unable to meet all the voters, I am taking this means to let you know that I am a candidate for Clerk of Court at the Primary Election, Tuesday, Sept. 10th. Lacking the experience of campaigning for a public office, I perhaps passed up a number of voters due perhaps to the fact that I spent too much time with those I did come in contact with. Your vote and support will be appreciated, I assure you. If elected, I will try to serve you to the best of my ability. Unable to handle certain kinds of work, I am seeking this office as I am certain I can handle it and do my work well. Don't forget to vote and don't forget that I am a candidate for Clerk of Court.

Respectfully yours,

What does its COLOR mean?

The color of a diamond is one of the important qualities which determines its value.

Traditionally, a diamond is colorless—and called white, or more often blue-white. Tinges of yellow or brown decrease its worth. Most diamonds emit flashes of bluish "fire," but a diamond actually tinged with blue is a rarity.

We shall gladly show you how these slight differences in color affect the value of diamonds . . . and shall also explain the importance of cutting, the degree of perfection and carat weight in determining the value of the diamond you are seeking.

Tuesday is election day, your opportunity to register your opinion as to who the finalists should be in the big event that is to follow in November. This is one of the few countries of the world in which the citizen still exercises the right to vote as he pleases. If you were denied this right you would would resent it very much. Now that you have the privilege, exercise it. Vote Tuesday. Vote as you please but vote.

Now that the Federal government is directing its energies, and its expenditures, in the direction of national defense, our chances of securing favorable action on the Red Lake river project are less favorable than they otherwise would have been. The present prospects are not good. Under the circumstances it might be wise to consider a less ambitious program of channel improvement to be sponsored by the local communities. The Red Lakes are full to overflowing. The reservoir is no longer a reservoir and a heavy precipitation will cause a flood in the eastern end of the county where the river channel is so clogged with weeds and bars that it is taxed to capacity by even the present flow. While we are not qualified to speak with authority on such matters, it would seem that the circumstances would justify some immediate work on the channel up to the reservation line. It is a piece of work that the city and county could properly sponsor jointly. The problem deserves consideration.

Of interest to all of northwestern Minnesota is the collection of P. O. Fryklund of Roseau, which includes specimens of many native birds and animals as well as a most unusual group of relics of the Indian and pioneer period of this territory. The "Museum" is now housed in Roseau's fine new municipal building and is worth driving sixty miles to see. Collecting has been a lifetime hobby with Mr. Fryklund and a very worth while hobby it has been too.

Those citizens of Greenbush who composed and presented the opera "Wanunda and Wannaska" at the Pelan Battleground Park Sunday afternoon are deserving of a great deal of credit. It was an ambitious undertaking, and the fact that it was so successful speaks well for the talent of the community. It was a nice piece of work.

President Roosevelt assumed a lot of authority when he swapped fifty of the country's fighting ships for air and naval bases in the Atlantic but we are not offended by the transaction. It's all right with us if more aid is given to the countries that are opposing Hitler. The more obstacles there are placed in his way now the easier it is going to be for us to get along with him later on. Of course it isn't being neutral and maybe that's another reason why we like it so much.

After a year of war, the future of Europe is more uncertain than ever. We still are of the opinion that the battle of Britain will be just another battle and that the real struggle for supremacy will involve Russia. We cannot adjust ourselves to the idea that Germany and Russia are allies in good faith and if Hitler and Stalin are not clutching at each other's throats before long we will be very much surprised—and a little disappointed.

THE GRAND RAPIDS MEETING
(Duluth Herald)

Badly needed for years, and especially needed at this time, is such an assembly as the Northern Minnesota Conservation congress, which will meet at Grand Rapids Sept. 21 and 22 for the first time. Too often in the past Northern Minnesota has supplied sportsmen from the entire state and other states with fish and game but has not been able to make its wishes in conservation matters count for much. Southern Minnesota people or Twin Cities sportsmen whose total visits to this region have not aggregated more than a month or two have been able to dictate policies which are ludicrous in the eyes of men who have spent their whole lives in this region, studying its fish and animal life and trying to protect and increase the supplies of fish and game.

The principal reason for this seems to be the disunity of sentiment in this section on conservation matters. Northern Minnesota groups could be played off, one against the other, because conflicting demands canceled their influence.

The Conservation congress is intended to end this, to settle upon reasonable demands to which all Northern Minnesota can subscribe. The new conservation commissioner is open-minded and aware of many of our past grievances. We have a magnificent opportunity here. It should not be wasted.

LIFE'S TOO SHORT FOR THIS
(Wadena Pioneer-Journal)

Editors at the safety seminar in Duluth last week were informed that Minnesota's accident cost in 1939 amounted to 63 million dollars. This huge amount represents only the direct costs for wages lost, for medical expense, overhead insurance costs for injuries, property damage in motor vehicle and for fires. The citizens of Minnesota foot this bill—it's out of our pockets and there's nothing to show for it after we have paid for it. There's no way to recover the 63 millions, but we can work toward greater safety in our every day lives and reduce the number of accidents. Only through fewer accidents can Minnesota cut down this figure. Right now indications are that it will cost Minnesotans nearly as much during 1940. Every clear thinking resident of the state should make it a part of his daily life to exercise greater care whether it is in driving a car or crawling out of a slippery bath tub,—and the result will be that Minnesota can cut its huge accident cost in half. Life is too short for all of us to be digging into our pocketbooks to pay a 63 million dollar accident bill every year.

BUFFALO FOR NORTHERN FORESTS
(Fort Arthur News-Chronicle)

A reminder that a few years ago there was strong agitation in certain quarters for the placing of a number of buffalo in the northern parts of Thunder bay district is contained in a report by Hon. H. C. Nixon, provincial secretary and minister of game and fisheries, after a visit to Burwash, which is in the eastern part of North Ontario.

Mr. Nixon reports that some buffalo moved there last September from their natural range in Northern Alberta, as an experiment, appear already to have become acclimatized. He thinks they may in time replace moose as Northern Ontario's big game attraction. Imported elk, says Mr. Nixon, are also doing well in their new environment.

When the 20 buffalo, 2-year-old animals, were placed on their own at Burwash last September, game experts doubted if they would take to the rock and bush conditions, which differ from the flats and grasses of the prairies to which the animal is common.

However, it is stated, there were no losses during the winter. The herd fed by its own foraging efforts.

"There is no question whatever but that they can survive in the northern bush and will in time replace the fast disappearing moose as the big game of the north," said Mr. Nixon.

This may serve to revive the movement which failed a few years ago to induce the authorities to place buffalo in the woods north of Port Arthur and Fort William. If they can live near Burwash, they can live here. If there is any difference in conditions it should favor the animal, which is, by nature, hardy, strong and capable of self preservation under difficult and rigorous conditions.

WHERE IS THE GOLD?
(St. Cloud Times)

There is a lot of speculation going on now as to what has become of the gold of the European countries that have been overrun by Hitler's army. This especially applies to France which was supposed to hold a very substantial volume of this precious metal. The thing that foreign correspondents have been trying to find out is whether the Germans found this French gold when they captured that country.

At the present time they are guessing that as the German army advanced Belgium's gold was hurried over to Paris and as the invading armies marched on to Paris the French and Belgium gold was gotten out of France and sent away. Some of it is supposed to have gone to South America but more to the United States and Canada.

Years ago graphic stories were printed depicting underground chambers in Paris in which France stored its gold and which were to be flooded in the event of an enemy attack. The chances are, however, that the gold was moved out of Paris before the government left there. It is significant that the Germans, since the occupation of France, have made no boasts of the gold capture.

It is also known that at the time of the German invasion the United States government purchased a big cargo of French gold and brought it to America on an American warship, thus saving the great expense that is always involved in the transportation of gold.

Holland also had a considerable store of gold but it is known that it was sent to England as soon as the German invasion of Holland became a possibility. Now that England is threatened it is more than likely that the Netherlands' gold has now been moved to this side of the Atlantic along with a great deal of England's gold.

With the development of so many good graveled roads out in the country, every intersection has become a traffic hazard, especially when there is a field of tall corn growing right up to the corner. It certainly slows down one's speed but the only safe rule is to approach every intersection with caution. The only safe place to disregard intersections is on an arterial highway—and that isn't any too safe!—Morris Tribune.

Plummer Wins League Playoffs Here Sunday

Playing errorless ball behind the six-hit pitching of Mortrude, and taking advantage of sluggish play by the locals, the Plummer Red Sox won the championship of the Northern Minnesota baseball league by defeating Thief River in the third and deciding game of the playoff series, by a 4 to 1 score.

Plummer garnered a run in the first inning after two men had been retired. St. Marie bounced a single inside the third base line, went to second on a passed ball, and scored when Louie Benson sent a ground single between short and third. The Red Sox increased their lead to 2 to 0 by sending a tally across the plate in the fifth inning. Hofius was out on a fly to Lee. St. Marie then doubled into deep left field. Benson grounded to Lee, who chose to make the play on St. Marie going into third; but Roy made a high throw, and the runners were safe. Mortrude lifted a high fly to the right field foul line that fell for a single, with St. Marie scoring and Benson going to second. On a double steal, Benson went third and Mortrude to second. Fremling sent a hopper to Lee, who whipped the ball to the plate, trapping Benson, and on the run-down Louie was tagged out. Jasper took a called third strike to retire the side.

The last half of the sixth saw the locals rack up their only score. Cockrell was out, Schoenauer to Jaspers. Rasmusson looped a single into left field, Jaranson was tossed out, pitcher to first, Rasmusson moving down to second. Rasmusson stole third, and scored when Sahl poled out a right field double. Wally DuChamp closed out the inning by grounding to the pitcher.

Plummer collected some game insurance by marking up scores in the eighth and ninth innings. Fremling making the circuit in the eighth on Sahl's fumble of Lefty's slow roller to second on a passed ball, to third on an infield out, and scoring when Sahl's curve ball went into the dirt for a wild pitch. Plummer registered their final run in the ninth. Lee fumbled Hofius' ground ball. St. Marie's single sent Hofius to second, and Hofius scored on Mortrude's sharp single to center.

Feeble stick-work on the part of the locals, and fine defensive play by the Plummer infield, and smart pitching by Mortrude, pinched off whatever rallies Thief River got under way. Mortrude mixed up his stuff to such an extent that the local batters were off balance during the entire game, and only a couple of times did a Thief River hitter connect solidly with the ball.

NORDINE IS AGAIN CHAMPION IN R.R.V. GOLF TOURNAMENT

Wins from Ernotte Hiller in Final Round at Crookston Monday

Jim Nordine, Karlstad golfer, but playing as a member of the local golf club, regained the Red River Valley golf championship by trouncing Crookston's Ernotte Hiller in the finals match played over the Crookston course Monday. Jimmy had previously won the crown in 1938.

Both golfers shot sub-par golf over the first nine, with Nordine carding a five-under-par 31 to take a 4 up lead on Hiller, who shot a 35. Jimmy closed out the match on the 15th green, halving the hole with a 3, and winning the title by a 4 up and 3 to play score.

An indication of Jimmy's championship golf is shown by the play over the first seven holes. Hiller shot one-under-par golf over these holes, yet he found himself five down to Nordine's sensational golf. Over these seven holes Jimmy had four birdies and an eagle.

Nordine	344	333	353	31
(In)
Hiller	444	633		24
Nordine	444	543		24

Final Batting Averages

Getting but one hit in 11 trips to the plate, and dropping from a .383 average to .328, Johnny Jaranson lost the Northern Minnesota league batting average leadership to Clarence Rasmusson. Rasmusson in his 11 trips to the rubber collected 4 hits, to lift his average one point, to .358. Arv. Mortrude's pitching in the playoffs raised hob with the locals' averages. Hemmy Sahl, who raised his average to .294, and Rasmusson were the only two local batters to lift their averages, and as a result the team average dropped from .280 to .261.

SPORTS Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

Ole Ness Joins 'two-in-one' Club

Ole Ness, the Great Northern's Ole, while fishing with Al Berge and Judge Lincoln Arnold in Bass lake last Monday afternoon, had the unusual experience, casting a white bassoreno plug, of catching two bass on one cast. That feat makes Ole a member of the 'two-in-one' club, which is quite an exclusive organization. Ole, Al, and the Judge had fine luck in this lake, which is about due north of Clearwater lake, in the Balm lake region, for they came home with 16 black bass. I wonder if this Bass lake is the lake where Len Freed had been doing his fishing? Len has been making some fine bass catches, came in with a four-pounder the other day, in a lake near the south line of the reservation.

That fishing trip Henry Ose and I took last Thursday, to Balm lake, wasn't so hot. We came back with seven wall-eyes, and only two or three of those were of any size. They had been biting until the day we came there, that's what we were told, and that's the guff they hand you every time. There perhaps are fish in the lake, but not so many as they would have you believe. The lake is quite small and it has been fished hard this year. But there are reasons why I'm sour on Balm lake; first, the weather last Thursday was miserable for fishing; second, our bait minnows were too small; third, the boat we had was just one stage above a raft.

Hiller Selects Local Golfers

Ernotte Hiller, Crookston's ranking golfer, as a prelude to last week end's Red River Valley golf tournament, selected an all-Valley golf team, and three members of the local club were on this team. Here are Hiller's local selections, and his comments, "Drives—Jimmy Nordine's long, consistent drives are remindful of the drives of the national favorite, Ben Hogan. Chip shots—H. O. Chommie of Thief River Falls, who compensates for his shorter drives with his tricks around the green. Putting honors go to Vic Jung, also of Thief River Falls. His putts find the cup with miraculous consistency."

Plummer League Champions

That was a deserved victory that the Plummer Red Sox won last Sunday, even though the local team did not play with their usual spark. And now the Red Sox go into their semi-final game, with Eldred, which will be played at Plummer next Sunday afternoon. A win over Eldred would put the Plummer team within one game of the state tournament at Shakopee. Tournament rules permit a team to add four players, from the league, to their squad and Plummer has chosen Hemmy Sahl, pitcher, and Wally DuChamp, outfielder, from the Thief River team; Woody Almquist, from St. Hilaire; and catcher Art Sandland, from Oklee. The addition of catcher Sandland to the Plummer team will release Louie Benson for pitching duties. Louis, who's been Plummer's regular catcher, is one of the league's finest pitchers; but with Benson on the mound Plummer would have to find a place for Arv Mortrude, perhaps sending him to first base. Mortrude's hitting is needed in the Plummer lineup.

The baseball season ended on a happy note when Chuck Dostal and Plummers' Maurice Page shook hands. They had been chinning at each other all year, but after the final game Sunday they shook hands and engaged in some mutual admiration conversation. They had tears in their eyes when they parted.

Diamondball tonight

From all reports that colored D-ball team, the Ghosts, that plays a team of city league all-stars under the lights at the Fair Grounds tonight, as a fast-stepping outfit. Six of their members, the first six batters in their lineup, are hitting over .350, with their leadoff man, Adams, clouting at a .420 average. But in addition to being fine D-ball players they are reputed to be excellent entertainers, and they put on a 'shadow' ball act that is something to see.

RECREATION HIGHLIGHTS

The beach is opened and life guards are on duty from 1 o'clock until 8 o'clock.

Kick-ball teams are being organized at the Eastside park and Tindolph Park.

The Arena is open each day from 1 to 6 and on Wednesday and Friday nights from 7 to 10. You will find many things to do in the puppet theatre. There will be a show [illegible] p. m. This week's production is "Jack and the Bean-stalk".

Be sure to send your children to these activities and come yourself.

Candidates may file for the posts until September 17, and the examinations will be conducted September 28. HARTZ AND KIEWEL OUTFITS IN D-BALL FINALS ON FRIDAY

Two Teams are Winners in the Semi-finals Finished Tuesday

The defending champions, Hartz, and Kiewel's will meet in a finals game tomorrow night to decide the city diamondball championship for 1940. Kiewel's won their way into the finals by edging out Bridgeman's 3 to 2, in a well-played game last Thursday night; while Hartz took the other finals spot by defeating Land O' Lakes, in a ragged game, 12 to 9, Tuesday night.

Last Thursday's game saw Bridgeman's Ham Myhrer and Kiewel's Gordy Kaushagen hook up in the best pitching duel of the season, and only Paul Dahl's muff of Heinie Waag's fly in the first half of the 7th inning, with two men out, and the score deadlocked, allowing two scores to cross the plate, gave Kiewel's the decision.

Tuesday night's semi-final game was a typical Land O'Lakes vs. Hartz battle. Hartz playing with a re-vamped lineup that saw first baseman Howard Hoium playing in center field, and catcher Clarence Offerdahl in left field, had considerable trouble before they came out with their 12 to 9 win. Both teams committed numerous errors, with the result that most of the game's runs were unearned.

The summaries of the semi-finals:

Thursday, Aug. 29th.	R.	H.	E.
Kiewel's	3	5	2
Bridgeman's	2	3	2

Batteries—Kaushagen and Bergstrom; H. Myhrer and Johnson.

Tuesday, Sept. 3rd
Land O'Lakes	9	10	5
Hartz	12	16	5

Batteries—Sande and Bakke; Ness and G. Langlie.

Work Is Started on New Red Lake Falls Bridge

Construction of the new bridge across the Clearwater river at Red Lake Falls got under way with Stanley Michalsky, superintendent for the Minneapolis Bridge company, in charge of the work. The bridge, being erected under contract with the state highway department, will be 244 feet in length and will cost $89,456, including 1.6 miles of grading. E. W. Johnson is the engineer representing the highway department on the project.

City D-Ball Team Meets Colored Ghosts Tonight

Manager Ole Ness will send a team of city league all-stars against the colored Ghosts in an exhibition diamondball game under the lights on the fair grounds diamond tonight. Manager Ness is undecided as to his starting pitcher, having three chuckers from whom to make a choice, but it is expected that Hartz' Al Ness will work the opening innings, with Ham Myhrer and Gordy Kaushagen in reserve. The game will give local fans an opportunity to judge the caliber of diamondball that is played in this locality, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand at game time.

Receipts at State Fair $40,000 Below Last Year

Minnesota state fair receipts will run approximately $40,000 less than last year while expenses were $30,000 higher, Raymond A. Lee, executive secretary of the state fair board, announced following the end of the big 10-day exposition Monday. "All our reports are not yet in", Lee explained, "but we can estimate now that receipts will be about $40,000 less than the $321,000 total for 1939. Considering the weather we had during most of the fair we think this is quite remarkable.

CITE REGULATIONS FOR DUCK HUNTING STARTING OCT. 1ST

State Game Department Says Shooting Permitted at Sunrise

Ducks may be hunted longer this year, from sunrise to 4:00 P. M., and kept in possession for 20 days instead of ten at the close of the season. The woodcock hunting season was cut in half and the mourning dove season reduced from 45 to 15 days. Otherwise Minnesota hunters find hunting regulations similar to regulations in the past.

According to federal proclamation the annual hunting season for ducks, geese and coots will be open this year from October 1 to November 29, both dates inclusive from sunrise to 4:00 P. M. each day.

Jacksnipes may be hunted from sunrise to sunset, October 1 to November 29; rails and gallinules, sunrise to sunset, September 16 to November 30 and woodcock and mourning doves from September 16 to September 30, sunrise to sunset.

Relative to daily bag limits, ten ducks in the aggregate of all kinds of which not more than three of any one, or more than three combined may be of the following species — canvasback, redhead, bufflehead, and rudy duck. Possession limits not to exceed 20 in the same ratio.

Geese may be taken not to exceed three per day or six in possession. Daily bag limits for rails and gallinules not to exceed 15 at one time, coots 25, jacksnipes 15, mourning doves 12 and possession limits not greater than daily limit. For the woodcock 4 per day and not more than 8 in possession.

Federal Land Bank Tells of Findings in Minnesota Farm Land Foreclosures

Out of 115 mortgage foreclosures recommended by directors of national farm loan associations in Minnesota, in which the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul halted foreclosure proceedings a year ago to make a complete study of all such cases, all but seven had unpaid taxes that had been delinquent from one to six years—or else had been paid by the land bank—while most of the owner-operators had a heavy chattel mortgage indebtedness and additional miscellaneous debt, indicating it was unlikely they could ever pay out, it is shown in a study recently completed.

The study which was begun at that time has gone into details of each case minutely and has just been embraced in a report made available to the directors of the land bank.

Encouraging, is the conclusion that with new types of assistance available, foreclosure can possibly be avoided in 51 per cent of the cases of Minnesota owner-operators included in the study. In the case of farms operated by tenants it is believed that about one-third of the pending foreclosures can be avoided.

DISCOVERS FORTY SPUDS UNDER SINGLE PLANT

Minnesota Lake—While digging in her garden Mrs. Hattie Holzmann found forty potatoes under a single plant. She said that when she came to this particular plant the potatoes fairly popped out of the ground there were so many. The largest one was a little bigger than average and the rest were all undersized.

Dangerous Fire Hazard Cited East of Warroad

While seasonal rains have lessened the danger of forest fires generally throughout Minnesota there is a strip of country extending from Warroad to the Superior National Forest where precipitation has been so light that the fire hazard is extremely high. This peculiar situation is strengthened by the fact that a heavy frost last week killed all the vegetation. A. E. Pimley, in charge of fire control in Minnesota forests is concentrating on intensive protection for this area.

Patrol Chief Urges Extra Driving Care as Schools Reopen

Elden Rowe, chief of the state highway patrol, has issued a special appeal for extraordinary precaution to protect the lives of the more than one-half million grade school and high school students who are starting back to school this week.

Chief Rowe urged motorists to be on the alert especially during the first few days of "back to school excitement," exercise extra precaution at school crossings and in the vicinity of schools and playgrounds, and be particularly thoughtful of the younger children who "don't know the rules, so give them a break."

He also appealed to parents to take a few moments time each day to instruct the children of the dangers of playing on roadways or hurrying across highways or street intersections, and in the rules for pedestrian safety, especially walking to the left of the road facing oncoming traffic.

The highway patrol chief gave a special warning to motorists to observe the school bus stop law which requires all motorists to come to a complete stop when meeting or overtaking a school bus that has halted to take on or discharge passengers, and wait until the loading or unloading is completed before proceeding on the highway.

Dr. Theodore Blegen New Dean of Education at 'U'

A man whose specialty is the study of Norwegian immigration to the United States, who is editor of the publications of the Norwegian-American Historical association and was for many years superintendent of the Minnesota Historical Society, is the new dean of the Graduate School in the University of Minnesota, Dr. Theodore Blegen.

In addition to the many interests that knit him to the life of the state and give him special knowledge of it, Dean Blegen is the first head of the Graduate school to have received his Ph. D. degree from the unit he now heads, having become a Doctor of Philosophy at Minnesota in 1925.

Dean Blegen succeeds the late Royal N. Chapman, who returned a year ago from the University of Hawaii to take over the Graduate School post when Dr. Guy Stanton Ford left it to become president of the University of Minnesota. Dean Chapman died suddenly within a few weeks after he took office.

GETS CAUGHT ON STRINGER

Detroit Lakes—Olaf Sanstad of the Lake Eunice Lodge went fishing one evening recently and caught a sunfish which he put on the stringer. Coming off the lake that evening Mr. Sanstad came to take the fish and noticed a large fish alongside it. He soon discovered that the fish was attached to his stringer. The fish, a walleyed pike weighing over six pounds, gobbled down the sunfish, at the same time automatically stringing himself.

Urge Ten Per Cent Slash in State and Local Taxes

A resolution requesting a 10 per cent reduction in state and local taxes to make way for defense taxation was adopted Thursday at a statewide meeting of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association at Brainerd.

The group meeting in its regular business session, with delegates representing 64 Minnesota counties, named James P. McDonnell of Buffalo, president; D. L. Crimmins of Redwood Falls and C. D. Tearse of Winona, vice presidents; E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis, treasurer; and Norman A. Borgen of Excelsior, secretary.

Other resolutions adopted were: Every possible means be employed by local and state governing bodies to reduce present tax burdens as well as to institute methods for a greater value from tax dollar; a cash basis be enacted in local governments to eliminate evils in overspending, borrowing on future income, shifting of funds, and present tendencies for many units to invite financial trouble by spending far above income.

Forestry Division Is Making Logging Film

"New Era in Minnesota Logging" is the name of a colored motion picture now in the process of production by the state conservation department. The sequence on summer operations in the spruce swamps near Big Falls have just been completed. Harold Searls is production director and Ralph Woolsey movie photographer for the department. They will return as soon as snow and cold weather change this area sufficiently for scenes of winter operations. The timber cutting on both private and state lands is being done under the supervision of the Minnesota division of forestry. State foresters determine which trees shall be cut and which shall be saved for future growth.

BOY BITTEN BY SKUNK

Elgin. — Health Commissioner Dr. Thompson of Racine, Wisc., issued a warning to all residents to keep their dogs tied up to prevent spread of rabies and possible loss of human life. It has been reported that a skunk, which was clubbed to death after it attacked a small boy north of Racine, had the disease. Many skunks and other wild animals are infected and dogs often spread rabies.

Corn Tour

Let's quit work for a half day and go look at our neighbors' corn fields.

In connection with our Corn Crop contest, we plan on making a tour Friday afternoon, Sept. 6, starting from our place at 1:30 P. M. sharp.

We believe this will be an interesting and perhaps educational trip.

There has been a great deal of interest shown in corn growing for many years and this year perhaps more than ever with at least a greater acreage.

The ones who have entered the contest are widely spread and we may not be able to visit all fields, but will see as many as possible in the afternoon of Friday, September 6th.

We hope many will join in the tour even if not entered in the contest, and while we cannot provide transportation for all we will at least have extra cars for quite a few, so try and come along.

The date and time of awarding the prizes will be announced later. Some time late this fall when we get all through with our rush work, we will meet in our store some evening and have a real corn meeting with some coffee and home movies to go with it.

Diesel Plowing Demonstration

Arrangements are being made for a McCormick-Deering Diesel Track-Tractor demonstration to take place on the Gust Hallberg farm about a mile east of town for Friday, September 13th, starting at 10 A. M. in the forenoon and at 2 P. M. in the afternoon.

The new McCormick-Deering T-D-9 Diesel Track-Tractor will be used pulling five and seven bottom plows and record kept of fuel used and cost per acre.

It will be worth your time to witness this demonstration if you are at all interested in power economy.

TAX ASSOCIATION REVIEWS SAVING MADE BY STATE

Says Cut in Operating Cost Will Run Close to $10,000,000

Evidences of reduction in spending and improvements in management of departments of the state government during the last two years were reported this week in a summary of financial changes in state administration made public by the Citizens' Tax Relief Association in St. Paul.

John F. Scott, president of the association, reporting results of a study of many of the major state departments, said the full savings that have been made in operating costs will run close to $10,000,000 a year when records for the biennium are complete and listed improvements in many lines. Among the improvements he reported are:

"The state debt was cut $8,890,505 for the fiscal year ending July 1st, 1940.

"The number of state employees has been reduced approximately 25%. Total payrolls of all state departments were $2,555,627 less in 1939 than in 1938.

"The new plan of financial control, set up to require departments to live within their income and prevent the incurring of deficits, resulted in a reduction of $1,200,000 in budgets below amounts appropriated for the fiscal year just ended and so saved taxpayers that much.

"Savings of more than $1,000,000 annually have been effected in the highway department through elimination of employees who were not needed, reduction in equipment rental and by other economies, making it possible for more of the state's road dollars to go into roads.

"New regulations consolidating state purchasing, introduction of open, competitive bidding and improved buying methods have made savings estimated at $1,000,000 annually in the cost of supplies for the state.

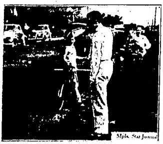
"Cost of operating the unemployment and compensation program and the state employment service was approximately $300,000 less in 1939 than in 1938.

"The cost of administering state relief during the last twelve months was $175,000 compared to $250,000 during the previous year."

Mr. Scott said the report was prompted by the feeling that citizens should be acquainted with the improvements being made and should co-operate with and support state officials in making further advancements.

About all that man has learned in the past 25 years is how to go faster, work less, spend more, and die quicker.

TAKING HIS PUNISHMENT



Mpls. Star-Journal

William H. Smith (with the megaphone) and Marshal George T. Weber of the village of Edina are shown above at a busy intersection where Smith is shouting speed warnings to motorists. It seems that Smith was tagged for driving at 39 miles an hour, and fired by action of the constables, took a stance on the road outside of town warning motorists of the speed trap. When the facts were brought out at Smith's trial on the speeding charge, the justice decided Smith's idea a good one. So he stayed a five-day jail sentence on condition Smith act as "warner" to speeders between 5 and 6 P. M.

Geo. Lommen Criticizes Elmer Benson for Filing

"Elmer Benson violated a promise made to the Farmer-Labor conventions in Rochester and Brainerd when he filed for U. S. Senator," State Senator George H. Lommen, Farmer-Labor candidate for the U. S. Senate, told a meeting Thursday in Faribault.

At the Rochester Farmer-Labor convention in March Benson said: "I am not a candidate for public office. And I want you to believe me."

"I believed him," Senator Lommen said, "and, when my liberal friends assured me it was my right to file for the United States Senate, I did so. I was disappointed when Benson, later filed against me.

"We who have been pioneers in the Farmer-Labor movefent and loyal to its aims," said Senator Lommen, "simply cannot understand why a left-wing ticket has been formed with Mr. Benson at its head."

AN EASY-TO-PREPARE LUNCHEON DISH

We women are always on the look-out for easy luncheon dishes—something nice enough to serve to company—and yet easy to prepare. And we like it to be a recipe we can easily expand for a crowd—or cut for a group of four. That's the kind of a dish I'm going to tell you about now. A friend out in California wrote me about it. She said it always scores a big triumph with her friends. She simply calls it Cheese Biscuits with Creamed Tuna and Mushrooms. And this is the way she makes it:

CHEESE BISCUITS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
3 tsp. baking powder
4 tbsp. shortening
½ cup grated yellow American cheese
¾ cup milk

Sift the flour, salt and baking powder together. Cut in the shortening with a pastry blender or 2 knives until it is like meal. Blend in the grated cheese.

Add the milk to make a soft dough, then round up on a lightly floured, cloth-covered board. Knead lightly to smooth up. Roll out ½ to 1 inch thick, as desired.

Bake 8 minutes in a very hot oven, 475° F.

SAUCE IS EASIEST YET

Instead of mixing together the flour and butter to make a white sauce. This friend simply opens a can of mushroom soup. She heats it in the top of a double boiler—and adds the tuna in the size chunks one usually adds to a white sauce.

TO MAKE TUNA EVEN MORE LIKE CHICKEN

And by the way—have you ever tried putting your tuna fish in a big sieve and running boiling hot water through it? This takes away the oil and makes the tuna seem even more like chicken. Many women tell me they do this.

Of course, there is no reason why you cannot substitute left-over cooked chicken for the tuna fish in this recipe.

TO SIMPLIFY RECIPE STILL MORE

You can simplify the recipe still more, of course, by doing as my friend in California does—use a prepared biscuit mix for the biscuits. All you'll need to do then is add the liquid and the cheese to the mixture in the package—according to the directions printed right on the side of the package.

1 of Every 50 Drivers Has Traffic Accident in First Half of Year

An ominous warning against the toll of heedless driving was sounded this week by a state highway department release showing that at least one out of every 50 drivers in Minnesota was involved in a motor vehicle accident during the past half year.

Motor vehicle accident statistics for Minnesota show that 7,168 motor vehicle accidents in traffic were reported for the first six months of the year, causing injury to 8,871 persons and bringing death to 224.

Involved in these reported accidents were 12,751 of the approximately 1,000,000 persons estimated to be the number of active holders of drivers licenses. This means that one out of every 80 regular drivers of motor vehicles was involved in an accident of sufficient seriousness to be reported to the highway department, in compliance with the compulsory accident reporting law. This law requires that all drivers involved in mishaps causing death, injury, or property damage in excess of $50 must make a report of the accident to the commissioner of highways.

Inasmuch as the total number of accidents far exceeds those which require reporting, the highway department concludes that the estimate that one out of every 50 active drivers has been involved in an accident since January 1 is an ultra-conservative conjecture.

N. W. School Teacher Resigns His Position

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. McVeety will, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall, be filled well in advance of the opening of school on September 30. The two other positions in agricultural engineering at the Northwest School are now held by A. M. Foker and A. Kitz Crawford.

The London Times recently reminded readers contemplating a visit to Sweden that that country's royal family is so democratic, tourists dining in Stockholm's hotels frequently find members of the king's family at nearby tables.

Homemakers Need to Know Moths and Beetles

Although there are three types of moths that infest woolen clothing, only the webbing clothes moth appears to go out of its way to do damage. The small gray and spotted moths flying around lights in warm weather usually are outdoor species.

In a new Extension Folder 89, published by the Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service, H. H. Shepard, entomologist at University Farm, St. Paul, discusses in detail habits of clothes moths and carpet beetles and control of these pests.

Included in the folder is information on insecticides, storage of woolen goods, protection of furniture and rugs, and fumigation.

Information on control of both the clothes moth and carpet beetle may be obtained by writing the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul, or calling at the county agent's office for a copy of Folder 89.

A Letter to Republican Voters of the 9th Minnesota District

As a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in Congress from the Ninth Minnesota District I am writing direct to you. With fifteen counties and 110,000 voters the district is so large that it makes it impossible for me to meet all the voters personally. I would like very much to get acquainted with every one.

You naturally want to know who I am; what my ideas are on national policies and what my qualifications are as a candidate. You are entitled to that information, so far as I can give it to you in this brief letter.

I was born at Perham, Ottertail county, and am fifty-nine years old. Grandparents were among original homesteaders in the county. Butler township bears the family name. Lived on the farm until my fourteenth year, when my father, the late Steve Butler, was elected county treasurer and the family moved to Fergus Falls.

Graduated from high school in Fergus Falls. Completed a course in commercial law and bookkeeping at Park Region Luther College. Graduated with degree B. A. from Hamline University. Studied theology in Omaha Seminary.

I live in my own home in Fergus Falls. For several years continued to serve two rural Presbyterian churches in Maplewood and Maine townships in Ottertail county. All the members are farmers. Have long been interested in the farmers' problems as a rural pastor and as a farm owner. For many years a member of the Farm Bureau and in sympathy with their legislative program. Have complete care of three farms that I own, located in Norman, Ottertail and Pennington counties.

Now a member of the Minnesota House of Representatives. Elected two years ago, getting 12,519 votes in the county.

Supported all farm legislation in last state legislature. J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, said "Minnesota farmers fared better at the last session of the legislature than at any previous session in twenty years."

I favor an adequate national defense. Uphold the traditional foreign policy given us by George Washington—of neutrality, non-intervention and no entangling alliances.

Back to business methods in administration of public affairs, conserve the public credit. We must arrest the tendency to centralize power in Washington. Power must come from the people if we are to continue a democracy. No substitute has yet been found to take the place of old fashioned American fair play, honesty, common sense, civil and religious liberty.

A sensible reciprocal trade treaty as a real American tariff policy after the present war is over would be free trade only with nations having the same wage scale, social and cost standard as the United States. We must protect American labor, industry and agriculture against the competitive merchandise of nations which sweat their labor.

An adequate system of old age pension. The government should recognize this responsibility due to the aged and it should be free of any implication that it is a form of charity.

Fairness to every agricultural producer. The American farmer must have cost production, and the home markets. Provision must be made for soil conservation, reclamation and a safe and sound rural credit policy.

Yours truly,

COLVIN G. BUTLER
Fergus Falls, Minn.

Charles O. Herman
Republican Candidate for CONGRESS

IN FAVOR OF—

Making such changes necessary in the AAA Farm Program that the small farmer may receive the benefits which were intended for him. It is well to remember that it is the number of farmers in a community that make it prosperous and not the size of the farms.

Protecting the American farmer against heavy imports of foreign agricultural products and therefore he is opposed to the Reciprocal Trade agreement in its present form.

A sound and adequate National Old Age Assistance Plan.

Adequate preparedness for this Country for home defense.

During the past two years Mr. Herman has given the matter of legislation concerning farm problems his earnest attention, and in this connection has made two trips to Washington at his own expense to present a plan to Congress that would give the smaller farmers more benefit from the AAA program, this being evidence that he is energetic and sincere in his efforts to promote the welfare of the farming industry.

Congress
For A Business Administration Elect A Businessman

Today almost everyone agrees that the United States needs a business administration, and the logical place to look for men to do this is in the ranks of private business. Voters of the 9th Congressional district can contribute to establishing this kind of businesslike government by voting for Earl M. Saul, Republican candidate for Congress from the 9th Congressional district.

Mr. Saul, the owner of the Saul Motor Company of Crookston and Pelican Rapids, is considered by those who know him as a successful businessman in his own right. In announcing his candidacy he is making his first bid for public office, prompted by a strong conviction that his business experience can be of material assistance in helping to put our government on a business basis. Mr. Saul's contacts with people of every walk of life in the district give him a sound understanding of their problems. He will appreciate your vote and support.

Mr. Saul is 46 years of age, is married and has two children. If you feel our government should be run like business, send a businessman to help run it. Vote for Earl M. Saul, Republican candidate for Congress from the 9th Congressional District.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT—Prepared and published in behalf of Ole O. Sageng by A. J. Hanson, Dalton, Minnesota, Secretary, Sageng for Congress Volunteer Committee and charged at regular rates.

OLE O. SAGENG
Candidate
FOR CONGRESS

To the Women Voters of the Ninth Congressional District:

When Ole Sageng began his long service in the Minnesota Legislature, the women of the state, in respect to their right to vote were classed with "persons convicted of treason or felony and persons under guardianship or insane."

This situation rebelled against the young farmer-legislator's sense of reason and justice. At once he began a legislative crusade to give the women of Minnesota the right to vote. That contest lasted for nearly 20 years and was, without a doubt, one of the most bitter and protracted legislative struggles in the history of the state. It subjected Senator Sageng as its recognized leader to more abuse and vituperation than he encountered in any other contest during his 18 years of legislative service.

Today Ole Sageng is a Republican Candidate for Congress. He will if nominated and elected, continue his advocacy of just and fair laws in Washington with the same courage and constancy which marked his labors in St. Paul. He appeals especially to the women voters for their goodwill and active support in this campaign. That support would remove all doubt about his nomination and greatly strengthen the party in the important contest which confronts Ninth District Republicans in November.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

What Kind of Protection Should You Give Your Child?

In this discussion it seems appropriate to ask ourselves certain questions with added counter parts. Do we let our children do everything they can safely do for themselves that go toward building strong independent characters; or do we force them to stay tied to "mama's apron strings" by fighting their battles, making excuses for them and constantly helping them meet life's situations which they themselves should meet? Do we permit them to explore their surroundings in a natural way; or do we isolate and otherwise shut them off from natural associations with other children and constructive experiences that would aid their development? Do our children have an opportunity to live their own lives; or do they have to carry out what we wished we had done, forgetting that our children are persons in and of themselves, living in a world much different from our own world of childhood? Do we give our children the kind of love and security that will make them self reliant and respectful; or do we inoculate them with a "mushy" love that embarrasses them before their friends and makes them feel that we are sentimental fools?

The happiness and success of any child lies in a balance of two strong desires; one to be dependent and the other to be independent. In other words he wants a place of refuge or security, generally thought of as the home, where he can come to air his problems among individuals he respects and trusts. He likes to feel dependent upon them in times of need. If he gains an understanding insight into his troubles and is taught to solve them in light of proper social standards, he is well on his way to complete living. Contrarily, if he receives sympathy to the point of figuring others are unjust, he is well on the road to a "sour grapes" social existence.

There is nothing which gives children as well as adults, a feeling of self confidence as accomplishments that bring worthy recognition from others. Here again these performances must have the right social direction. A child can become over confident to the point where he is shunned and avoided or under confident to the point where he is shoved around and loses completely his self-identity. Either extreme is to be avoided.

As a guide to us in the training of our children we might observe them at play with other children. Do Jackie and Martha share their part of responsibility without grumbling? Do they stand up for their rights when right? Do they take defeat without serious aftermath or complaints? If they fall short of these standards and many others too numerous to mention here, we had better take stock of our methods of child training, in view of their individual natures and help them help themselves to better life adjustment. Remember, at birth a child is born neither good nor bad - that depends largely upon us.

Burnquist Studies Law Regarding Appointment of Lundeen Successor

In anticipation of a request for a formal ruling, Attorney General J. A. A. Burnquist and several aides embarked on an exhaustive study of state and federal laws Tuesday afternoon and planned to confer with Washington authorities this week-end on how to fill the vacancy created by the death of U. S. Senator Ernest Lundeen. The state's statutes clearly gives the governor power to appoint a successor to Senator Lundeen, Burnquist explained, but the question confronting him is whether that provision is not in contravention of the 17th amendment of the United States constitution which gives that right to the people.

BEARS STOP AT BAR FOR BEER

Mankato.—August J. Schulte, proprietor of Schulte's Bar, was worried, for he was not exactly sure how to take care of the two customers he had standing at his bar. The customers, a couple of black bears, were hot from riding around in their trailer and then wanted beer. Beer they got after their owner assured the dubious Schulte that they were really a couple of well-behaved citizens.

Greeks Had Explanation

The fact that, because of the rotation of the earth upon its axis, the sun appears to move across the sky, was the cause of considerable speculation among the ancients. Some thought that when the sun sank into the ocean the god Vulcan waited for it in his boat, then rowed all night through the dark northern world that the orb might be released from the east the following morning. The Greeks believed that Helios, the sun god, drove across the sky every day in a chariot of gold, to be followed by his sister, Selene, the moon-goddess, in her chariot of silver at night.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dear Editor:

May I have a few words in your paper. We have had a dry summer here. We farmers along Red Lake river have all our hay cut, but now we don't know how we are going to save the hay stacks, the river is flooding over the banks. They came from Thief River Falls with the river mower and cut the grass from the outlet to Neptune in the river, and left the feet of it through Hickory township, and flooded us. So I was wondering how they in Thief River Falls would like to pay for the damage the water is doing. I have never seen such a fool thing, to cut the grass from the outlet and not cut it all the way from River Valley and up river.

Mr. Editor, we like your paper very much, but I think you fooled us in this last paper. When I started to read the county board proceedings, it was a city council report in place of the county board report.

OLE J. OLSON,

WARROAD MAN LOSES BATTLE WITH PORCUPINE

Warroad. — "Beans" Williams came out loser in an encounter with a porcupine one evening recently, and the animal certainly did a thorough job of covering the young man with quills. The wounded warrior was taken to a doctor who made several incisions and removed quills and parts of quills. Later it was discovered that some quills were overlooked, so back to the doctor went "Beans" only to have more incisions made and the remainder of the barbs removed.

That Scotch Taste

The peculiar smoky flavor of Scotch whisky is due to the peat of Scotland, which is produced from aromatic heather. In drying the malt, the Scotch distiller uses peat for fuel. While the peat is burning, the aromatic substances are absorbed by the moist malt and thus pass into the mash, the fermentation tank and the still. After the fermentation the flavor of peat, being volatile, comes out with the whisky during distillation.

Primitive Japanese Race

The hairy Ainus of Japan are a primitive race occupying a position comparable to that of the Indian in America.

N. W. SCHOOL WILL START FALL TERM SEPTEMBER 30TH

Supt. T. M. McCall Gives Details of Courses to be Offered

Monday, September 30, will mark the opening of the 35th year of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. Superintendent T. M. McCall states that, according to the latest available figures, more than eighty-five per cent of 2166 graduates of the school have become farmers, home makers, and agricultural leaders in Minnesota and other states. Better than average records were made by Northwest School graduates in attendance at the University of Minnesota and the many state colleges last year.

The course work at the Northwest School consists of academic subjects necessary for good citizenship training and the fitting of young men and women for life in the home community or for later professional careers. Agricultural school training is of direct benefit to communities from which students come from both the economic and social standpoint. Boys and girls needed on the farm during the rush of work during the spring and fall months can get educational training during the winter months and additional credit for supervised home project work during the summer months.

State tuition aid, National Youth Administration and University work aid gives every boy and girl in the Red River Valley area excellent opportunities for educational training. The vocational work offered boys includes courses in agricultural engineering, horticulture, poultry, farm crops, dairy and animal husbandry, and science. Girls, in addition to their regular academic courses, may select work in home economics, home nursing, business and science.

Graduates of the rural schools enter as freshmen at the agricultural schools; any other boy or girl above sixteen years of age may enter, and an increasing number of high school graduates are entering the school each year to get special training in engineering, crops, livestock, poultry, and business training.

Public Health Group Praises Roundups for Pre-School Children

"How's your health?" is an important question for five and six year olds in many Minnesota communities these days as the final steps in the summer round-up campaign are in progress.

A health examination for the boy and girl about to enter school for the first time is a good investment for the child, for the school and for the state, it is pointed out in the bulletin issued by the Minnesota Public Health association endorsing the round-up campaign of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and teachers.

"As a result of the summer round up more children are entering school each year in good physical condition, protected against communicable diseases and prepared to hold their own with other children. The program makes possible the early recognition of defects and diseases, which may retard the child at school, at a time when the condition in most cases can be readily remedied."

The tuberculosis-prevention possibilities of the program is especially stressed in the bulletin, which forms a part of the educational program financed by Christmas seals.

A chip on the shoulder indicates there's wood higher up.

Freshman Week for New Students to Get Under Way Sept. 23

The University of Minnesota will stir into new life to begin its seventy-first year of life, and the 89th year of its corporate existence, when registration for "Freshman Week" of all students entering as freshmen takes place September 23 and 24. This will be the prelude to a steadily increasing rate of activity that will go on until classes of the fall quarter and evening classes of the Extension Division, start again on Monday, September 30.

Details such as physical examinations, examinations for the removal of conditions and registration in the Arts College will be attended to between Sept. 23 and 27. The actual activities of new students in Freshman Week will run from September 25 to 28.

Minnesota's football season will start Saturday, September 28, when the University of Washington Huskies from Seattle appear in Memorial Stadium. Of two games already played with the Washington team Minnesota has won both. Prospects are that the 1940 contest will be stern.

Educational institutions, like those in the field of business, face a year containing many uncertainties, among these, the effect upon them of military preparations and the so-called "war psychology." Until registration is completed it will not be known whether these factors will increase or decrease enrollment, but educators feel that even if there is a slight drop the importance of the training phases of preparedness will add to rather than decrease the vital necessity of keeping education at peak efficiency. To mention only a few, such fields as chemistry, metallurgy, engineering, mining, medicine, physics, the food production phases of agriculture and commerce, which is presenting ever changing aspects, are all immediately affected by present conditions and vital to the retention of national strength.

July Traffic Deaths Lowest in 14 Years; Yet 1940 Toll Is Up

Although July traffic fatalities in Minnesota were reduced 41% below the fatality records of the same month in 1938 and 1939, and were the lowest July toll in 14 years, still five more persons have been killed in traffic during the first 7 months of 1940 than during the same period last year.

Accident analysis statistics revealed by the Safety division of the State Highway department show that, with 36 fatalities during July as against 61 during July a year ago, the state's traffic death toll for the 7 months stands at 260 as against 255 for the previous year.

Although only six pedestrians were killed in the state last month, this number brought to a total of 99 the number of persons who have literally "walked to their death" since the first of the year. These pedestrian fatalities comprise 38% of all traffic deaths in the state.

Bemidji State Teachers College Opens This Week

With the fall term of the Bemidji state teachers college starting this week, Dr. Charles R. Sattgast, president, urged that young people continue their college education and not abandon plans for developing themselves to their fullest capacities through education. President Sattgast stated, "In the present world crisis one of the main hopes of America lies in the education of the nation's youth to become better citizens and understand fully the responsibilities expected of and the benefits received by the individual in our democratic country."

Fruit Company Charged with Violating Labor Standards Act in Suit

A suit to enjoin a wholesale fruit and produce company, operating in eight states through 44 branches, from violating the overtime provisions and the record keeping provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, was filed Monday in the U. S. district court at Minneapolis, by the Minneapolis regional office of the wage and hour division, U. S. Department of Labor.

The complaint, filed by Donald M. Murtha, attorney for Region XII of the division, names the Gamble-Robinson company, 301 North Fifth Street, Minneapolis, doing business under the names of Gamble-Robinson company, Ryan Fruit company, Stacy Fruit and Produce company, Stacy-Merrill company, Stacy Fruit company, Brainerd Fruit company, Fergus Fruit company, S. G. Palmer company, Dore-Redpath company and Mandan Fruit company.

Attorney Murtha, in asking that the federal court issue an injunction permanently restraining the company from violating the Fair Labor Standards Act, said the company has employed several thousand persons in the 44 branches and that many of these employees have been employed for workweeks longer than 42 hours without being paid time and one-half for their excess hours, as required by the act.

SCHOOL BOARD RETAINS LEVY SAME AS 1939-40

CURRENT EXPENSE IS FIXED AT $118,751

Board Discusses Sharing in Training Plan for National Defense

Adhering to its promise that the construction and operation of the new Lincoln junior-senior high school would entail no increase in local tax rates for school purposes, provided state aids are forthcoming on the present basis, the board of education at its September session Monday evening voted to levy 38.5 mills on city property for the coming year, exactly the same as this year's levy. The rate on agricultural land in School District 18 has not yet been determined.

Items in the total rate include the regular levy of one mill, 34.5 mills for maintenance and three mills for the bond and interest levy. The proposed budget for 1940-41 includes $118,751 for current expense, compared to the 1939-40 budget figure of $106,742, the major portion of the increase in this item being ascribed to the fact that teachers' salaries are now paid in twelve monthly installments instead of nine as formerly, some of the payments being carried forward into the current fiscal year starting July 1. Other items in the budget are capital outlay, $2,450, and debt service, $13,207.50.

Supt. Morris Bye gave the board details of a conference on the national defense training program which he attended August 30 at the state department of education in St. Paul, at which plans were outlined for organizing in the public schools courses to train workers for jobs in the industries essential for national defense.

The board adopted a motion authorizing the setting up of an advisory committee with C. W. Pope as coordinator and chairman of the committee. Also serving on the committee will be three representatives of labor and three of industry, to be selected by their respective groups.

The duties of the committee will be to gather information that will be useful in determining the jobs in the essential industries for which training shall be given; the number of persons to be trained for each job; and the content of the training courses to be given.

After a survey and study of the local situation the advisory committee shall submit to the board of education recommendations for a national defense training program to be carried on in the public schools. The board of education decides whether any or all of the recommended plan shall be carried out and adopts whatever regulations are necessary for the local administration of the program.

SHIPSTEAD AND STASSEN PILE UP LARGE VOTE

All Congressmen Except One from Minneapolis are Renominated

ELMER BENSON IS NAMED FOR SENATE

Republican Candidates Poll Well Over Half of State Vote

U. S. Rep. John Grant Alexander emerged Wednesday night as the lone incumbent who failed to make the grade in Tuesday's primary election in Minnesota.

U. S. Senator Henrik Shipstead, running as a Republican after 18 years in the senate as a Farmer-Laborite, was renominated; Governor Harold Stassen piled up a huge vote for the Republican nomination for governor, and all of the state's nine representatives except Alexander came through successfully, on the basis of incomplete returns.

Alexander bowed out to Richard Gale, 40-year old farmer who has served one term in the state house of representatives.

In the ninth congressional district, Richard T. Buckler of Crookston, lone Farmer-Laborite incumbent representative, was the best vote getter as he won renomination. Republicans, in a nine-sided race, apparently nominated Calvin G. Butler of Fergus Falls to oppose Buckler.

Going into the campaign for the general election November 5, Shipstead will be opposing his onetime Farmer-Labor colleague in the senate, Elmer A. Benson who served out the late Senator Thomas Schall's term in 1936. Benson won the Farmer-Labor nomination in a brisk fight with State Senator George Lommen and the forces of former Governor Hjalmar Petersen.

The general election will also find Benson and Petersen campaigning on the same ticket, the latter as the Farmer-Labor candidate for governor. Two years ago they engaged in a bitter primary campaign that split the party wide open and left wounds that have not yet healed.

On the Democratic side, Shipstead and Benson will oppose John E. Regan, Mankato attorney who won that party's nomination for the senate, while Stassen and Petersen will go into a three-way scrap involving Ed Murphy, St. Paul attorney, and Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

Stassen's vote, with about two thirds of the total vote in, amounted to approximately 26,000 more than that cast for all other candidates for governor in all three parties.

When approximately 611,000 votes had been counted, the Republicans had polled 306,000, the Farmer-Laborites 117,000 and the Democrats 87,000.

COUNCIL BUYS WINTER'S COAL TUESDAY NIGHT

Red Lake Fuel Co., Lowest of Five Bidders, Awarded Contract

SEEK SEWER MAINS ON KINNEY AVENUE

Petition Requests Sidewalk Construction Along E. Third St.

The city council at its regular September session Tuesday evening purchased the winter's supply of coal for municipal buildings, approved five minor building permits calling for an indicated expenditure of $1,500, and received petitions for sidewalk construction and installation of sewer and water mains.

The Red Lake Fuel company, lowest of five bidders, was awarded the contract to supply 275 tons of treated screenings at $7.95 a ton and 75 tons of Pocahontas lump coal at $10.55 a ton.

A group of residents on Kinney av. petitioned for the installation of sewer and water mains on that street from First st. to Sixth st. and across the Great Northern tracks to the fair grounds. City Engineer I. E. Quist reported that less than half the affected property was represented on the petition. The council voted to lay the matter over, pending the securing of additional signers.

A number of east side residents were signers of a petition requesting the installation of a sidewalk on the north side of East Third st. from Crocker to Maple av., the work to be done without cost to the abutting property owners. Action on the matter was deferred, it being pointed out that walks in several sections of the downtown district are in urgent need of repair.

Police Chief A. B. Stenberg called attention to an existing traffic hazard at the north extremity of Kendall av., which ends at the river, and suggested that reflector buttons be installed as a warning to motorists at night. The matter was referred to the street committee for action.

Roy Barzen and Dr. A. R. Hulbert, members of the park board, were present at the meeting and briefly discussed with the council the park budget for the coming year, as well as methods of eliminating the deficit prevailing in the fund for the past several years. It was agreed to discuss the matter further before the city budget for 1941 is acted on.

The bridesmaids, Miss Mildred Cordal of Elbow Lake, and Miss Beatrice Emerson, the groom's cousin of St. Peter, wore matching floor-length gowns of white taffeta with close-fitting bodices, short puffed sleeves, and gored skirts. They carried arm-bouquets of snap dragons.

The bride was attired in bridal satin with lace. The skirt was tight-fitting, fashioned with a long train. The sleeves had shoulder-puffs, and lace insets at the elbow. Her finger-tip veil was of silk illusion lace held in place by a pearl-set tiara. Her only ornament was a string of pearls presented to her by the groom.

After the ceremony, the guests greeted the couple at the bride's home after which a 6 o'clock dinner was served at the church dining hall to about 70 relatives and friends. Table waitresses were friends of the bride.

California Health Set-Up Helps Migrant Laborers

The California department of public health credits health education and wholesome immunizations with preventing epidemics of communicable diseases among migrant workers coming to California from the southwest "dust bowl" area.

Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the department, says: "It was the first of several great migrations to California that has not been accompanied by epidemics."

The state's public health record has never been better, he said, despite lack of sanitary provisions, crowding exposure and malnutrition of migrants.

The state's public health record the health of the migratory workers, Dr. Dickie explained, includes operation of three station wagons fitted as traveling clinics and stationing field health workers in agricultural areas.

Each of the clinics carries a physician, a public health nurse and a sanitarian. Field workers include medical school workers and sanitary engineers.

The department workers have given a total of 23,701 smallpox vaccinations, performed 74,257 inoculations against typhoid fever, conducted a tuberculin test campaign that included examination of 2,500 selected migrants and have held numerous health classes among workers.

'Best Seat in the House'

Americans in Rome can't get over the Italian paradox of asking for the "best seat in the house" at any of Italy's leading motion picture theaters and being sold a seat in the gallery. It's the result of an old Roman custom going back to the days of the Caesars. When nobility spoke to the people, nobility spoke from a balcony looking down on the populace. When "nobility" visits the theater today, nobility watches from the balcony. Thus an "orchestra seat," third or fourth row center, is considered a poor choice in Italy although it's the best in the house in America.

Thank You!

I wish to express my appreciation to the voters for their support in the primary election. I believe I am well qualified to handle the duties of the office I seek and if elected I will serve the people faithfully and efficiently.

Snakes Guard Jewels

The boldest thief would hesitate before putting his hand into a safe where he had reason to think a deadly snake lurked. Thus the following notice, appearing prominently on a case of jewels owned by a woman occupying a house in Mayfair, England, is likely to be more effective than either watchdog or police:

TO BURGLARS AND HOUSEBREAKERS

This case contains jewels

Beware of the poisonous snakes!

The snakes are real. It is not a case of "Beware of the dog" when there is no dog. The snakes are supplied by a well known animal dealer, who sends to the woman who owns the jewels a weekly supply of food for her guardian reptiles. The snakes live in a glass case containing another case in which the jewels are kept. Though the latter are worth thousands of pounds, no attempt has ever been made to steal them.

Stone Age Wheat Cultivation

Discovery of a grain of wheat below the foundations of a prehistoric settlement at Island McHugh in Baronscourt lake, County Tyrone, Ireland, throws an entirely new light on the life of the first inhabitants of Ireland. Two archeologists, Oliver Davies of Queen's university, Belfast, and C. F. Mitchell, Trinity college, Dublin, report that the grain was found at the new Stone age level dating about 2000 B. C. The settlement is on an estate of the duke of Abercorn. It has been thought that the earliest men in the country were hunters and fishermen only, but the wheat grain proves them to have been farmers, the archeologists maintain. It is their opinion that cereals, and the knowledge of their cultivation, were brought from the Mediterranean to Ireland by the tomb builders.

Motor Car 'Adventuring' Taxes Resourcefulness

Not until he is better equipped to meet emergencies will the motor traveler be able to enjoy the more distant touring objectives successfully, according to veterans who know from experience that nothing is more important in motor adventuring than resourcefulness. They see in the present lack of ingenuity and experience in outdoor life the principal barrier to more extensive motoring off the beaten track.

With an experience kit no better equipped than the average car's tool kit, today's tourist often is badly licked before he starts out. He assumes there is a gas station on every corner and every highway is lined with telephones. Not until he is faced with a breakdown or loses his way does he realize the importance of self-reliance backed by preparedness. It is then he appreciates that his automobile has suddenly made this a much bigger country than he thought it to be.

When everything depends on you some of the simplest steps are likely to be overlooked. Why, for instance, let the engine idle when trying to get your bearings? This wastes gasoline and may be a short cut to being unable to proceed. Why not drive up to the top of the nearest hill to get an idea of the lay of the land? You may be able to sight the main road from this point. Your directions can be determined from such a lookout and you may see a nearby town. If there is no handy hill and the fuel supply is low it is a good plan to send a member of the party on a foot expedition to look for a house or a more heavily traveled road. Some one should stay in the car and sound the horn from time to time. This is an excellent way to mark the point at which the party has become lost.

Resourcefulness counts at every step. When faced with the problem of getting light for a tire change at night the reliant motor tourist noses the car toward a large tree and benefits by the indirect lighting from the headlights playing on the tree trunk. This also is effective when light is needed for an under-the-hood repair job.

MRS. SHAW SEEKS RED CROSS SEWING PROJECT WORKERS

Help Needed in Knitting and Sewing Garments for War Relief

Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, chairman of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross, today appealed to all women's organizations and individuals within the county to volunteer for knitting and sewing articles for European war relief, urging them to sacrifice some of their time for the sufferers in war-torn Europe.

The quotas, Mrs. Shaw stated, heretofore have not been large, and a few volunteers have done the work. Quotas called for to be delivered before December 31 of this year, however, make it necessary to secure the services of many additional workers.

The current quota includes 15 women's dresses, 75 girls' dresses, 25 layettes, 30 boys' shirts, 20 operating gowns, 15 hospital pajamas, 20 men's sweaters, 10 women's sweaters and 50 children's sweaters. The materials will be shipped free from the national Red Cross to the local chapter, and Mrs. John Lager, sewing chairman, will ask the aid of women to help cut the garments and make ready for distribution.

FALL RECREATION PROGRAM PLANNED BY WPA LEADERS

Puppet Theatre, Craft Shop in Operation; Archery to be Arranged for

With the summer recreation program in its final stages, plans are rapidly being formulated for a fall program, Ferd Elstad, director, stated today. The swimming pool, east-side park, Tindolph park, the puppet theatre and the craft shop are still in operation. The swimming pool will soon be closed, but all other facilities will be used for the fall program.

At East-side park touch football, horseshoe, ping pong, basketball, and other games will be emphasized. There is also equipment for croquet, volley ball, dart games and some other organized games. This will be the only playground in operation during the fall season unless further facilities can be located.

The craft shop and puppet theatre will continue as usual. Some very interesting work is being done at both projects. At the craft shop plans are being laid for a bird-feeder contest, and bird house contest.

Archery will be stressed more for the fall program than it was during the summer. No location has been found as yet for an archery range, but it is expected one will be found soon. Further notice will be given regarding the range and archery in the near future.

Boxing and wrestling are to be included in the fall program along with work in physical culture.

It is hoped that space will be provided for an indoor game room. If such a place is acquired, ping pong, Chinese checkers, bean bags, jar ring game, and many other games will be at the disposal of the public.

Parents and children of the community are urged to take advantage of these leisure time activities said Mr. Elstad. There is no charge for any part of the program. It is sponsored by the city council in cooperation with WPA recreation leaders.

Ancient Roman Theatres

Ancient theaters of early Rome began their plays by dropping a curtain from view, not by raising it as in the modern theater. This was discovered by archeologists inspecting old records and remains of early Roman dramatic scenes. During the time of Augustus, theaters were built without roofs. The curtain was held high on each side of the stage and as the play got under way, braces holding the curtain were released, dropping the curtain into a slot at the front of the stage. Theaters in early Roman days made our modern "movie palaces" seem tiny by comparison, the smallest of three Augustan theaters seated 8,000 persons, while the largest seated 17,000.

To the Pennington County Voters:

Thank you for the fine vote in the primaries.

May I respectfully ask your continued vote and support at the General Election in November.

Mohammed's Favorite Wife

The favorite wife of Mohammed was Ayeshah, who married the prophet when she was only nine years old. She was so greatly beloved that he often said she would be the first of his wives to whom the gates of paradise would be opened. Historians say that to the charms of her beauty she added a knowledge of mathematics, rhetoric and music. In his last illness Mohammed requested to be carried to her house and died in her arms.

Moccasins to England

Fondness of American colonists for Indian moccasins caused the establishment of an industry in America to export the footwear. As early as 1640, moccasins were being shipped to England and many colonists learned to prefer the native styles to English-made shoes and boots.

Dutch in New York

With little Holland much in the news these days, it is interesting to note that Dutch was the language of instruction on Manhattan island for 130 years. The first school in the New World was established in what was then Nieuw Amsterdam, a Dutch settlement, in 1633 and instruction was continued in the Dutch language until 1764. The school was established by the West India company for the children of its colonists.

Texas Trucking Law

A law in Texas says it is unsafe to haul a load of more than 7,000 pounds on a truck, except when the truck is going to a railroad station, when 14,000 pounds may be hauled.

Angle Street Crossings Present Traffic Hazards

Streets that intersect at sharp angles are not only hazards for motor traffic but constitute a good example of land waste as well.

When streets are planned to cross each other or form a "T" at approximately right angles both of these objections are overcome. Square-cornered lots, which are better adapted as sites for residential structures than irregularly shaped lots with sharp-pointed corners, will be assured by this type of street design. The total length of a street system within a subdivision will also be reduced, thus effecting a saving in construction costs.

Many traffic difficulties in suburban districts result from bad street intersections. When a local street enters a major street at an acute angle, visibility is seriously impaired, and traffic has a tendency to move in and out of such streets without reduction of speed.

These two factors are largely responsible for the enormous loss of life due to automobile accidents at street intersections in residential areas. Traffic-control devices are poor substitutes for good street design.

Model Five-Room Home Is Erected for $1750

An experimental five room house with bath, that is designed to cost as little as $1750, has been successfully built in Lebanon, N. J.

This unique dwelling was constructed under the sponsorship of a nonprofit research organization interested in reducing construction costs to provide better housing for more people.

High quality materials and practical construction methods, with certain innovations, were employed. The main shell of the dwelling is so designed that it can be erected by four men in an eight-hour day.

Special plywood construction was used for exteriors and interiors, entire wall panels being fabricated in a temporary workshop at the job and erected as units.

Almost all furniture, including beds, is built in. Another innovation was a patented wiring system with electrical conduits embodied in an ornamental molding, having outlets every few feet. A fireplace and efficient heating unit were combined and hard sheet lead was used for flashing.

Paint styling is relied on to a great extent to produce individuality and the effect of large size in this minimum home. Since the outer walls were formed in three horizontal panels separated by narrow structural members, it was found that by painting the middle panel a slightly lighter shade of the same color apparent height of the house was increased. Still a lighter shade on the trim and horizontal bands seemed to give the house added length.

STATE COLLECTED MILLION MORE GAS TAXES IN 8 MONTHS

Net Receipts to September 1 Aggregate $12,765,000 Report Shows

Minnesota collected $1,000,000 more from state gasoline taxes during the first eight months of 1940 than during the same period a year ago, G. Howard Spaeth, commissioner of taxation, revealed last week.

A report from Arthur B. Anderson, director of the petroleum division, showed net receipts for the eight months through August totaled $12,765,634 this year, compared with $11,763,553 a year ago.

Gross receipts were $1,128,936 higher during the eight months this year than last, but refunds for non-highway use of gasoline increased $126,856 for the same period.

August collections set a new record for the month—$131,996 higher than a year ago, or a total of $2,260,272. Refunds were $269,976 during the month.

Ag School Registration to Begin September 30

Registration for the fall term at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston begins on Monday, September 30, and continues through Tuesday noon, October 1, according to Registrar J. W. Milnar. Mr. Milnar states that all classes will meet at 1:30 p. m. on October first. Superintendent T. M. McCall has called the first meeting of the faculty for Saturday, September 28. Vocational courses such as agricultural engineering, crops, livestock, poultry, home economics, and business training are, according to school authorities, being sought by an increasing number of older farm boys and girls and high school graduates desiring special farm courses and business training.

Femco Farms Dairy Herd to be Sold at Auction

The famous herd of dairy cattle on the Femco Farms near Breckenridge will be sold at public auction in October, it was announced last week. Shipstead and Stassen are Easy Winners on the GOP Ticket

Louis Erickson won the Democratic nomination for the senate with 48 votes to 51 divided among his three opponents.

For the Ninth district post in congress Colvin G. Butler won the Republican nomination, R. T. Buckler winning on the Farmer-Labor ticket with 28 votes to 23 for Mrs. Laura E. Naplin.

Incandescent Light's Invention

Sir Humphry Davy, the physicist, was one of the earliest men to experiment with the production of electric light. In 1802 he demonstrated that electric current can heat carbon and strips of metal to incandescence and give light. In 1809 he developed his arc light. Experiments along this line continued until the invention in 1879 by Thomas A. Edison of the incandescent lamp. These principles are used in all the incandescent lamps made today.

Southern Frog Gigging

Frog gigging, unknown to many, is a popular pastime in the deep South. At a Browns Wells, Mississippi, guest plantation, entire parties of sports fans hunt down the tasty amphibians armed with pronged sticks, or gigs. Some of the frogs, whose tasty legs are so dear to the heart of creole cooks, weigh two pounds and over.

Two Showers Bring .62 Inch of Rain to City

In showers Friday and Sunday evening, a total of .62 inch of precipitation was recorded on the power plant rain gauge. The moisture was welcomed by farmers, whose plowing operations have been hampered by the dry condition of the soil. Light frosts were reported in some localities early this week, the mercury dropping to the 30 degree mark Wednesday.

Civil War Stamps

Present-day Christmas seals and tuberculosis stamps had forerunners in the Sanitary Fair stamps of the Civil war. Funds were raised in Cleveland for the assistance of soldiers wounded in the Civil war by the sale of stamps in 1861. Similar fairs, at which stamps were sold, were held in Chicago, New York, Albany, Boston, Stamford and elsewhere.

FRENCH STYLE APPLE PIE

You're all familiar with the customary two crust apple pie—and you've undoubtedly enjoyed deep dish apple pies which have no bottom crusts at all. But have you ever tasted an open-top apple pie where the one and only crust is on the bottom? This is not as commonly served as the other two. Nevertheless it is equally delicious. In place of the usual top crust there's a rich crumb mixture, tasting of butter and brown sugar, baked right over the apple filling. This is the French notion of an apple pie . . . and it is a thoroughly enjoyable one when it's served with a swirl of whipped cream.

FRENCH APPLE PIE

Pastry for 9-inch pie shell
6 to 8 tart juicy apples
½ to ⅔ cup sugar (depending on the sweetness of the apples)
1 tsp. cinnamon (or nutmeg)
2 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. butter
⅓ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Line a deep 9-inch pie pan with plain pastry, and chill while preparing the apples.

Pare and core the apples and slice them thin. Mix together the sugar, cinnamon (or nutmeg) and the 2 tbsp. of flour. Mix with the apples and place in the pastry-lined pan. If the apples do not happen to be very juicy, sprinkle a bit of water over them. Dot with the 2 tbsp. butter.

Now cream together the ⅓ cup soft butter and the brown sugar. Work the cup of sifted flour into the creamed butter and brown sugar . . . using a pastry blender or a spoon . . . to make a crumb mixture. Sprinkle this over the top of the apples, and bake for 35 to 40 minutes . . . using a hot oven, 450° F., for the first 15 minutes . . . then reducing the heat to 350° F., moderate oven to finish baking.

Serve with plain or whipped cream.

PASTRY FOR ONE CRUST PIE

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
⅓ cup shortening
Ice water (2 to 3 tbsp.)

Sift the flour and salt together. Add most of the shortening to the flour, cutting it in with a pastry blender or 2 knives until the mixture looks like meal. Then add the remaining shortening . . . cutting it in particles the size of giant peas. Sprinkle water lightly over the mixture . . . blending it in until the dough can be just pressed together into a ball.

Roll out to fit the pie pan on a lightly-floured, cloth-covered board. Place loosely in an 8 or 9-inch pie pan . . . leaving ½ inch extending over the edge of the pan. Build up a fluted edge. Chill thoroughly.

If you have any specific cooking problems, send a letter requesting information to Betty Crocker in care of this newspaper. You will receive a prompt, personal reply. Please enclose 3 cent stamp to cover postage.

Safety Gasoline Tank

To lessen the danger of explosion and fire after highway accidents, a safety gasoline tank has been developed for trucks. Ruggedly built, with electrically welded seams, it is designed to resist battering in a collision or rupture from internal pressure, says Popular Mechanics. Gasoline cannot escape if the truck tips over, for the intake and air "breather" pipes both extend across the tank; tipped with the tank cap down, the pipe ends are out of the gasoline; tipped to the other side, the tank cap is above the fuel; upside down, a check ball in the air vent prevents leakage. The tank cannot be filled deeper than the level of the "breather" pipe, and thus there is always an air space providing for expansion of 12 to 15 per cent. Explosion is prevented by a fusible alloy plug in the cap. Because of the length of the intake pipe, theft of gasoline is exceedingly difficult. The tank can be installed on any truck.

Hard Water Problems

The most universal of all water problems is hardness—the presence of lime and magnesium. Chemists and persons who have made a study of water content say that an insoluble curd is formed when soap unites with the lime in hard water. This curd, which appears as a sticky scum in dishwater, causes considerable soap waste, as it eliminates that much soap from the cleaning process. It has been estimated that in real hard water as much as 90 per cent of all soap used is wasted. Hard water, in addition to being wasteful of soap, makes drinking water cloudy and discolored and often affects its taste, discolors fixtures, causes dull glassware, clogs and enlarges skin pores and makes fabrics brittle.

A girl admires the tone of a bachelor's voice when there's a ring in it.

Feeling the Lovebird

When one of a pair of lovebirds dies the other is supposed to pine to death, declares the American Magazine. Mrs. Hazel Heald, Cambridge, Mass., lost one of her lovebirds, and the other was inconsolable until she placed a mirror in the cage. He immediately regained his health and appetite, and has lived happily for three years with his reflected image.

Banda Islands

The Banda islands form a small group situated near the western coast of New Guinea. Dutch Borneo is the second largest island in the Malay archipelago. In these forests live the Dyaks, or head hunters, so deadly with the blow pipe.

Thanks to Voters

I wish in this manner to express my profound gratitude to the voters of Pennington county who rallied to my support and gave me such an excellent endorsement in the primary election Tuesday.

Down in Washington they are fussing around about the draft age and why they are so greatly concerned about that is another thing we do not understand. If they would let us write the bill for them we would place every able bodied man and woman in the country subject to draft regardless of age. If it becomes necessary to raise an army in a hurry there should be a place somewhere in the organization for a few old codgers like us, and there certainly is no good reason why the young bloods, 18 to 21, should not be invited to the party. If we are going to spread a conscription law on the books lets make it all inclusive and then, in the selection, take those best able and best qualified to serve, whether they are old or young, and regardless of their sex.

Congratulations to the election winners, and to the election losers too. We especially congratulate the losers. Those who win have a defeat ahead of them. Sooner or later, regardless of how well they do their work, the voters will decide they have had the job long enough and then off will go their heads. Those who need no longer worry about the whims of the voters are indeed fortunate.

There is some difference of opinion among election officials as to whether or not the new way of counting votes is better than the old system, but most of those with whom we discussed the matter seemed to prefer the new method. They agree that it is faster and that it is reasonably accurate. The old time tally sheet probably will never be revived.

In 1938 there were 3,096 votes counted for governor in Pennington county in the primary election and this year the number counted increased to 3,189. In the 1938 primary 295 Pennington County voters liked candidate Stassen for governor. This year 1,482 of the county's voters favored him. In 1938 Farmer-Labor candidates for governor received 2,157 votes to a total of only 695 for the Republicans. The order was reversed Tuesday when 1,630 voters favored Republican candidates for governor while only 1,091 went Farmer-Laborite. There is nothing in these figures that would suggest dissatisfaction with the present state administration.

How do you suppose those Republicans who objected to Shipstead coming into the party would feel now if the Senator had decided to string along with the Democrats.

Red Lake and Clearwater county voters are not going to feel too kindly toward Pennington when they read the election returns and discover that we have put a candidate for representative on the general election ballot. Since the legislative district was established there has been an understanding among the counties that the senator would come from Pennington and that each of the other counties would have a representative. Now we will be accused, and with good reason, of playing hog.

Now that the primary is out and over we can settle down to the real issues of the coming general election. That is going to be more interesting. There is no lack of important issues to be decided. It is a critical period and the decisions we make now will have a far reaching effect on the future of the country. The campaign may develop into a hot fight but heat is not a thing to be desired under the present circumstances. The purpose of the campaign should be to inform the voter, not to incite him to anger. A thoughtful electorate will come closer to choosing the right course than a mad one.

If the vacancy in the Senate is to be filled by appointment then Martin Nelson, runner up in the Republican primary, should be offered the job. Martin Nelson not only is well qualified to represent Minnesota in this capacity but he is also highly respected and well liked by most of our people. The fact that he did not win the nomination this year is not to his discredit. The circumstances were not favorable to him.

LISTENING VS. READING

(By William Feather)

The Rockefeller Foundation has already given Princeton university $84,500 to find the answer to the question, "What will radio do for society?" Some findings have been reported, more are to come.

It has been established that one group of people is definitely ear-minded, another eye-minded.

This is what they say:

Listener: I understand easier when I am listening. It is explained better. Reader: I seem to get things more easily by reading them.

Listener: I live right inside the radio when I listen. Reader: I become more absorbed in reading.

Listener: When there is a story (on the radio) I think I am there. But when I am reading, I look up once in a while. I know always where I am. Reader: In listening, there are always other things that take your mind away. When I read, I have to live with it. I have to always look at the book. When I am listening, I am looking around.

Then we have the case of the housewife who remarked: I feel always a little bit ashamed when I read. It looks so lazy. You don't just sit and read if you have a family.

It appears from this radio study that the less educated people are, the more they are likely to listen to trash. The so-called "good programs" don't appeal to them. The Rockefeller Foundation, however, is not discouraged. Printing has been in existence 500 years, without making Shakespeare the favorite reading of everybody.

COULD ONLY HAPPEN HERE—

(Philadelphia Inquirer)

How four stubborn individualists, out of a total of 6,128 property owners in St. Lawrence county, New York, denied the use of their lands for the maneuvers of the 1st army of the United States, deserves a special chapter in the account of the war games. It is one of those things that could happen only here.

The four die-hards, it is important to note, held out against the army not for pacifistic or un-American reasons of any kind, but purely because they decided to stand on their rights as they saw them.

One man chased army officers away because they were wearing neckties, which is against his religion. Another declared the United States is a free country and the army the servant of the people, and he'd just like to see any one in uniform try to order him around. A retired schoolmarm, an ardent prohibitionist, was willing to turn over her 40 acres if the United States army would see to it that a neighbor lost his liquor license.

The fourth farmer owns a wooded plot along a river. He agreed to throw his house open to the soldiers, but they couldn't go into his woods.

"I like to go in there and sit," he said.

Try to tell that story in the totalitarian countries and see how quickly it would be scoffed at. The idea that a man could have woods of his own that he could sit in would be regarded as fantastic enough, but that the army could be prevented from seizing them whenever it wanted—well, that is incredible.

But it does not astonish us. We take such things for granted. They come under the heading of "liberty." And it is to safeguard our liberty that the soldiers of the 1st army are engaged in strenuous maneuvers in northern New York—carefully avoiding under democratic processes, the farm lands of the four objectors.

YOU CAN'T DO THAT, HENRY

(Montevideo News)

Americans who oppose Franklin Roosevelt and Henry Wallace in their campaign to be elected President and Vice President are not pro-Hitler. Wallace made a political speech Thursday night in which he tried hard to plant the thought that it isn't patriotic to talk in favor of Willkie, support a Republican, and vote against the New Deal candidates.

You can't get away with it, Henry. We listened to you respectfully from start to finish. Do you mind being told it was a disappointing performance? And it didn't go over. Men and women in this country intend to retain the American right to differ with other Americans on matters of public policy. They will be "agin" the administration if they feel like it; some of them will be for the administration.

This year those who are against the New Deal will not be scared into silence by your words about Hitler or Mussolini or appeasement. There are domestic issues in this campaign that force them to oppose you. And on foreign issues they have reason to believe that all wisdom and good judgment and idealism are not owned by you and other New Deal candidates.

WEDDING BEDLAM DEFENDED

(Aylmer, Ont., Express)

A reader has asked ye editor to say something about wedding processions of cars that proceed through town with all horns sounding. In many towns and cities police are slapping down on the motorized friends of the newlyweds who serenade them en route.

It is admitted that a car horn under the thumb of a wedding guest is pretty awful, but the peace of the community is not permanently damaged. This oft times takes the place of the old time charivari, which may have disturbed only the immediate neighborhood, but carried on for hours. The brides are presumed to be embarrassed by the bedlam, an erroneous presumption; a bit dazed, perhaps, but not unhappy. And as for the bridegroom, he is in the catalepsy usual with bridegrooms. On the whole the two who are pursued out of town or through it, would probably miss it and feel they had failed in popularity, if horns were not sounded and were tin cans not lashed to the rear bumper by loving hands.

Tomorrow or next week the boy will go back to the grind, and the girl, very often in these days, to some former job in shop or office. The cavalcade through the streets will be something to remember. It would be nice if it were something better and tonier and not so loud, but the more sedate can bear with a few minutes' break in public decorum, if no fenders are swiped and no posts snapped. As things go these days a passing display of exuberance is rather to be cherished than despised.

TOO MUCH TAX EXEMPTION

(Morris Tribune)

Now that the government is looking around for more tax revenue, it should make a start by trimming its tax exempt list, of which there have grown to be too many and too much. Taxes should be levied on all public businesses which compete with private business, and they should be levied on the same basis that private business pays. Thus not only would revenue be obtained, but furthermore justice would be done because the patron of a public business would then have to pay the same indirect tax as the patron of a private business. Furthermore if all business paid taxes equally, then the efficiency of private business in competition with public would be much more apparent.

STASSEN SHARES CREDIT

(Detroit Lakes Record)

There was one thing about Governor Stassen's statement of last week when he asked the electorate for a return to office, and gave a resume of the accomplishments made in state affairs during his incumbency, and that was the absence of the personal pronoun "I".

Only once did the governor use it and that was in the paragraph wherein he expressed his appreciation of cooperation received from both the public and his associates.

On the other hand the executive used the plural "we" in citing achievements thus giving due credit to each and everyone who had aided in any manner in bringing order and efficiency out of the racketeering chaos which he inherited when he assumed office.

Well may the governor take pride in what has been done under his leadership, and "we" believe the electorate will so decide when the vote is cast for his re-election on November 5th.

"NINE OLD MEN"

(Long Prairie Leader)

Times have changed. Three years ago men 70 years of age were stigmatized by the president as too old for service on the supreme court and he started a great campaign to get rid of them. He even went into states on a speaking tour in an effort to defeat for re-election a number of democratic senators who had refused to join his effort to purge the supreme court of its 70 year old members. Preparation for war is a pretty important matter in the U. S. A. these days and the Secretary of war is a man who is going to have a tough job with long hours and hard, grinding work. The president has just made his selection for this vitally important post. He names Henry L. Stimson who will be 73 years old in September.

The Los Angeles Times submits this challenge: "Information, Please! Who nominated Hitler? Hitler. Who nominated Mussolini? Mussolini. Who nominated Stalin? Stalin. Who nominated Roosevelt? Roosevelt. What are we to be bragging about? Democracy? Who, indeed?"—Northfield News.

PUBLIC OPINION

School Stop Signs

To the Public of Thief River Falls:

If a person goes through a school sign he is charged $5, which is right. But your city forgets to put out school signs on racetrack streets like 3rd street, and endangers the lives of children. What then?

Silk in America

In 1656, it was compulsory for planters in America to foster the silk industry by planting mulberry trees. So certain were the rulers of the colonies that North America was an ideal place for silk culture, that they compelled every planter to grow at least 10 mulberry trees for every 100 acres of land. Silk culture won a brief foothold on this continent, and in 1735 silk was exported from Savannah to England.

Ocean Peaks Warm Norway

Guarding the coast-line of Norway is a range of undersea mountains which effectually turn back the icy currents flowing down from the Arctic circle; but the warm Gulf Stream, flowing higher in the water, passes over the peaks and brings the country a moderate climate for a great part of the year.

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

PURE BUNK

The steamship office clerk was being pestered by the questions of a fussy customer. A long line was waiting to have business done, so the clerk decided to teach the fussy one a lesson:

"Upper or lower berth?" he asked.

"What's the difference?" said the customer.

"Well, the difference is five dollars. The lower berth is higher than the upper one. The higher price is for the lower. We sell the upper, lower than the lower. Some people like the lower. Some people like the lower upper; it's lower, of course, on account of its being higher. When you occupy an upper you have to get up to go to bed and you have to get down to get up."

Alarm

Two men, one considerably smaller than the other, were crossing the street to enter a public-house, when a youth on a bicycle flashed past them, operating a "buzzer" on the front wheel which emitted a particularly sharp, raucous wail.

The smaller of the men gave a nervous jump, and his friend said, "Goodness, what a state you're in—fancy jumping like that for a bike."

"Bike?" retorted the little man. "I wasn't afraid of no bicycle. I thought I heard my missus calling me!"

MISHAP MARRIAGE

"What a terrible sight you are. You must have met with a mishap."

"Yes, I married her last week."

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

So. St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10, 1940: Choice to prime heavy steers brought $13.00 Monday to equal last week's high mark, the sprinkling of strictly good, choice and prime steers and yearlings selling fully steady. The balance of the steer market worked lower, declines for the first two days measuring 25-50c, according to the Federal-State Market News Service. Fed heifers were steady but grassy and warmed-up kinds were weaker. Beef cows lost fully 25c, while canners and cutters were steady to weak. Bulls declined 50c and vealers steadied after losing 50c on Monday. Stockers and feeders were steady to 25c lower, common and medium grades showing the decline. Choice yearlings sold as feeders at $9.75, while bulk medium to good stockers and feeders brought $7.50-9.50.

Continuous declines found barrows and gilts Tuesday selling 25-35c under last week's close. Sows were generally 20c off. A new low since mid-August was set on the current session at $6.55 for good and choice 200-230 lb. weights. Bulk good and choice 180-240 lb. cashed at $6.35-6.55. Most 240-270 lb. brought $6.05-6.50 and 270-300 lb. kinds made $5.90-6.10. Heavier weights ranged down to $5.50. Good and choice 140-160 lb. cleared from $4.75-5.75, while 160-180 lb. cashed at $5.50-6.40. Good sows of weights found outlet at $5.20-5.70, and feeder pigs held about steady at $5.00-5.50.

Last week's strong close was not maintained in the sheep department, early deals displaying a downward revision of 25c in the price column. This was a direct reflection of $1.00 lower deals on dressed carcasses in the East. Tuesday trading saw natives selling at steady figures, while a small supply of westerns cashed 15-25c higher or nearly steady for two days. Other slaughter classes held around steady, supported by light receipt. Best western range lambs cashed at $8.85, with natives at $8.75. Range feeders were easier, bulking at $8.75, while natives sold at steady money.

Hamper Is Convenient

A wicker hamper lined with a removable fish net bag saves precious moments when it's time to relegate soiled clothes to the tub, the washer, or the laundry man. Spare bags are provided so that clean ones can always be ready to snap in place. The hamper itself is floorless and raised from the ground on tiny legs, thus insuring a constant circulation of air.

Rubber Spear Gun

Spearing fish under water with a newly developed rubber spear gun is the newest sport in Miami, Fla. It's real sportsmanship, for you have to hold your breath, dive, look around for a fish, aim and fire, all in less than a minute. The new guns and masks were invented by a Miami university student, Chenault Elmore. Spearing 50 pounds of fish in a half hour is no trick at all for an expert in these waters. The gun is rubber slung, like a sling-shot and deadly accurate. The masks are face fitting when submerged and water tight.

Forgotten Fortnight

When the English adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1752 it was necessary to "make up" 11 days, and September 2 was changed to September 14. The year was reckoned as commencing on January 1, 1752, instead of on March 25, as had been the custom. Feeling against the government was so bitter that riots broke out, the people demanding that they be given back their fortnight. They believed they had been robbed of 11 days and that, because of the Act of Parliament, they would have to pay 11 more days of interest, rent and other charges than they would ordinarily have to pay.

U. S. Winter Ills

According to a report of the United States public health service, 6,000,000 of the country's 130,000,000 men, women and children are unable to work, attend school or pursue other usual activities each day during the winter months on account of illness, injury or a gross physical impairment resulting from disease or accident.

Insult to Injury

Less than 10 minutes after Judge H. D. Muncur, Yuba City, Calif., gave Mrs. Clema Ayres, 25, a six-months suspended sentence for disturbing the peace, he married her to Fred Conklin, 47, the complaining witness.

Boost for Barley

Animal husbandmen at the University of Missouri boost barley as a substitute for corn for fattening steers. They credit it with a value of 56 cents a bushel, when corn is priced at 50 cents. Their tests show that steers receiving barley, plus clover hay, silage, and cottonseed meal, come to full feed more rapidly, make greater daily gains, and sell at higher prices than those fed the same amounts of corn.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Pursuant to adjournment the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in session in the Council chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal building on Wednesday, September 4th, 1940. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

Walter Jung, Wm. Dahlquist and Dr. A. R. Hulbert, representatives of the Civic & Commerce Association and the American Legion Post appeared before the council with regard to the possibility of the city securing a federal airport as a result of the government program of national defense and suggested that it might be well to appoint a committee of three to contact the federal government with regard to the probability of such a project and requirements for the location of such proposed airport near this city. The president appointed Alderman Sande to represent the City Council with one member from each of the organizations, the Civic & Commerce Association and the American Legion to secure the necessary information.

Continuing the hearing on the application of the First Lutheran church for the moving of that certain church building now located on Main Avenue North and placing the same on Lots 9-12, Block 28 of the Original Townsite, the matter was discussed further and a motion was made, seconded and carried that another ballot vote be taken for or against the granting of such permit. The result of the ballot indicated a vote of four in favor of the granting of the application and a vote of two against. The application was thereupon declared approved and granted. Motion was made by Alderman Kinghorn that the First Lutheran Church furnish an indemnity bond in the amount of $1,000.00, subject to the approval of the City Attorney, to safeguard the city against any damage or costs in connection with the moving of the building. The motion was seconded by Alderman Sande and adopted.

Representatives of the National Youth Administration appeared before the council with regard to the probability of the city furnishing free of charge, electric current for water heater and range service in the former Central School Building, now under occupation by the Administration as a resident training project, notwithstanding the terms and conditions of that certain lease dated March 31, 1940, between the City and the Federal Government, wherein the government agreed to furnish rent, electric current for lighting purposes only and water. Motion was made by Alderman Sande that the city furnish temporary service for water heater to October 1st, 1940, pending the investigation of other arrangements and facilities for such service. The motion was seconded by Alderman Iverson and carried. With regard to free service for electric range, Alderman Kinghorn moved that such request be denied, which motion was seconded by Alderman Iverson and adopted.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned.

PLUMMER MEETS KELLIHER TEAM IN REGIONAL FINALS

Wins Free-Hitting Contest Sunday from Eldred by 7-6 Score

Plummer won an exciting free-hitting game at Plummer Sunday when they defeated Eldred, 7 to 6, in a semi-final of the regional playoffs. Next Sunday the Plummer Red Sox will meet Kelliher in the finals to decide northwestern Minnesota's entrant in the state tourney at Shakopee.

Louie Benson's single with two men out, the bases filled, the score dead-locked at 6-all, in the last half of the 8th inning, drove in the 2 runs that won the game. Eldred scored a tally in their half of the 9th and had the tying run first base, but Benson, who had gone to the mound in relief of Mortrude in the 8th inning, whiffed M. Buness for the final out.

Woody Almquist, with 3 hits in 4 times at bat; Louie Benson, with 3 hits in 5 trips to the plate; and Mortrude's 2 hits in 4 times at bat, were Plummer's leading hitters, and these three players batted in all of the Red Sox runs. For Eldred pitcher Vernon Peltier with 3 for 4, and Wang with 2 for 3, and Hols and Orvik with 2 hits each in 4 times at bat, were the Red River Valley hitters that kept the Plummer pitchers in trouble.

Hemmy Sahl and Wally DuChamp of the Thief River team were in the Plummer line-up, playing outfield positions. Woody Almquist, from St. Hilaire, filled the other outfield post.

Rotarians Are Guests at Middle River CCC Camp

Members of the Thief River Falls Rotary club were dinner guests at the Middle River CCC camp Tuesday evening, and an informal program provided an enjoyable evening. Rev. E. L. Tungseth introduced the camp officers headed by Captain A. Stenslie, each of whom described the nature of their work. Lieutenant Larry Berg conducted a question and answer contest between a group of four Rotarians and four CCC youths, the latter winning the decision.

Hartz Diamondball Team Repeats as City Champions

Three Bowling Leagues Scheduled to Start on Mint Alleys Sept. 23d

Prospects for a season of expanded activity in local bowling circles loomed up at a meeting last Wednesday night when it was indicated that three men's eight-team leagues will swing into action on the Mint alleys Monday, September 23, in addition to a woman's eight team league. At the meeting Ed Carlson was reelected president of the City Bowling association, with Fred Ruskey as vice president and Rolf Wollen, secretary treasurer. The board of directors will include, in addition to the officers, a representative of each of the leagues.

Lindenmeyer Is Guest Speaker at Lions Club

John Lindenmeyer, Lincoln high school athletic coach, was the guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Palm Garden cafe. Football was his topic, and he expressed uncertainty as to a successful season for the Lincoln football team in view of the small number of experienced players available this season.

Greed will warp anybody's judgment.

Lincoln School Eleven to Meet Red Lake Falls in Season Opener Friday

Making its first appearance of the season on the gridiron, the Lincoln high school football team, coached by John Lindenmeyer, will meet the Red Lake Falls eleven on the local high school athletic field under floodlights Friday evening. Confronted by a dearth of experienced players, the coach is not optimistic about the possibility of equaling last year's record, when the Lincoln athletes came thru the season with a consecutive string of victories. Members of the first string include Duane Peterson, Orrin Peterson, P. Michalski, J. Dahlow, Bob Wright, J. Parlist, Don Berg, Luther Fjelstad, Tom Carlisle, Ed Flasch and Ferguson.

15-Year-Old Boy Taken to Red Wing Institution

A 15 year-old boy, who with another boy confessed in juvenile court last week to having taken tools from the Greenwood cemetery tool house, was assigned to the state school at Red Wing and was taken there Saturday by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck. The other boy, who was a first offender, was released on probation.

Postoffice at Middle River Entered Tuesday

The postoffice at Middle River, of which Mrs. May Davison is postmaster, was entered Tuesday night by burglars, who broke thru three doors to gain entrance to the office. After cracking the safe, they left empty-handed, leaving their tools lying on the floor.

Joan Crawford, Fredric March in 'Susan and God' at Falls Theatre Sunday

Joan Crawford and Fredric March are costarred in "Susan and God", which will be presented at the Falls theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a midnight preview Saturday evening at 11:15. In the supporting cast of the production, which is based on the stage success of the same name, are Ruth Hussey, Rita Hayworth, Nigel Bruce and John Carroll.

"Dark Command", the Avalon theatre offering Sunday and Monday, is a dramatic portrayal of the troubled days of the Civil War. The cast is headed by Walter Pidgeon, with Claire Trevor and John Wayne in the principal supporting roles.

WASECA LADS CATCH 15½ POUND CARP

Waseca.—Two young lads pulling a coaster wagon containing a 15½ pound carp carefully covered with an overall jacket aroused the interest of the fishing gentry one morning recently when they told a tale of catching the behemoth on a red head plug while casting on the northwest shore of Clear Lake. Roy Dahnert was handling the rod and reel when he snagged into the carp. Unable to handle the fish alone, he enlisted the services of his companion, Lyle Peterson, to drag the fish onto the beach. Strangest part of the story is that the fish did not bite the gang hooks but snagged as the bait passed over him.

"Model" Prisoner

An inmate at Southern Michigan prison has built nine gasoline-powered model airplanes and looks forward to entering model races when he is discharged. One of his planes remained aloft 24 minutes, little short of the national record.

TRAVELING TEAM SHUTS OUT LOCAL D-BALLERS 8 TO 0

Sixth Inning Disastrous for Locals as Ghosts Score Seven Runs

For five innings, behind the fine pitching of Gordy Kaushagen and Ham Myhrer, who allowed but one run and one hit, a large crowd of fans witnessed a nip-and-tuck diamond-ball game; but in the sixth inning the Ghosts traveling team of colored players, reached pitcher Al Ness for four hits, and with five bases on balls, shoved across seven runs to go on to win last Thursday night's game, 8 to 0.

Jesse DuChamp, with two hits, a single and double, and sparkling defensive play, was the all-round star of the game. 'Cannon-ball' Sims on the mound for the Ghosts collected 14 strikeouts, getting Carlo Columbo and Ray Oen three times each, and Stan Cockrell and John Jaranson each twice. Ham Myhrer, during the two innings that he pitched for the locals, held the Ghosts hitless and runless.

BULL THROWS NORB— NORB THROWS BULL

Marshall.—Norb Kethvlist, former Tiger tackle, of whom it has been said that he never gave way as much as an inch in the scrimmage line, was thrown for a loss yesterday, and his face is a bit red, not to speak of the number of bruises and contusions. What threw Norb for a loss was a big polled Hereford bull on his dad's farm. Norb claims he had a couple of heifers running interference for him which made his tackle difficult. However, he finally succeeded in twisting his tail 'till he bellowed.

SPORTS Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

Louie Benson

It seems to me that Louie was kind of squeezed through the little end of the horn, as far as that Crookston Pirates try-out was concerned. Louie was called down there, with the intention of being given a chance to prove whether or not his pitching was of Northern League caliber. But in the week that Benson was down there, and incidentally, he had to pay his own board and room, he was used solely for the purpose of warming up the regular Pirate hurlers. About that pitching chance of his the Pirates were vague, stating that their roster was full, or that they were waiting for some more young players to arrive, and then he would get his chance. So Louie returned to Plummer, and I don't blame him. Frankly, I wouldn't be surprised if this is the last year that Crookston is in the Northern, for they had a very rag-tag looking outfit, and it's getting to be quite a drain on Crookston business men to take up the Pirates' deficits year after year.

Red Lake Falls is Ambitious

Don't think that the Red Lake Falls high school football team, which plays here tomorrow night, is coming up here, with the sole idea of furnishing some scrimmage practice for the Prowlers. The Red Lakers are out to open their conference play with a win. In fact, they were here last night and practiced under the lights on Lincoln field, to become better acquainted with night play. Coach Lindenmeyer has a number of Prowlers that are untried material, and if these players continue to develop through the next two or three games, well, Lindenmeyer may surprise the conference. With the style of play that he coaches, featuring spinners and cut-backs, timing is of vital importance, and with green players it is difficult to get these plays to click. Better attend tomorrow night.

It's Plummer vs. Kelliher

That's the line-up for next Sunday's regional final game, and which will be played at Plummer, with the winner being eligible to participate in the state meet the following week. That's a pretty potent tournament line-up that the Plummer Red Sox have been sending on the field, and with Benson, Mortrude, and Sahl, they have a strong pitching staff. Yes, there will be plenty of excitement in Plummer next Sunday.

Wally DuChamp, and his Hatchet-Men.

Since last Sunday Wally's hatchet-men have been after me. And all because of disputed play in the game at Plummer. Wally bounced a grounder over second, Eldred's shortstop took the ball on a hop, but as he was to make the throw to first he fumbled the ball. I gave the shortstop an error. Wally claims that was a hit, a leg hit he calls those bouncers that he claims to beat out. He spent the greater part of Sunday, after the play, in going around like a Gallup poll sampled, and asking opinions as to whether or not that was a bona fide hit. He is very secretive about the results of this poll. But it's Wally's own fault. I'm on the verge of a nervous collapse over these infield hits of his, these leg hits. In practically every game of the season Wally has hit a bounder that could go as a hit or an error. Why doesn't he get some outfield hits? Why doesn't he cooperate with the scorer? He can hit a ball to the outfield, for I've seen him do it. Wally is a pretty fair sticker when you can get him mad enough, and Plummer's Krueger wants me to get Wally mad.

On Minnesota Rifle Team

George Erickson and John Lind, local shoters, were selected on Minnesota's civilian rifle matches, and they are now with the team at Camp Perry, Ohio, participating in the national tournament. With national defense being emphasized these days, the Camp Perry matches are drawing a great deal of interest. It's the .30 caliber rifle, the regular army bore, that George and John are shooting.

George Merritt of Ontario, Ore., as a side line to his regular hotel, has a hotel for dogs, says the American Magazine. Each dog has his private quarters and reservations are made in advance.

STATE FAIR LOOKS AHEAD TO BETTER SEASON IN 1941

Board Borrows $50,000 to Cover Losses and Replenish Cash

Steel is being erected for a new Farm Boys Camp which is to be completed for the 1941 Minnesota State Fair, August 23 to September 1, it was announced today by Raymond A. Lee, secretary.

"Our building program is going forward, despite a nominal loss in the 1940 exposition because of seven days of rain. The public gave unqualified praise to the improvement program which was completed for the 1940 Fair. The streamlined machinery hill, new speedway, two miles of boulevards, and new 4-H club building, added greatly to the convenience and pleasure of Fair visitors," Mr. Lee said.

To meet the loss and replenish the cash reserve which is exhausted, the board of managers of the Fair authorized its executive committee to borrow up to $50,000 to meet all premium awards, current expenses and to conclude necessary improvements now under way. It was pointed out that this action does not mean that the fair went in the red that amount, but that is approximately the figure needed to continue to pay operating expenses, premiums, and to complete unfinished improvements. Actual deficit cannot at this time be accurately determined until all bills are audited.

Members of the board had only praise for the loyalty of Northwest visitors who braved seven days of rain to see the Fair. "It was unbelievable to see our daily attendance continue on a high level throughout the entire rainy period. It demonstrated that the Minnesota State Fair again had an entertainment and educational program of unqualified merit," William O. Johnson, president of the State Fair said.

With three final days of good weather, the attendance reached 666,489, only 40,130 below the record of 1939 when 706,619 visited the State Fair. It was these three days which prevented what might have been an insurmountable loss, and demonstrated the wisdom of a ten-day exposition, Mr. Lee pointed out.

Dr. Hambro, Norwegian Political Leader, Will Talk in G. Forks Sunday

Dr. C. J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament and president of the League of Nations Assembly, who comes to Grand Forks under the auspices of Varden lodge, Sons of Norway, will lecture in Norwegian on "What Happened in Norway" Sunday evening and speak on the same subject in the English language Monday evening, September 16, according to Einar Fekjar, chairman of the publicity committee.

Both lectures will be in the United Lutheran church and are open to the public. A small admission will be charged and the proceeds will go to Norwegian Relief. Invitations to a number of Sons of Norway lodges in the neighborhood have been sent out, and delegations from these are expected.

EASY WAY TURNS OUT TO BE HARD ONE

Deephaven.—D. L. Laws one bright morning recently set out to wash his car with ease. He drove his brand new car right into the lake and had it all cleaned up in good time. But when he decided to emerge from the lake he encountered a difficult exit. The combined efforts of a wrecker and ten men, and a struggle of six hours were required to bring it out of the lake.

Editorial Association Seeks to Save 100 Lives in State Safety Drive

The Thief River Falls Times is co-operating with the Minnesota Editorial Association in a special highway safety campaign designed to save at least 100 lives in this state during the next 13 months.

Plans for the campaign were worked out by a special committee appointed by Paul Keith, president of the association, who is convinced that traffic accidents can be eliminated if the public demands that they be eliminated.

Keith, in appointing the committee, pointed out that at the turn of the century typhoid deaths were regarded as something that could not be avoided. When the public learned, however, that science and sanitation could eradicate typhoid, that scourge was wiped from the land.

Science has now found that automobile accidents can likewise be eliminated if the public ceases to take a fatalistic attitude toward such accidents.

Cricket Invasion in Fall Can be Halted

When crickets invade the house in the fall months, chirping insistently and eating holes in clothing and draperies, the homemaker does not have to resign herself to living with them until winter.

Dr. W. A. Riley, professor of entomology and economic zoology at University Farm, says that the insects can be controlled. Crickets have but one generation and do not breed in the house. They move into dwellings with the approach of cold weather.

In the house they may be controlled by blowing fresh pyrethrum powder under boxes, back of baseboards, or in similar hiding places.

In addition, crickets may be combated in the house and outside with poison baits such as are used against grasshoppers.

'MONEY TO BURN'

Mahnomen.—"Money to burn" an expression of the pre-depression era, but not exceptionally popular today. Striving to pay for their farm Mr. and Mrs. James Kieptka, have budgeted and saved to have the proper amount on hand for the annual payment. Recently Mrs. Kieptka looked over the house for a safe depository for $300, while she took the cream to town. Finally, the envelope was left in the kitchen stove. Coming in from threshing, Mr. Kieptka decided to brew a cup of coffee, and unaware of the money in the stove kindled a fire and 300 bucks went up in smoke.

NORWAY MENACED BY HUNGER DURING WINTER MONTHS

Chairman of Relief Organization Cites Plight of Country

Norway is in urgent need and relies largely on the generosity of American people of Norse descent in the Northwest to ward off hunger and possible starvation this winter.

This was the message of Johannes Westergaard, New York, chairman of Norwegian Relief, Inc., this week to the Minnesota relief committee of which Randolph Haugan, Minneapolis, is the chairman.

"It is urgent that gathering of funds for Norway be continued. Many communities have been struck by fire and the people are without clothing and shelter for the winter. Norway has always relied on other countries for fruits, meat, fat-stuffs, grains and vegetables. With the blockade in force, the need becomes increasingly desperate," Mr. Westergaard told Scandinavian leaders in Minneapolis.

"Reserve supplies have been depleted by the invaders. Norwegian Relief, Inc., is now negotiating with both the British government and the German government in order to guarantee the safe passage of relief ships and also to guarantee that the supplies will reach needy Norwegians and not be diverted to military purposes.

"We must be prepared to ship thousands of tons of fuel, food and clothing as soon as these negotiations are satisfactorily completed," Mr. Westergaard emphasized.

School Men Arrange Expanded Safety Work Thruout Minnesota

What promises to be one of the most far-reaching programs for safety education yet devised, is being formulated by the Education Section of the Minnesota Safety Council, P. D. Shirley and T. C. Engum, Co-Vice Chairmen of the Committee announced today.

Thirty-two school superintendents of the state, one from each district of the High School League, have accepted places on a new committee formed of educators, to act as centers of safety teaching throughout their districts. Elmer M. Weltzin of Warren represents District 31.

Working with other schools, service clubs and local safety councils in their district, procedures for providing safety education in the schools and through adult organizations will be developed. Comparison of programs between districts will then be made with the coordination of the best points of each to follow.

New Dormitory to Open This Fall on 'U' Campus

Constant improvement of the living facilities at the University of Minnesota for students who do not live within driving or streetcar range of the campus, which means for students from around the state, has now brought to well over 1,000 the number who can be housed in university structures. In this way these students have the advantage of supervised homes, the best study facilities, and wholesome surroundings. An important addition to the dormitories is the new Ada L. Comstock hall, a women's dormitory, which will be opened this fall with dedication ceremonies on October 5. It will house 278 women students in the most modern rooms at the university and at present has been completely filled. This is the second dormitory for women on the main campus. Sanford Hall, the older dormitory, houses 210 girls and will be approximately full when college opens according to J. C. Poucher, superintendent of service enterprises.

Plumbers to Take Tests in St. Paul September 20

The state board of health will conduct examinations for master and journeyman plumbers at 9:00 A. M. on Friday, September 20, 1940 in room 303 of the Agricultural Engineering Building, University Farm School, St. Paul. The state law provides that in any city or village now or hereafter having 5,000 or more population, according to the last Federal or State census, and having a system of water works or sewerage, no person, firm or corporation shall engage in or work at the business of a master plumber or journeyman plumber unless licensed to do so by the state board of health.

SHALL WE ALL DIG? MAN FINDS $2,000 IN GOLD

Red Wing.—Martin Harpestad, highway department employe, father of eight children, turned up a cache of $2,000 in gold buried in the basement of his home at Blue Earth when he sought to repair a water pipe. Some of the coins date back to 1851. The house in which the money was found was built fifty or sixty years ago by Paul Fleckenstein, who owned and operated the Fleckenstein Brewery at Blue Earth for many years.

Several of these students have just returned from the state fair, having won blue ribbons.

The Steiner 4-H booth again won first place at the state fair, which is much credit to the leaders, Mrs. Ervin Rusel and Mrs. Vernon Malberg, who have worked hard this past year with the 4-H and their pupils.

Miss Bernice Halverson began her first term of teaching at the County line school, which opened Tuesday. She is staying at the Alfred Solem home. Miss Marion Larson began her first term of teaching at the North Star School on Tuesday.

More POWER—from stepped-up FIREBALL engines
More COMFORT—from softer, steadier ride
More VALUE—any way you measure it!

WITH this advertisement, Buick ushers in a brand-new automobile model year.

1940 production is history—recording the greatest manufacturing and selling season our company has ever known.

You may be sure we grimly realized we had to accomplish things in our new cars for 1941 that we could count on to continue our advance.

So, on top of the $42,000,000 spent on our plants and machines these last four years we've added another $10,000,000 in new facilities.

We've taken our greatest all-time car and steadily and carefully brought it forward to a perfection of action, ease, goodness beyond anything ever offered under our name.

It's hard to picture the new 1941 Buicks fairly with old adjectives.

Stylewise, their suave and dynamic beauty refreshes the jaded eye as would sight of a hydrant in the desert.

They move and function like young wild things. They're all grace and poise and eagerness. They bring to driving and handling a keener pleasure and a new thrill.

Go see these superb new cars at your dealer's—they make plain why Buick is rightly called "exemplar of General Motors value."

Ask especially about the new micro-poise-balanced FIREBALL* engines—the 1941 furtherance of Buick's Dynaflash design and kingpin of all the features that make Buick the sensation of the new automobile year.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Lying

A knowing little chap once remarked, "A lie is an abomination to the Lord and an ever-ready help in time of trouble." The humor of the saying loses flavor as one thinks that perhaps many children have sensed its truth and resort to using its cowardly shield. The cause for concern depends upon the age of the child and the type of lie he tells, for all children lie.

Truth is a vague concept conceived of the adult mind. It is unfair to expect a young child to be imbued with the desire for absolute truthfulness. It is a developing attitude dependent upon adult guidance.

An outstanding cause for untruthfulness is the imitation of untruthful adults. Let any adult make a careful check of his remarks throughout the day and he will be surprised at the number of "white lies" and partial truths employed. If it is considered perfectly all right for mother to say, "Tell Mrs. Jones I'm too busy to go," when she just doesn't want to, how is the child to know that it is wrong for him to make similar misstatements? Many a child's response is the aping of beloved adults, therefore a careful watch must be kept over the models.

A lie is employed often times in self-defense. When a bristling adult demands, "Did you do that?" and from all outward indications a severe punishment is in the offing, what child—or adult—would not have an instinctive "no" on his lips? If the evidence clearly indicates who is the culprit, there is no need for obtaining a confession. The consequences are probably expected. Of course the child should be told the reason for the punishment. If the signs do not definitely show who is to blame, it is unjust to ask the culprit to testify against himself? Even courts of law do not expect that.

Since a lie is caused by fear of punishment, punishment is hardly an accepted way of treatment. Severe treatment either completely cows a child, placing him under the autocratic domination of an adult, or makes him determine to secure a more effective technique of lying. On the other hand, making exemption form punishment a reward for truth-telling is also undesirable; a child may feel that any type of behavior is possible if one but admit the fault in time. From earliest childhood try to supply an atmosphere of trust. Take it for granted that the child will give a truthful answer. If the child has confidence in the fairness and sincerity of the adult, he will not be apt to lie. The adult will have helped him to have the courage to face the consequences of his wrong-doing.

It must be realized that the powers of discrimination in the young child have not completely developed. The line between imagination and reality is not sharply drawn. The child may be impressed with similarities which have not occurred to an adult and an active imagination carries on from there. These flights of fancy must not be confused with lying which includes the intent to deceive. They are part of a child's life. It is for the adult to help the child distinguish between reality and imagination, giving each its proper place.

Recognition of the function of imagination will save many a worry for the adult. Alertness to the causes of lying and understanding treatment will eliminate future trouble.

Strange Is the Okapi

The okapi's coloration is truly remarkable. The forehead is red, the cheeks are yellowish white, while the neck, shoulders and body range from jet-black to purplish and wine red. The hind quarters and the hind and fore legs are either snowy white or light cream color, touched with orange and transversely barred with purplish black stripes and blotches. These colors serve as an effective camouflage and partly explain why so large an animal remained so long unknown to the scientific world.

Cleopatra's Home

Italian archeologists believe they have found the location of a sumptuous palace occupied by Cleopatra during her two-year residence in Rome, from 46 B.C. to 44 B.C. Excavations along the banks of the Tiber near the Port of the River, six miles from Rome, have uncovered remains of several buildings, including wall frescoes and remains of mosaic flooring, together with fragments of statues and sculptures. The spot has been identified as the location of the famous "Horti Caesaris" where the glamorous queen made her home and where she entertained Marc Antony.

Labor Day Road Deaths Cut 70 Pct. under 1939, M. J. Hoffman Reveals

The death toll of traffic on Minnesota's streets and highways during the five heavy-traffic days incident to the recent Labor Day week-end holiday was reduced 70% below that of the same five day period last year, with the resultant saving of 14 lives, M. J. Hoffman, state highway commissioner, disclosed today.

Compilation of all available official and unofficial reports of traffic fatalities showed only 6 traffic deaths for the 5 days, from Friday preceding Labor Day thru the Tuesday following Labor Day, as compared to 20 traffic fatalities recorded in Minnesota during the same 5 days in 1939. Three of this year's fatalities were the result of motor vehicle collisions, two were pedestrians, and one was caused by a motorist running off the road.

Of the 1939 fatalities, 8 were motor vehicle collisions, 6 were non-collision motor vehicle accidents and 6 were pedestrians. Thirteen were the result of night accidents and 7 of daytime accidents.

Regulations on Hunting on Indian Reservation

Commissioner John Collier of the U. S. Indian office reminded the public this week that the office had approved a resolution adopted by the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians in general council in 1934 relating to hunting on the reservation. The resolution reads:

"It is hereby resolved that hereafter only members of the Red Lake Band shall have the privilege of hunting on the Indian reservation, and no member of the Red Lake band shall assume to have the right to individually allow or act as a guide to hunt on the reservation, excepting that nonmembers who are married to members of the Red Lake reservation may have the privilege as well as employees of the Red Lake band who may hunt in company with members of the tribe in accordance with the state laws of Minnesota."

The largest single project in the group provides for the start of actual construction on the new interstate bridge at Winona over the Mississippi river, with the Industrial Contracting Co. of Minneapolis submitting the low bid of $167,000. Major projects included are the strengthening of T. H. 65 from Brunswick to Braham by building a new grade, and the widening of T. H. 61 on Arcade street in St. Paul.

STASSEN MAKES FIRST SPEECH OF CAMPAIGN DRIVE

Governor Eliminates Self from Consideration for Lundeen Post

Outlining the major objectives of the state government for the next two years, Governor Harold E. Stassen, in a statewide radio broadcast Friday evening, lashed out at critics who "twist the facts and deceive the people."

The governor set at rest rumors that he plans to step into the vacancy caused by the death of United States Senator Lundeen or that he intends to accept a federal appointment under Wendell L. Willkie.

He listed as major points in the state administration's program for 1941 and 1942 the development of adequate housing for low income groups, reduction of real estate taxes, continued improvement of employment conditions, further reduction in public debt and improvement in the state Labor Relations law.

"With new businesses established and increased jobs in other businesses we now have at least 30,000 more men and women working in private employment than there were two years ago," Governor Stassen said, listing as other administration accomplishments:

Maintenance of relief standards above the national average.

Elimination of dishonesty and waste in the state capitol.

Installation of civil service in place of the former spoils system.

Collection of $350,000 more in taxes from banks than was scheduled under legislation which the governor refused to sign.

Raising iron ore occupation and royalty taxes from 8 to 9 percent and collection of $1,600,000 more in such taxes.

The governor branded as "attempts to twist the facts and deceive the people" attacks by political candidates on the small loan law and the old age assistance lien law.

Previous to his administration small loan charges often reached "a total of 300 to 400 percent", the governor said, noting that under the new law the total of charges of every kind, including interest, investigation, bookkeeping, finance, delinquency and others "cannot be more than 36 percent a year," with a net interest charge of "less than 6 percent."

"The Old Age Assistance lien law has as its purpose to see to it that children who refuse to support their parents, but are able to, are not better off than those who do everything they can to help their aged parents," he said. "It is not, and will not be, the intention under the law to ever take anything away from the old folks themselves, and neither do we intend to take anything away from children who do everything they can to take care of their own parents".

The old age assistance fund has been put on a sound financial basis and the average payment per month is now over $21, which is the highest average ever paid in Minnesota, Stassen said.

WRAPPED UP IN THEM

"That woman over there is Mrs. Frank S. Posure. She thinks of nothing but her clothes."

HIGH FINANCE

"What's the matter, my boy?"

"Boohoo! Mr. Skinner was to pay me 15 cents an hour for cleaning off the snow and now he's went and charged me 20 cents fer de use of his shovel!"

NOT ONLY THAT

"Horses have decreased enormously with the use of the automobile."

"Yes, and with its use so has horse sense."

Johnson-Gillanders Co. Gets Contract on Bid of $19,300

GENERAL ELECTRIC TO SUPPLY SWITCHBOARD

Indications Are Total Cost of Project to be Within Estimates

At an adjourned session Friday evening, the city council awarded to the Johnson-Gillanders company of Grand Forks the contract for the erection of an addition to the municipal power plant building to provide quarters for the recently purchased Diesel unit, as well as for another unit to be added in the future. The successful bid, lowest of five, was in the amount of $19,300.

Other bids were received from the Olson Construction company, Thief River Falls, $21,000; Dickinson Construction company, Bemidji, $22,943; L. A. Kipp Construction company, Rochester, $25,970; Devereux-Olson Construction company, Minneapolis, $23,621; and the Minneapolis Bridge company, $30,574. The successful bidder built the new court house at Grafton, N. D., as well as school at East Grand Forks and Argyle.

The General Electric company, lowest of three bidders, was awarded the contract to install the new switchboard and heavy wiring on its net bid of $14,088. Other bids were submitted by the L. A. Kipp company in the base amount of $16,125; and the Commonwealth Electric company, St. Paul, $14,280.

Obligations thus far incurred in connection with the power plant project aggregate approximately $133,000, including the cost of the addition and switchboard, as well as the Diesel unit, which will cost approximately $99,775.

Mr. Pfeiffer of the firm of Ralph D. Thomas & Associates, engineers on the project, who was present at the session Friday, expressed satisfaction with the bids received, and expressed the opinion that the total cost of the work will be within the limit of available funds, which includes the proceeds of a $130,000 bond issue and about $20,000 in cash on hand.

VIRTUE OF THRIFT EXTOLLED IN TALK HERE ON MONDAY

Robert E. Hill Gives Talk Under Sponsorship of Savings and Loan

Making an appeal for the inculcating of the virtue of thrift and a desire for home ownership in the rising generation, Robert E. Lee Hill, public relations director for the Federal Home Loan bank of Des Moines, addressed a representative group of business and professional men Monday noon in the Palm Garden cafe.

Mr. Hill, a past president of Rotary International, spoke under the sponsorship of the local Rotary club and the First Federal Savings and Loan association.

He briefly outlined the history of the Federal Home Loan bank since its inception in 1932, and said there are now 4000 affiliated associations with nearly five billion dollars in assets. He praised the work of S. R. Dahlen, secretary of the local association, in building its assets up to the $550,000 mark.

Mr. Hill proved to be an eloquent speaker, interspersing his remarks with numerous humorous anecdotes.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH STARTS ON $8,000 PROJECT

Strandquist Man Will Move Church Edifice to Its New Location

The First Lutheran Church of this city is now in the process of undertaking an extensive moving and remodeling project. The church, formerly known as Augustana, now located at 311 Horace Avenue N., will be relocated at 421 LaBree Avenue N.

Approximately $8,000.00 will be spent in moving the church and parsonage, building new and more serviceable basements, remodeling the church edifice and refinishing its interior and installing new and modern plumbing and heating equipment. The completed job will give the congregation a very attractive and up-to-date church property, located in one of the choicest spots in the city.

"This church is stepping out into this rather bold venture, assured that it has a mission to perform in this city that it will be able to accomplish with far greater efficiency and appeal with this new and modernized equipment," said Rev. Charles W. Erickson, pastor.

The moving contract has been let to Leonard Thompson of Strandquist, for $2,550.00. The contract for the remodeling of the church edifice has been awarded to Hans R. Stenegard for $2,865.00. Other contracts are still unassigned, such as plumbing, heating and lighting. Approximately two months will be required for the completion of the proposed improvements.

It is planned to carry out a financial canvass among the business and professional people of this city, to assist in securing the needed funds for the completion of the project, Reverend Erickson stated.

TWO CONVICTED IN SOLUTION OF STORE HOLDUP

Gordon Rod, One of Pair, Was on Parole from State Institution

Pleading guilty late Wednesday afternoon in district court to charges of robbery in the second degree and second degree grand larceny, Gordon Rod of this city, 26, and Douglas Stromberg of Minneapolis, also 26, who had confessed to local police to stealing an automobile and holding up the Riverside grocery Sunday evening shortly after 7 o'clock, were each sentenced to serve from two to five years in Stillwater on the robbery charge, and none to five years on the car theft charge, both sentences to run concurrently.

In staging the holdup of the grocery store, of which Otis J. Wold is proprietor, one of the men entered the store and flashed a gun, Miss Lydia Sundberg, clerk in the store, told the police, while the other remained outside in the car. When the bandit had secured the money in the till, totaling $31.75, and was about to leave, Robert Black, a member of the police force but off duty, who happened to enter the store, was ordered not to move.

The pair then fled in the car which belonged to Arthur Larson of the Standard Oil company and which they had taken from its parking place on East Third st. Proceeding east on First st. without lights, they collided near Kendall av. with a car driven by Armand Pederson, disabling their automobile, from which they fled on foot.

Gordon Rod was recognized by an occupant of the car he ran into, and was arrested a short time later as he was about to leave the city, Police Chief A. B. Stenberg stated. At first denying his guilt, he later admitted it after continued questioning.

Douglas Stromberg, picked up in the city early Tuesday afternoon, admitted his complicity, saying that he had been with Rod at the time. Police recovered $16.10 of the loot from the two men. Rod is on parole from a state institution, having been previously been convicted on a burglary charge, while Stromberg is also a former inmate.

A. E. Lufkin and daughter, Esther, and Marcella Baker motored to Hibbing Sunday to visit friends.

F. R. SIGNS BILL PUTTING DRAFT INTO OPERATION

Young Men of Ages 21 to 36 Are Made Subject to Conscription

REGISTRATION DAY SET FOR OCTOBER 16

Expect 6,000 or More Men in State to be in Service by Christmas

President Roosevelt signed the draft act Monday, fixed October 16 as registration day for 16,500,000 young Americans now subject to compulsory military training, and asserted that the United States was marshalling its strength to avert "the terrible fate of nations whose weakness invited attack."

In addition, the chief executive called upon the governors of the states to provide suitable places for the registration, urged local election officials "and other patriotic citizens" to man the registration boards and asked employers to give their affected employes "sufficient time off" to fill out the forms.

Mr. Roosevelt, moreover, emphasized a section of the act and a phase of the building up of the army which received much discussion in congress, the voluntary enlistment system. All between 18 and 35, inclusive, he said in a formal statement, will be offered an opportunity to volunteer for a one-year period of service and training, and those who offer themselves — provided they are suitable — are to be accepted before any others are selected.

Thus an influx of volunteers from any particular area would reduce the quota of men conscripted from that area.

The new law itself requires that all who on October 16 have attained the 21st anniversary of their birth and have not passed the thirty-sixth year must register. A national drawing by lot will determine the order in which questionnaires will be mailed to the men. On the basis of the questionnaires, local boards will place the men in various classifications — those available for immediate service, those deferred because of dependents, etc.

The local boards will select sufficient men from among those available for immediate service to fill the quota for the area. Those so selected will undergo physical examinations and, if they pass, will be inducted into service for one year.

From 6,000 to 8,000 Minnesota men will have been drafted and sent into army training camps in the south before Christmas, it appeared as the state adjutant general's office prepared to put conscription into effect.

At the adjutant general's request, county auditors and village and city clerks throughout the state are ready to set election machinery in motion to register

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Olga Rustau of Minneapolis to Arthur Myrom of St. Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Myrom of Thief River Falls. The single-ring ceremony took place at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Princeton, Minn., on September 6 at 8:00 p. m., Rev. Carl C. Linder officiating.

The altar was covered with white altar cloth with a single cross of green ferns and white asters in the center, and white aisle cloth with ferns lying on either side. Several candelabras were lighted for the ceremony, and there were baskets of white and rose asters decorating the church.

Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Miss Grace Lundblad of Princeton, and the bride was given away by her father, O. Rustau. Eileen Maurer, sister of the bride, and Stella Myrom, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Marvin Benson of Minneapolis, former resident of Thief River Falls, was the best man, and Lester Ihle of Thief River Falls, Rudy Nelson of Minneapolis, and Wallace Benson of St. Paul were the groom's attendants.

The bride wore a white satin gown trimmed in lace, with a sweetheart neckline and train. She carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, baby breath, and ferns.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of blue and rose moire taffeta with harmonizing corsages. The costumes of the bride's and groom's mothers were of navy and rose respectively, with harmonizing shoulder corsages.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Rustau of Zimmerman, and graduated from the Twin City Business College in 1937. She has since been employed as a secretary at the University of Minnesota.

The groom is a graduate of Concordia College and obtained his Master's degree at the University of Minnesota in 1940. He is employed by the Farm Security Administration in St. Paul.

In a late afternoon service solemnized Sunday, September 15, in Trinity Lutheran church, Miss Marine Halland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Halland of this city, became the bride of Selmer O. Kivle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Kivle of Edinburg, N. D., formerly of this city.

Gladiolas, asters and ferns in abundance with a white-draped altar formed an unusually attractive setting for the nuptial event. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Mildred Engen Hamilton played a program of pre-nuptial organ music, followed by the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, as the bridal party entered. Muted strains from the organ formed a background for the exchange of vows and Mendelssohn's wedding march was played for the recessional. Walter Ekeren sang "O Promise Me" and "Beloved It's Morn" preceding the ceremony.

To the strains of the wedding march the bridal party proceeded up the white-carpeted aisle. The bride, entering on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, was lovely in a princess gown of white net over satin with a long train, long tight-fitting sleeves and brocaded bodice. Her finger tip veil and short face veil fell in graceful folds from a lace crown, wreathed in orange blossoms and seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls, the groom's gift, and her bridal bouquet was fashioned of white chrysanthemums and white sweetpeas.

The bride's attendants were her two sisters, Mrs. Norman D. Johnson (Celia Halland) and Miss Judith Halland, as matron of honor and junior bridesmaid, respectively; Miss Harriet Hanson, bridesmaid, and little Barbara Holmgren, flower girl.

Blue net over satin fashioned the gown worn by the matron of honor and her flowers were yellow sweet-heart roses and snapdragons with white streamers. The junior bridesmaid wore pink net and carried sweet heart roses and lavender sweetpeas matching the bridesmaid's bouquet. Miss Hanson wore peach net over satin with blue velvet ribbon surrounding the entire skirt. The flower girl's gown was of white net, ankle length, and tied with petite blue bows. She wore pale blue sweet peas in her hair and carried a basket of pink sweetpeas.

The bride's mother selected for the nuptials a frock of soldier blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and yellow sweetpeas to complete the costume. The groom's mother wore a black silk crepe frock with white trim and redingote with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and yellow sweetpeas.

Wilton Mayer was best man and the groomsmen were Howard Hoel and Orval Halland of this city, brother of the bride. Ushers were Norman D. Johnson and Marvin Snochy, Newfolden, brothers-in-law of the groom.

There will be a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Thursday, Sept. 19, at eight o'clock. Mrs. M. R. Levorson and Mrs. Ward Long will be hostesses.

Don't forget that your 1941 dues are due. Naturally, membership is our first objective. Without members we fail. World conditions and conditions within our own country demand that all of us give our strength and influence to the support of the ideals and institions of our country. As individuals, we can do little, but united in the American Legion Auxiliary we can be a powerful force for the security, prosperity and peace of the United States. Our aim is to be overtop by Nov. 1, 1940.

The following dates have been set for our Ninth District Fall Rallies. Keep these dates in mind and plan to attend at least one of these meetings: October 10, Greenbush, October 11, at Fertile and October 12 at Fergus Falls.

JOB OF RESTORING MAPLE LAKE NOW WELL UNDER WAY

Plan to Raise Water Level by Using Poplar River Flood Waters

The first water control project in Polk County is now underway. It is a project which will use the flood waters of Poplar River to restore Maple Lake which had disappeared during the drought.

Maple Lake at one time covered 1700 acres and was used extensively as a hunting and fishing resort by residents of Crookston, Grand Forks and Polk County.

When it began to disappear cottages were abandoned and taxes became delinquent. A ditch that was constructed to divert water into the lake was ineffective.

The new project, in which the Division of Drainage and Waters has the cooperation of local sponsors and the WPA, will bring the excess water of the Poplar River down through Badger Lake and Mitchell Lake and through the ditch, which is being cleaned out, to Maple Lake.

Maple Lake is located on the peak of the watershed in Polk County and left to itself had little chance for existence. However the construction now underway will restore the lake and control the water levels thus bringing a recreation center to an area where there is normally very little water.

Lions Plan Sendoff for Men Entering Service

At the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions club in the Palm Garden cafe, Dr. A. R. Hulbert, president, was instructed to refer to a committee the matter of arranging a proper sendoff for the first contingent of drafted men scheduled to leave the community late this year for a year's military training. Also referred to a committee was a proposal to plan a naturalization program in connection with the induction of residents of this locality into American citizenship.

Excavation Work Begins on Power Plant Building

Marshall Kays Quits Deputy Sheriff Post in Marshall County

After serving nearly 14 years as deputy sheriff of Marshall county, Marshall K. Kays tendered his resignation to Sheriff O. C. Toftner yesterday to go into effect Saturday in order to accept a position as a special agent with the Soo Line railroad company with headquarters in Minneapolis. With the exception of the period of the World War during which he served with the U. S. Army in France, Mr. Kays has made his home in Warren. He was appointed deputy sheriff by the late John P. Bordewich in January, 1927 and has served continuously under Sheriff H. C. Hanson and Sheriff Toftner. He has been active in affairs of the community, being a past commander of the Warren post of the American Legion and is president of the Warren Gun and Club.

Air-Conditioned Trains

More than 11,000 air-conditioned railroad passenger cars are now in operation.

Legion and Auxiliary Conduct Installation

Joint installation rites were conducted Friday evening in the veterans' memorial rooms by Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion and the auxiliary, District Commander Elmer Eid being in charge. Officers installed were headed by Alex Cloutier, Legion commander, and Mrs. M. R. Levorsen, auxiliary president. The evening closed with refreshments and dancing.

Straw Vote in Theatres Gives F.D.R. Big Lead

The presidential straw vote held over the past week-end in the Falls and Avalon theatres in cooperation with Merle Potter of the Minneapolis Times-Tribune resulted in a nearly two-to-one margin in favor of a third term for President Roosevelt. With a total of 925 votes cast, Roosevelt was given 597 and Wendell Willkie 328, Ray Eiden, manager of the theatres, announced.

Critics say America needs a new religion—one perhaps, that will ease the conscience and yet not cramp the style.

DENTAL 'COLLEGE' IS COMING TO CITY SATURDAY, SEPT. 21

Dentistry for Children to be Stressed at Meeting in Legion Room

Minnesota dentistry's "college on wheels" will begin its third annual tour of the state Friday, Sept. 20, to bring directly to dentists the newest scientific developments in their profession. The traveling school will be conducted in the Legion rooms in Thief River Falls Saturday, Sept. 21, with Dr. H. J. Rice in charge.

The school also will visit Fergus Falls on Friday; Duluth, Monday; Virginia, Tuesday; St. Cloud, Oct. 7; Marshall, Oct. 8; Mankato, Oct. 9, and Winona, Oct. 10.

Sponsored by the Minnesota Department of health and the dental health committee of the Minnesota State Dental association, the tour is designed to make postgraduate courses easily available to practitioners in every section of the state. The school will go to the dentists instead of their going to school. A total of 538 men attended in the past two years.

Emphasis this year will be on children's dentistry. Chief lecturer will be Dr. John C. Brauer, head of the department of preventive dentistry at the University of Iowa and director of the bureau of dental hygiene of the Iowa state health department. He will discuss nutrition, child management, prevention of dental ills in children, and treatment.

Other speakers will be Dr. Vern D. Irwin of St. Paul, dental health director of the Minnesota department of health, and Dr. P. M. Dunn of Minneapolis, chairman of the dental health committee of the Minnesota State Dental association.

PRESIDENT SIGNS ACT DRAFTING MEN FOR ARMY SERVICE

Lieutenant Colonel J. E. Nelson, assistant adjutant general, in charge of draft preparations for the state, said the necessary registration and classification blanks have been drawn up, and can be in the printers' hands two hours after the "go ahead" order arrives from Washington.

Drafting will be done on the lottery principle employed during the World War, Colonel Nelson said. Registrants will be numbered in order as they register in each district. When a draft is to be made in Washington, numbers ranging from one up to the highest registration number in the largest district will be mixed in a bowl. The first number drawn out will signify that every registrant holding that number in each district has been drafted, and further numbers will be drawn until the desired levy of men has been raised.

All holders of drawn numbers then will be sent eight-page questionnaires to fill out. Within six days the draftee must fill out and return his questionnaire, in which the answers will set out his reasons for asking deferment or exemption, if any.

Local draft boards then will sit in judgment on his case, and on the basis of his questionnaire answers and the board's judgment, give him a tentative classification. Those clearly liable to immediate service will be classed "One-A", those to be deferred because they are in essential agricultural or industrial pursuits, class two; those with dependents, class three, and those with physical disqualifications, or disqualified (such as aliens) by law, class four.

For one-A men, physical examination by the board's physician will follow, and those deemed physically fit will be told when and where to report.

A round of cheers to the local Scotland Yard for another demonstration of good policing.

Thief River Falls is really a railroad town again. The city's biggest industry is operating on a schedule that reminds local "rails" of the good old days, only they haven't much time to talk about it. We dropped in at the 'dispatchers' office the other day to check up on activities. Each of the two dispatchers on duty was playing checkers with 16 trains that were spread out over the division, running every which way and something like half of them going in opposite directions. One of the silly questions we asked was how often do dispatchers make mistakes. "Only once" was the answer. We decided we would stick to newspaper work.

CORN COMES THROUGH AGAIN

Corn is coming through again this year and on many farms in this community it will be an important feed crop. Most of it will be fed as silage of course, but many acres of it will be husked too. Corn acreage has increased steadily in recent years and much of it is now being checked in, making cross row cultivation possible. This year's good results will probably mean a further increase in acreage next year.

There is a difference of opinion among experts as to whether or not the growing of corn should be encouraged so far north. Those who express doubt base their fears on the uncertainties of a short growing season. Too much of a gamble, they say.

The skeptics probably are right to some extent. It would be foolish for any farmer to stake very much on corn as a cash crop in this country. There isn't much danger of that being done however. The corn that is grown is grown as a feed crop. Whether or not ripe corn is produced is not important. The crop still has feed value.

And still more important is the value of the crop as a weed eradicator and soil conditioner when it is properly cultivated, proven by the experience of those who have grown corn over a period of years. Those who have had the experience tell us there should be a few acres of corn on every farm where there is live stock to be fed, and that it should be checked in wherever possible. We are glad to pass along the advice for what it is worth.

WHO'S INDISPENSABLE?

We never have had much time for people who take themselves too seriously. Whenever we come in contact with anyone who believes he is so important that the world couldn't possibly get along without him we become possessed with an urge to put the matter to a test. And that is how we feel about Roosevelt the Indispensable, the self drafted candidate for President without whom the country could not possibly get along.

Just how indispensable is this man who considers himself so much greater than any President who has preceded him that he must be continued in office three terms, and possibly four or five? What has this great leader done to deserve so much self esteem? Has he restored prosperity? For a large army of government employees, yes, but for the country as a whole, no. Has he solved the problem of unemployment? It is to laugh. Has he, as he promised to do, put the government on a sound financial basis? Hold your nose.

What then has he done to deserve his unquestioned popularity? There is only one answer. He has gained his popularity by being a great spender, the greatest spender our country, or even the world, has ever known.

And whose money has he spent? His own? Not a red cent. The spending has been financed by borrowing on government credit. Who will pay the bill? The people. They will pay it either out of their savings of the past or out of their earnings of the future. But in one form or another, the bill will be paid by the people.

Roosevelt may be looked upon by a majority of our people at the present time as an indispensable leader. A future generation will look upon us as a bunch of saps.

Lida Monson and Alonzo Inman Married Sunday

Miss Lida Corrine Monson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Monson of the Holt community, and Alonzo J. Inman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Inman were joined in marriage at the home of the bride's parents at 1:30 on Sunday afternoon, September 15. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. T. C. L. Hanson, pastor of the Lutheran Church, in the presence of about 50 relatives and friends.

Pre-nuptial music was played by Mrs. Clifford Fisk. "The Indian Love Song" was the first selection. The bride and her attendant, Miss Olga T. Nelson, entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Dennis D. Inman, who was best man. "I Love You Truly" was sung by the bride's sisters, Mrs. Johnnie Nelson and Mrs. Bernard Garthus.

The bride wore a floor length gown of aquamarine taffeta fashioned in princess lines with short puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas, and ferns, and wore a halo of white asters in her hair. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the groom. The bridesmaid's gown was of brocaded silk in a pastel blue shade. She wore white asters in her hair, and a shoulder corsage of asters, sweet peas, and ferns.

The room was decorated with green and blue streamers caught with a large silver bell in the center of the room. Baskets of gladiolas, ferns, and garden flowers were in profusion throughout the house.

After the ceremony, a luncheon was served, with a tier wedding cake as the centerpiece.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln High School of Thief River Falls. The groom is engaged in farming west of Holt, where the couple will make their home.

Thank You!!

If I am elected I will work for the best interests of the district and serve to the best of my ability.
